Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 767, Printer's No. 325, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one thousand one hundred five one thousand one hundred twenty-one one thousand one hundred twenty-seven one thousand one hundred thirty-four and one thousand one hundred thirty-seven of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further providing for the term of office and the election of county superintendents assistant county superintendents district superintendents and assistant district superintendents in all second .third and fourth class school districts of the Commonwealth was defeated on final passage Wednesday, April 16th be reconsidered.

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Jump, vote on the final passage of the bill?

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. McCullough vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. McCULLOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, personally I have always favored the notion that on a close vote the sponsor of a bill which was defeated was entitled to reconsideration. So, without any reference as to my position on the bill itself, I am not opposing the motion to reconsider.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I should like also for the Members of the majority to understand that a vote in favor of the motion to reconsider is not necessarily a vote in favor of the bill itself.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he will be sure that I will be here when the bill comes up for final passage. I don't want any lawyer's tricks.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, perhaps the Majority Leader would be willing to make this bill a special order at some specific time in order that the Members of the House may all know when the bill will come up.

Mr. SORG. After the bill is on the calendar I presume satisfactory arrangements will be made.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 647, as follows:

An Act to add section one thousand two hundred forty-two point one of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the mtheod of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local of any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" making special provision for reimbursement of school districts under certain circumstances

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Education Committee, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I should like to have the gentleman from Blair explain this bill, due to the fact that we Democrats just don't quite understand under what circumstances reimbursement will be made. We would like to have that made a little more clear.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, under Act 403, the subsidies paid to school districts are on the basis of pupil-teacher ratio, twenty-two for each teacher in the secondary, and thirty for each teacher in elementary, up to thirty-three. Now, if there are more teachers than there are teacher-pupil units in the district then the school district receives subsidies from the state only to the extent of the pupil-teacher units. In small school districts it is possible to have more teachers than there are pupil-teacher units. In so doing they have to dismiss those teachers and then in that way they disrupt their program, they cannot carry on some of the different types of programs or studies that they should have. Now, that can be taken care of in some cases by consolidation. That, Mr. Speaker, is covered by this bill. Where the topography and other types of factors enter in, so that there cannot be a consolidation, the State Council of Education has the power, under this bill for those districts, to permit them to carry on a greater number of teachers than the pupil-teacher units permit, but only under the condition that they cannot consolidate, or if they can consolidate and they do not try, then they can turn them down. It is to take care of the small high-school enriched curriculum, where consolidation is not possible.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, under the gentleman's definition of the bill, I am still somewhat confused. In other words, if we have an over supply of teachers in some particular schools, this bill will allow the subsidies to go to the school and keep those additional teachers, although they do not have sufficient pupils to be taught in that school. Is that correct?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, you will have to understand the school rules and the curriculum in a school district before you can understand what this bill means. Suppose then,—we will use as an example, home economics, shop and physical education, what we term as an enriched program, and a good curriculum, but because of that they had to hire more teachers than the pupil-teacher unit permits. If now, they must be dismissed that means the curriculum that the pupils need must be dropped from the program, and it cannot be helped because geographical conditions will not permit a consolidation in such large districts which is true in some sections of the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire if the gentleman from Westmoreland is confused.

Mr. LOVETT. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, clearly understand this bill?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Did the gentleman say "clearly"?

Mr. LOVETT. Yes, Mr. Speaker, "clearly".

Mr. O'CONNOR. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think this is a good bill?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I will give the gentleman a lawyers answer, yes and no. It depends entirely upon the conditions.

As Mr. Lovett has stated, ordinarily I would say it is a good bill for this reason: it is the intent of the bill, that if you only have enough pupils to get an allotment of ten teachers you cannot have twelve teachers on the job and get the allotment for twelve.

I think that is about the meaning of the bill. It saves the state money. In other words, you cannot get an appropriation for your school district unless you really have the pupils entitling you to get it. In that respect it is a good bill, but in some sections of my county it would work a hardship.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I might say that I am still somewhat confused. If the law provides that we are not entitled by law to have additional teachers, I don't know what we are trying to do here, but I guess it is alright.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Education Committee, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is not this bill defective in one vital consideration? It lists the topography and distance of roads as being the sole barrier to consolidation, whereas in many instances consolidation involves a financial problem which the local districts concerned are not able to solve and are not able to carry in justice to themselves. Yet, you have only topography and condition of roads and no consideration for financial ability to carry out the consolidation mandate.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I think that is possibly an argument. The framers of the bill did not incorporate that in the bill, and I presume in working out the final details on this they have failed to put that in, or they may not have found it sufficiently worth while to do so.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman believe that some thought should be given to phrasing a clause in this bill that will raise the financial situation as one of the governing considerations as to consolidation, and that if the State insisted upon consolidation and the districts are, in fairness to themselves unable to consolidate, if the state insists upon consolidation there should be some assistance to the districts?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I presume that is true, and if the bill passes, if you will allow it to pass today, I shall be glad to speak to the Senate Chairman of the Committee on Education about that.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I can hardly accept that as a serious answer in view of certain complications that seem to have risen in connection with the Senatorial verdicts upon measures passed by this House. I presume it would be safer for this House to get its bills in shape before it sends them across the Hall.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is inclined to agree with the gentleman.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection in trying to accede to the request of the gentleman from Cambria. I cannot promise what the framers of the bill would permit it to be, but I shall talk with them about it and try to abide by the gentleman's request.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be disposed to let this bill go over until Monday, until there has been time to consider as to whether there is any merit in the point raised?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, if the sponsor of the bill is satisfied, I am, yes.

Mr. IMBT. Mr. Speaker, as the sponsor of this bill, I am agreeable to that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the gentleman from Monroe, the sponsor of the bill, is satisfied to have the bill passed over today until such time as these gentlemen can get together.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the lady from Mercer, Mrs. Dye.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Mercer permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. DYE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I should like to ask the lady from Mercer just exactly what this bill provides.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is to provide a child accountant, and this supervisor of child accounting would cover the same amount of territory as the supervisor of special education for the purpose of keeping up the school attendance.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the lady from Mercer who keeps the accounting of the school system now in the county.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, judging from our state census, there is no record of child accounting being kept.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the lady from Mercer.

Mr. Speaker, no doubt all the Members know that for the past few days we have had quite a number of county superintendents, and district superintendents here. Some of them have been talking to me; some of them have been talking about me. I wished to have some of these superintendents say what the purport of this bill is, and I have not found any one, county superintendent, principal, or supervising principal of a school who is in favor of this bill, or who says this bill is necessary.

In the first place, Mr. Speaker, this bill in a disguised way proposes to create an additional county superintendent for each county, although it doesn't say so. The law today provides for county superintendents and provides specifically for their qualifications. This bill does not specify any qualifications for the director of child accounting. The bill provides that this director of child accounting be appointed by the county superintendent submitting his name or her name to the county board of school directors for their approval, in the same method as he now appoints his assistants. The duties of this director of child accounting would be to look over the report cards when they are sent to the county office, to check the number of certificates that have been issued, to see whether the accounts tally. At the present time the accounting of the attendance is kept in a book by the teachers, and then they make out a card and submit it to the principal and the principal or the supervising principal sends it to the county office where it is reviewed by the county office, generally the secretary of the superintendent being the one who does the work. Then it is sent to Harrisburg where it is again reviewed.

Now, about the best that can be said for this bill is that it will set up a glorified bookkeeper in the office of the County Superintendent, and require that he be paid a salary of at least thirty-five hundred dollars a year plus five hundred dollars traveling expenses. This bill if enacted will serve no purpose in our public school system, and the only good that can come from it, if good you can call it, would be the increased cost of about fifty of these directors of child accounting in Pennsylvania at no less an expenditure per person than four thousand dollars. In other words, this work is now being done by a girl in the County Superintendent's office. If this bill passes you will not have that done any better and it will impose an additional cost of at least two hundred thousand dollars on the state of Pennsylvania per year.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman is right when he spoke about the way the census is being kept by a girl probably in the County Superintendent's office. The attendance in our schools in Pennsylvania has slipped back to what it was in 1923. Today if the absences were equally distributed each school child in Pennsylvania would miss three weeks out of the school year.

The record in the State Department of Public Instruction shows that in our schools in Pennsylvania now four out of every ten literally disappear, on paper,—the schools don't know what happened to them.

There is one county in Pennsylvania where seven out of every ten children disappear, on paper. Our census enumeration is a woeful story. This bill does not set up a police job, it sets up an educational job for the prevention of absences. The annual school census of children is conducted primarily to locate minors and to see that they are enrolled in public or private schools, to see if they are employed or if they are physically or mentally deficient, that provision be made for them. Very often the present census as conducted is inaccurate and not usable. The thing I want to point out, Mr. Speaker, is that if a minor is to be employed he must have his certificate from his school district.

In the nation Pennsylvania has one of the two best child labor laws,—I mean operation of the child labor law, but no bill is better than its enforcement. When a child gets a certificate and is permitted to be employed, when he leaves that job the employer is supposed to report back to the school district, but that is not being done, and it is the opinion of our State Department of Public Instruction that a great many minors are being illegally employed.

There were 96,354 of these certificates issued in 1945 and they do not know what happened to a lot of those children. The gentleman said that this was going to cost the Commonwealth $200,000. It will cost the Commonwealth $126,000 in salaries and $18,000 in traveling expenses, but, gentlemen, before you vote on this bill there is one thing I hope you will remember, that it only costs one dollar a day to keep our children in public school, but it costs seven dollars a day to keep them in a home of detention, and it is much better and infinitely cheaper to have accurate records to show where these children are.

This is the best means we have today of checking illegally employed minors, and I believe it would be infinitely cheaper to pass this kind of a bill and keep our children in the public schools.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the lady for her information. If you read this bill carefully you will find, as I believe I stated before, there are no qualifications set forth in this bill for a director of child accounting. We don't know whether you are going to get certified public accountants appointed for this job, or whether you are going to get a sanitary inspector appointed in the school districts, and judging by the action taken by this House a few moments ago, if this bill goes through you are going to have another one frozen in the County Superintendent's office for life, because he will come in under the same terms as the assistant county superintendent.

Now, as to the record, I am glad the lady emphasized that. There is nothing in the act to change the present system on the enumeration of school children, and there is nothing in the bill to change it as to the issuance of certificates of employment for those at the present time employed. At the present time employment certificates are issued either by the school superintendent or principal or assistant principal or the secretary of the school board.

This bill contains no repealer, therefore if you pass this bill, it will continue as at present with the enumeration and with the employment certificate, and all this glorified bookkeeper will have to do is to draw the salary of an assistant county superintendent and sit in the county superintendent's office and await the submission of the monthly report, unless as the lady suggested we are going to return to prohibition days and have a snooper in the county superintendent's office to go over all the various school districts to see if the teachers are keeping the records correctly when that is the duty of the county superintendent.

I am glad I came within fifty thousand dollars of the cost according to the lady's figures, but that is only the minimum. The minimum cost under this bill would be thirty-five hundred dollars to the accountant plus five hundred dollars traveling expenses, and back in my county we pay these people fifty-five hundred dollars a year and five hundred dollars traveling expenses. So I still say and believe that this bill will enforce a cost of at least two hundred thousand dollars to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and no benefit will be achieved by its passage. Therefore, I ask you to vote it down.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if I may interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has read House Bill No. 1209, Printer's No. 372, on page 7, lines 3, 4, 5, and 6?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Pardon me, what were the numbers of the lines?

Mrs. DYE. 3, 4, 5, and 6 on page 7.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I have read that, Mr. Speaker.

Mrs. DYE. It says that every supervisor on child accounting after the effective date of this act shall be properly certified by the Department of Public Instruction in accordance with such standards as the State Council of Education has established. Therefore, I think it shows a lack of confidence in the State Council if it is to be assumed that they are going to certifiy unqualified men.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I resent that inference. The State Council of Education today specifically sets forth the qualifications for the Assistant County Superintendents, and unless there is something to be covered up in this bill they will set the qualifications of this snooper also.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a couple of statements on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the floor.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, the part Mr. O'Connor objects to is definitely administrative, and that would naturally come under the Department of Public Instruction. I think that ought to settle that part of the objection.

Now, the second thing, that it will cost the State some money, but the reimbursement to the districts will be enlarged for the simple reason that reimbursement is given on the basis of average daily membership in school, and these children are out of school, which means that the average daily membership is down. Therefore the reimbursement to the district is down.

If the school system has, say one thousand children, it is easy to have one reimbursement ratio fraction or pupil-teacher fraction out of school and if in the next year two thousand dollars will be the amount of money on that fraction, if they lose one of those pupil-teacher ratios, that is twenty children who are running about or illegally employed, or employed with certificates that they should not have, that means that one pupil-teacher ratio subsidy is lost to the district.

If eighty per cent attendance is the basis of the reimbursement fraction, there already the district has lost sixteen hundred dollars, and even though it might cost the district just a few dollars in taxes which they then pay to the State, they will lose an entire reimbursement fraction, which would be exactly sixteen hundred dollars. In the larger districts it might be two or three or four times that much and in small districts one half of that, but it is still several hundred dollars. So I think the objections are not sound when you consider the reimbursement cost to the district in proportion to the amount that will be paid out by the State.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Blair if it is his understanding that this director of child accounting is to be a general truant officer for the county?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. No, Mr. Speaker, I think not. In one sense it might be that, but it is going to be on a different level entirely from a truant officer.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think it is necessary to create this office and as I said a while ago, to freeze him in the office in order to have better education in your community schools?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I certainly contend for the first statement, Mr. Speaker. The second statement about freezing into office I don't understand, but I am sure it will be a blessing to the school children in the school district if we have some method that will keep the children, the boys and girls in the public schools rather than the reform schools two years later.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, what is there in this bill—and I am being sincere when I say it,—that will keep this glorified bookkeeper in the school?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Under the present conditions,—and this is no reflection on the Board of Education or the Boards of Directors, we have many children in the state of Pennsylvania who are not on the rolls even in September, because they move from one place to another, and the person who is taking the census in the summer time has not put them on the roll, and many of those children are not entering school in September. With many of them, nothing is known about them until they go into the Superintendent's office and say "I am here."

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the director of child accounting will have the assistance of the county superintendent?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know if the bill would say that. I would say that would be entirely up to the Department of Public Instruction as to the standards he should get.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, does it not provide in the bill that they shall be chosen in the same manner as is the assistant superintendent?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I think so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Does it not provide he gets the same minimum salary?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Then in the gentlemen's opinion what would deprive him of having the status?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I think it would be the same status as the Supervisor of Statistical Education, Vocational Director and Home Economics Director. I think it is on the same basis and the salary is the same, that is true.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, does not the law in Pennsylvania set forth the qualifications of the people the gentleman just mentioned?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Does it set forth any qualifications of a director of child accounting, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. As I understood Mrs. Dye to read from the bill it would give a certain standing plus. The Department of Public Instruction would use its discretion upon the standards required by this person.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Then, Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in the law that says who he should be or what his qualifications shall be, is that correct?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I would say that that is true, but that is administrative.

Mr. O'CONNOR. The qualifications are administrative requirements?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Is it not true that you could hire anybody and put him in under this bill? Anybody at all?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. No, Mr. Speaker, that might be what we call in a slang phrase a slam but I do not think they would so foolish as to certify anybody for such an important job who is not partially prepared or wholly prepared.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I don't mean it as a slam on the Department, but what I want to know is the conclusion of this bill. We know what your qualifications must be, we know what the qualifications of a superintendent must be and also an assistant superintendent, but we don't know, it is a deep secret what the qualifications are of this Child Accountant. Now, if there is nothing wrong about this bill, nothing to hide, let us bring it out and tell us just what it is.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. In reply, Mr. Speaker, I have to state that it is just the last few months that they have contemplated this after studying the record for years, and I presume that they do not have the requirements as specifically stated as Mr. O'Connor would like. But it seems to me that is true in many fields, and as this work progresses he needn't worry that the standards will not be practical, and I would say very definitely equal to the other aides in the superintendent's office.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I have every respect for the opinion of my colleague from Blair County, but I still insist we should know what we are doing when we pass important legislation of this kind. I take it from what I have learned here on interrogation that whoever fills the job in each office is a snooper,— and I am sincere when I say snooper, snooping on the supervising principal and the teacher in order to maintain his position without any qualifications. I again ask you to vote this bill down.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the lady from Mercer, Mrs. Dye.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Mercer permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. DYE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I intended to interrogate the lady some time ago, but most of the questions that I had been waiting for some time to ask in regard to this bill have already been answered. However, I would like to ask the lady a few questions. Without trying to be offensive, I would like to ask the lady, is this your brain child or that of the Department of Public Instruction?

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I don't know just exactly how to answer that question. I might say that the child accounting man in the Department of Public Instruction felt the need for this legislation and cooperated with me in having this bill drawn.

Mr. DIX. I thank the lady.

Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to know whether the lady had a real personal interest in this bill or is she just sponsoring it for the Department?

Mrs. DYE. Mr. Speaker, I have a very deep interest in this bill, I would say.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I can understand the attitude of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger, Chairman of the Education Committee. Naturally, he would speak for this bill, but I recall that some thirty or forty years ago, shortly after I finished school, we had but one county superintendent of schools, and this county superintendent of schools covered the county with a horse and wagon and received a very small salary. As the years have gone by, the Department of Public Instruction has mushroomed its employes until now there are eight or ten different superintendents of schools. At the present time we have the county superintendent of schools, we have an assistant county superintendent of schools, we have a vocational superintendent of schools, we have a home economics superintendent of schools and we have a special education superintendent of schools. The purpose of this bill as I see it is simply to add one more employe to these half dozen superintendents, and I think the bill is totally unnecessary and will not accomplish what it intends to do. It will be a burden upon the tax payers of a couple of hundred thousand dollars at least, and I can see no reason, Mr. Speaker, why we should every time the Department of Public Instruction comes in here and wants another superintendent, support that idea. We haven't had anywhere in the Commonwealth any similar mushrooming of employes. The County Commissioners are just the same as we always had,—we have three County Commissioners. Your County Treasurer and all the county officers are the same. The boroughs are all the same; you have a certain number of borough councilmen; you have a certain number of township supervisors. They don't come in here and ask for additional officers every four or five years, and its seems to me it is time to stop the Department of Education asking for additional assistants where they are unnecessary.

Mr. Speaker, I can think of half a dozen jobs that are just as valuable as this one; we should have a county superintendent of physical education; we should have a county superintendent of music, a county superintendent of playgrounds; a county superintendent of this and that, but where are we going to stop? I think this is a mighty good place to put our foot down and stop adding additional burdens on the taxpayers.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. It was my original understanding, Mr. Speaker, and I think also the original understanding of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, that this act does not only apply to the first class school districts; that would be Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Now, in reading over the act, Section 1102, page 3, I am a little confused. Will the gentleman state for the record whether in his opinion this bill does apply to first-class school districts?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe I can answer that definitely, but I can say certainly it would not have to apply to first-class school districts, because you have all of the equipment and your personnel in the first-class districts, many times what this small request asks for, so I cannot answer the first part of your question. I do know it would be very foolish for you to add any more to your personnel that are not really needed because you already have all and much more.

Mr. BROWN. I wonder if the gentleman would be kind enough to look on page 3, section 1101? "Every person elected or appointed as a County Superintendent or Assistant—"

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Will the gentleman please give me the page again?

Mr. BROWN. Page 3, line 3, section 1102.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. That, Mr. Speaker, does not say if it is first class or not but I would say that the inference of the bill would be yes that it is state-wide.

Mr. BROWN. If the gentleman will look at section 1126, page 3, this is a County Superintendent bill that the gentleman is amending; that is correct, is it not?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Well, Mr. Speaker, I think you will find this has been requested by the Department and the Division of Child Accounting, which could not of course be credited or discredited as far as the Superintendents' offices are concerned.

Mr. BROWN. Well, we are still not clear as to whether or not the first class school districts would be embraced within the bill, and that is the specific question that I would like to have answered, if possible.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Now, Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question. I say again that it would make no change in your first class district because you have all the personnel and equipment you need to take care of this. But it is necessary out over the state where it is so badly needed.

Mr. BROWN. Wouldn't the gentleman then feel that it would be wise to pass this bill over at this time and ask the Chair to reconsider agreeing to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I really cannot be the judge in the matter of education for the whole state. I do not believe it is going to affect you under any condition. If it is passed today it won't mean a dollar extra to you; it won't change you personnel,—nothing like that. It is definitely to get these boys and girls who should be in school up to the age of seventeen or eighteen. Of course, if your district is not doing this today then I presume that the Department might by this bill have something to say, but I think you folks are doing your work well.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Blair has said this bill was introduced at the request of the Department of Public Instruction. I just want to add to my remarks something I hoped I wouldn't need to say. One of the County Superintendents who spoke to me told me that it is here because certain officials don't want to do the work.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Did I not say I understand it was requested by—isn't that the terminology I used? I think so, Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I presume that Podunk is about to be offered up as a sacrifice in the interests of the Main Line. This is a bill that gives the state banks, the banks under the control of the state, the privilege of closing on any Saturday or all the Saturdays, all day throughout the year. In the big city districts where there is very little work done on Saturday the bank employes do not want to work either. The banks have never thought of the expedient of paying their help enough to keep them on Saturday, and the bank employes have a very good reason why they should not work on Saturdays.

There has been a great deal of division in the state concerning this bill. Some banks want it and other banks don't want it. It has been argued that competition will cause the banks to meet local situations. There is no longer banking competition in a great many centers. Since 1946, when the banks made more money than they ever made in their life, they are getting cocky, they are paying less and less attention to the interests of the public. Along your Main Line and in your metropolitan centers you can probably close your banks all day on Saturday without doing any damage to the business community in the area. In the rural areas that is not true. In the rural areas the thing to do would be to keep the banks open all day on Saturday to accommodate the public so I presume that this bill will go as the bankers decree and the bill will pass but it is not in the interest of sound business practice in the rural communities of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. No lawyer's questions, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker the gentleman from Cambria just made a statement to which I object seriously in which statement he said in the big city districts there is very little work done on Saturdays. I wonder if the gentleman was not in error and would like to have those remarks expunged from the record.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker without turning around to face the gentleman I would say that I took a pencil on Saturday and I figured up how many farmers there are playing golf, how many people there are on the golf links, and I have great difficulty in deciding that anybody in the big towns works on Saturday.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, I have a few communications here, for the record I would like to read them, each and every one of them. There are about twenty of them. I don't think that there would be any objection.

I represent a rural, agricultural, industrial and commercial town and all of our banks—and by the way during the bank holidays when many banks failed each and every one of our banks was sound at that time and is still sound. We only have one bank in York that said they would care to make bank closing on Saturday optional, the Western National Bank of York.

However, I do not want to tire you with all these letters. I will only say this, that in a commercial town such as ours—and agricultural, that our banks would not close Saturdays, and in other agricultural districts throughout the great state of Pennsylvania it is my opinion that the farmers going into town, where they do their banking business that the banks should be allowed to exercise the privilege on Saturday morning. We do close our banks on Saturday afternoon, but as a matter of fact if this bill is passed and the banks would elect to close their banks on Saturday you will find throughout the state that your agricultural folks will be obliged to spend more than one day of the week in town, in order to do banking on Friday or some other day instead of Saturday. So, I do not desire to tire you with these letters—that wouldn't be fair, but I would sincerely ask that those who are asking the closing of the banks on Saturday, that they will vote against this particular bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rather object to the continuous slur upon the motives of this bill by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, when he spoke about the Main Line. I presume that he intended that as being somewhat of a designation that this is a silk stocking bill, and that only those who live upon what is known as the Main Line of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the suburbs of Philadelphia, those people who in the county of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner, have such great assets of personal property that they don't have to have a real estate tax, but I want to say to you as a country man and a farmer myself, living in a rural district in an agricultural county, one of the leading agricultural counties of the state, that I have hundreds of letters down in my desk from people in my county who want this closing of the banks on Saturday and a bank holiday.

In the county seat of Media, which is the great shopping center near where my farm is located—of course I hope nobody quizzes me about the size of the farm, but nevertheless I am a "dirty" farmer, but in that place the wagons of the elite who come in there on Saturdays wouldn't let any respectable farmer go to the market and bank on Saturday morning, therefore it doesn't make any difference to us in Delaware County whether the banks are open or not. I remember the time when the banks in our county were open two nights a week and one banker wrote me—he was an urban banker, not a rural man, and he protested. I asked him whether he wouldn't prefer to stay open one night a week, and as I say, the farmers come in to see the movies, and their jalopies and station wagons and so forth, are so crowded around the movie places that we, who live about five minutes away, have to park our cars a few hundred feet from our homes and walk the rest of the way in order to get to the movies to get out of the way of these station wagons, these Buicks, and Rolls-Royces and these Packards that are lined up in front.

I have said to one banker who wrote to me that I thought this was in the modern era. He happened to be a Democrat, and I said that I was amazed that a Democrat who had always proclaimed his liberalism would come out now and ask us to keep the banks open on Saturday. I told him that he ought to get on the band wagon with us progressive Republicans and let us close the banks on Saturday so that they may have a holiday like other people.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I reply to the gentleman from Delaware that his particular group who have the jurisdiction of closing the banks on Saturday were the ones who were able to close most of the banks in the country all the time.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in the position that the gentleman from Westmoreland was in on the Child Accounting bill. I was under the impression that this bill was a permissive bill, the banks that want to close can close, and the ones that want to stay open can stay open, but I thought if we had to vote, we from Philadelphia and the Members from the rural districts, would be happy to vote for this bill. Now I would like to find out exactly what this bill does and I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Banking Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the Chairman of the Banking Committee has a leave of absence due to illness in the family.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, if there is any competent lawyer in the House who can explain this bill to me I would like to find out exactly what it does.

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls upon his personal council, the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 38 merely remove the restriction or the obligation of banks to handle commercial papers on Saturdays. The net effect is to permi them to close if the Board of Directors of the various institutions so decide and post the proper notices if the wish.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILLIAM J. REILLY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker. Before agreeing to be interrogated, Mr. Speaker, I want to know in what capacity I am interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM J. REILLY. Well now, the gentleman will hear later, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I accept with reservations.

Mr. WILLIAM J. REILLY. Mr. Speaker, as well as Mr. Turner, having quite a delegation from Philadelphia, and knowing the type of man that you are, and feeling that we would like to enjoy ourselves occasionally at times, I was going to ask your indulgence for just a moment to secure that beautiful farm you have out there in Delaware County for a nice little picnic this summer, from the boys in Delaware County to the boys from Philadelphia County, and I fully know that you will agree to it in the manner in which you have always, especially from the very beautiful breakfasts that you have tendered to the various Members of our delegation—there is no question about it, including the beautiful ladies also, and I can say this to you in all fairness, you are a grand old man.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to know from the gentleman what beautiful ladies have to do with banking.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if you were out in our section you would know what beautiful ladies have to do with banking.

I am very much flattered by the invitation that the gentleman from Philadelphia has extended to the Philadelphians to have a picnic out at my farm this summer. I will say to you, knowing the gentleman from Philadelphia who has extended the invitation, that I am perfectly willing to supply the food for that picnic, but I do not believe that the exchequer of the Turner family would stand the liquid refreshments, so with that qualification that each one B Y O L, which means "bring your own liquor", the invitation is accepted—with one other qualification, and it is one that I would like to admonish the Members of this House, because I haven't had a chance to get around Harrisburg very much in the evenings, that is outside of the hotel or the capitol, but I have a slogan, "you know, one gentleman never sees another gentleman when he is out".

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to consult the Chair's personal attorney, the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader, the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Elk desire to read into the record a considered opinion that this House can endow banks with legislative authority?

Mr. SORG. I am not prepared, Mr. Speaker, to read that into the record.

Mr. ANDREWS. Would there be a possible doubt as to the constitutionality of a measure which endows banks with legislative power, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, every time we pass a bill there is possibility of a doubt. On this measure there is not in my mind, however.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I have a personal interest in the bill and I would like to be recorded as "present" and not voting. I just want the record to show I am here.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman cannot be recorded as voting "present". He must either vote "yes" or "no".

Mr. McMILLEN. Neither one, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. RAHAUSER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania eliminated the wholesale and retail license fees on the sale of margarine that were in effect in Pennsylvania for many years. But it did not strike down many provisions of these bills.

These license fees were discriminatory. They were in restraint of trade. They were aimed at placing restrictions on the distribution of margarine. They operated as bureaucratic control of a legitimate business. The provisions in force are of the same nature.

The Supreme Court eliminated the fees, but did not eliminate many phases of the acts which were archaic, out-dated and burdensome.

The bureaucratic control remains, without any reason for the control. It can not be said that the control is for the protection of the Pennsylvania farmer when 150,000,000, out of the 175,000,000 pounds of butter that are consumed in this state, are imported from outside of Pennsylvania.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in 1943, compiled a list of states where the sale of margarine was restricted, and a list of states where it was sold without any restrictions. In each of the states in which margarine was sold without restriction, the dairy farmers actually received a higher price for butterfat than did the dairy farmers in an adjoining state in which there were restrictions on the sale of margarine. In fact, the average was 6.8 cents per pound higher in those states upon which no objectionable restrictions were imposed on margarine by state law.

It is not contended that the unrestricted sale of margarine was responsible for the dairy farmer receiving a higher price in those states having no serious margarine restrictions. Other factors may have been responsible for this difference. In such event the other factors and not margarine should be studied in order to enable the dairy farmer to get full value for his butterfat. There was a factor, namely, the increased use of a spread in daily diet that was somewhat responsible for price increase.

This presentation is made to refute the false argument used by some that the unrestricted sale of margarine would destroy the butterfat market.

A few comparisons of prices in adjoining states will serve better to show that margarine has no effect on the price of butter.

In the state of Missouri the average price paid for all milk, according to the Department of Agriculture year book, 1942, was in Missouri 35c. There are no restrictions in Missouri. The price in Iowa was 32c. The price in Illinois, in which there are no restrictions was 42c. The price in Wisconsin, in which there are no restrictions was 39c. The price in Kansas, in which there are no restrictions, other than a restriction on soybean oil, was 34c. The price in Nebraska is 31c. That makes an average difference in price of 37c in those states in which there was no restriction and an average price of 34c in the three adjoining states, in which there were restrictions.

In the Montana Food Distributor, February, 1947, page 15, it is stated:

"The University of Ohio and other research agencies have definitely established the fact that the unrestricted sale of margarine does not cut down the sale of butter."

Internal Trade Barriers in Farm Products contains this information:

"Margarine sale was virtually prohibited in Tennessee from 1931 to 1941. In 1932 creamery butter production was 16,518,000 pounds. In 1939 it was 16,270,000 pounds. Farm butter production remained staple, at about 32 to 33 million pounds. The prices received for butterfat rose and fell in the same proportion as in other states.

"In Kentucky an anti-margarine tax law, enacted in 1932, was declared unconstitutional in 1939. Between 1932-1939 farm butter production and creamery butter production remained about the same and in 1938, when there was no margarine tax, creamery butter production was higher than in any previous year in the ten year period.

We have, in a letter from Mr. Coombes, November 28, 1945, a table showing average weeking sales of butter and margarine in New York city.

"The following table is an interesting side-light on whether margarine adds to or subtracts from the sales of butter in each of the types of stores. With one exception the average weekly sales of butter per store, also handling margarine, were greater than the average weekly sales of butter in stores of the same type, handling butter alone. In fact on the average, for all types of stores, this increase in butter sales (51 lbs. more per store per week) is even greater than total margarine sales (30 lbs. per store per week)." Surely permitting free margarine sales will not injure the dairy interests.

Surely it can not be said that the bureaucratic control is for protection of health, when the Pennsylvania General Food Law of 1909, P. L. 520, amply protects the health of the people. The first section of this act provides against the offer for sale of any food article which is adulterated or misbranded.

The Administrative Code alone gives the Department of Agriculture sufficient authority to compel the people who sell margarine to inform the people that they are buying or eating margarine and not butter.

Senate Bill 190 would repeal those acts that hinder the corner grocery store from selling this product. There are so many restrictions in the present law, in the form of reports, keeping records, requiring each dealer to place a special wrapper on each package, and so many other restrictions, that the small grocer can not sell the product. Thus, the average family is deprived of the facility of purchasing this food.

There are millions of people in the low income group that have been unable to buy sufficient butter for the needed nourishment of a healthful diet.

Senate Bill 190 would repeal all the archaic restrictions on this food and place this food in stores where the average person could purchase it.

Senate Bill 190, repealing the useless, out-of-date and discriminatory legislation, should be called up for action, at least, by the first part of next week.

I have no desire to rush the opponents of a bill that deals with food. But I challenge the opponents of the Farrell Bill to give one reason why it should not be passed. If there is a reason, surely it can be discovered by next week. If there are no reasons, Senate Bill 190 should be passed, for there are many reasons for its passage.

There are twenty-two states that have abandoned these restrictive measures. The abandoning of these measures the use of a healthful diet. The abandoning of these measures permitted the corner grocery store and small dispensary to sell this nutritious and healthful food, a food that is a hundred per cent produced from the products of the American farm. It is important to note that the farmer will benefit by repeal of these archaic laws.

Farmers are among the substantial users of margarine, one reason being that the farmer who sells whole milk for butterfat and buys margarine for his table comes out of the transaction with good nutrition and a net cash income.

Margarine manufacturers use important quantities of farm products. In 1945, margarine makers used 253,997,000 pounds of cotton seed oil, 206,642,000 pounds of soybean oil, 105,002,000 pounds of milk, 10,215,000 pounds of peanut oil, and 9,174,000 pounds of corn oil. In all, 480,166,000 pounds of American-grown vegetable oils were used.

Pennsylvania, while not a leading producing state for these products, in 1944 produced 14,643,000,000 pounds of milk, of which 500,000,000 pounds were sold as wholesale milk; 493,000 bushels of soybeans; and 53,580,000 bushels of corn—for which margarine contributed an active demand.

The Grange should be favoring the passage of Senate Bill 190 and I hope that next week, when this bill is called up, they will see fit to support it.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the resolution which I am about to present today pertains to legislation which we now have before us, namely, House Bill No. 7.

I believe that the Senate of Pennsylvania wishes to act in a constitutional manner and wishes to enact legislation which is constitutional, and there is a question in my mind as to whether or not we are attempting to amend a piece of legislation that is on the statute books and which I have reason to believe might be questioned as to its constitutionality.

I, therefore, submit this resolution and request that the committee to which it might be assigned act as soon as possible.

Incidentally, this is not a partisan measure, and I would appreciate a formal opinion from the Attorney General in regard to the Smoke Control Act of 1943.

RESOLUTION

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO RENDER AN OPINION AS TO THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF P. L. 793 OF THE 1943 SESSION RE: SMOKE NUISANCES IN COUNTIES OF THE SECOND CLASS

Messrs. LANE and TARR offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, April 24, 1947.

Whereas, House Bill No. 7 has been approved by the House of Representatives, and has been referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining in the Senate, and has passed first reading, and

Whereas, Said bill proposes to amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May, 1943 (P. L. 793), relative to the regulation of smoke nuisances in counties of the second class, and

Whereas, It is considered by many inadvisable and futile to enact said bill into law due to the fact that the constitutionality of said act of 1943 is questionable, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General is hereby respectfully requested to render an opinion as to the constitutionality of said act of 1943 and submit his conclusion to the Senate at his earliest convenience.

AMENDED SENATE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 148.

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1703) entitled "An act relating to criminal prosecutions; limiting the effect of demurrers by defendants at the close of the cases of the Commonwealth" providing for the disposition of cases where evidence has been improperly admitted and the court has failed to sustain the demurrer at the close of the Commonwealth' s case.

Mr. SORG IN THE CHAIR

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Cambria will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, yesterday in the Harrisburg Patriot, a newspaper of general circulation in this vicinity, there appeared the following paragraph:

> "Among the legislators who voted in favor of the seven hour sports period on Sunday was Representative Hiram G. Andrews, Democratic Minority Leader, who just last month as one of the speakers at a meeting called by the church forces of Pennsylvania promised the church group there would be no legislation detrimental to the churches adopted this session."

There, Mr. Speaker, we have a statement written in pure malice, actionable in any court in this Commonwealth. The malice is proven by the fact that the reported responsible, when his attention was called to the misstatement of the record replied to me that he would consult the record.

I have been in Harrisburg in the Legislature and in the Press gallery and around about here since 1909. In all of that time I have never had a single member of the Press gallery question my personal word, and the fact that this particular reporter when I personally assured him that I had voted against the Scanlon Amendment refused to take my word, indicates in my opinion, malice.

Now, this particular statement is a misrepresentation based upon a misrepresentation, which even in modern newspaper practice is something of an achievement.

I was originally misquoted as to what I said when Members of the General Assembly met with the members of the Lord's Day Alliance, and on that occasion in the course of a three-minute address I said that I would venture to make a prediction, but I was not expressing a personal conviction, regarding the measures involved, but I turned to Dr. Forney and I said "Doctor, it is my prediction you can bet your bankroll that there won't be a horse race bill at this session of the Legislature."

I didn't say whether I was going to vote for or against the horse racing bill. If a horse racing bill appears upon the floor of this House I will vote for it.

I also said "I make the prediction that this Legislature will not pass any bills impairing our Sunday statutes, and I say that if any bill impairing our Sunday statutes appears on the calendar I will vote against it.

I also made the prediction that this Legislature would not pass any legislation impairing the validity of our Sunday laws relating to the sale of liquor, and would not undermine our statutes in regard to law enforcement in connection with the sale of liquor, and I will say now that if any such bills are introduced impairing law enforcement standards as far as sales of liquor on Sunday are concerned I will vote against them.

I was quoted as saying that I promised as Monority Leader that none of those would pass. I made predictions, and I further said "It is unfortunate that the predictions I am making are not the predictions made by the Majority Leader," who was not present. And I was quoted in the morning paper as saying that as Minority Leader I promised that none of these bills would pass.

I was also quoted as saying that I spoke for the Majority Leader. I haven't brought this matter up before because the original misrepresentation, you couldn't catch up with; it was printed in the Church Journal and various publications throughout the land, clearly placing the Majority Leader in the wrong position and misinterpreting my position without any recourse, and without any reason—and I am referring to the paragraph of yesterday, because the young man having no knowledge as to how I voted had only to ask me as to how I voted and he would have been told, and when I told him how I voted he refused to take my word.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, for presiding in the absence of the Speaker.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 28, 1947.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. W. MURRAY YOUNG offered the following prayer:

O Thou Divine Spirit of beauty and goodness, of truth and love, we would lay aside every care and distracting thought and enter into the light of Thy Holy presence. We seek a closer acquaintance with Thee, a better understanding of Thy creative will.

We seek to bring our intimate personal and corporate problems and troubles into the radiant light of Thy redeeming love. Here in this moment of devotion and reconsecration, may the lonely find fellowship; may the burdened feel refreshed; may the guilt-ridden experience forgiveness; may the worried be lifted out of their anxieties into a heroic, trustful faith in their Heavenly Father. In these critical days of tension and uncertainty, grant to our spirits the peace that passeth understanding.

We pray for all the sick and infirmed souls. Fill their hearts, we beseech Thee, with hopefulness and courage. May the thought of the life-giving, quiet strength of the Great Physician bring saving health to their ailing bodies and disturbed minds.

Deliver us from the poisons of hatred, misunderstanding and vindictiveness. Calm the violent emotions and prejudices aroused by industrial strife, and bring peace and harmony into all the camps of human activity. In They ineffable name, we pray. Amen!

Senate Bill No. 360, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to convey to the Borough of Bristol certain real property located in said Borough

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Danial B. Strickler) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communition which was read by the Clerk:

The Senate, State of Michigan, Lansing,

April 25, 1947

Fred I. Chase
Secretary of the Senate

Mr. G. Harold Watkins
Secretary of the Senate
Capitol Building
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Good Morning, Mr. Watkins:

I have the honor to transmit herewith a copy of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 21 which has been adopted by both houses of the Michigan Legislature.

Sincerely yours,

FRED I. CHASE

STATE OF MICHIGAN

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 21

By Mr. Bates

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RESPECTFULLY URGING MICHIGAN SENATORS AND CONGRESSMEN IN CONGRESS TO EXERT ALL THEIR EFFORTS IN ATTEMPTING TO STOP OR AT LEAST REDUCE THE OFFERING OF FEDERAL AID TO THE SEVERAL STATES AND TERRITORIES

Whereas, Our sister State of Indiana has shown the courage to declare against the unsound financial practice of so-called federal aid, and the General Assembly of said state has passed a concurrent resolution calling upon its Senators and Congressmen "to vote to fetch its county courthouses and city halls back from Pennsylvania Avenue" and

Whereas, The said State of Indiana has called upon the Legislatures of her sister states to join with her in appealing to Congress for a cessation of this unsound political fiscal extravagance; and

Whereas, When a state legislature is confronted with a federal aid law, the legislature must either comply or forefeit money which has been or will be taken from the citizens of the state in taxes, the effect being virtual compulsion; and

Whereas, It is obvious that unless federal aid is discontinued to all states, it will not be refused by any state; and

Whereas, The members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Michigan Legislature agree with Governor Thomas Dewey of New York when he said that, "It is a fundamental truth that when a unit of government spends money that has not been raised locally through taxes the inevitable result is irresponsibility and waste and it is old fashioned common sense that best government is that which is closest to the people and their pocketbooks"; and

Whereas, Our nation is financially embarrassed to the amount of one quarter of a trillion dollars and should divert so-called federal aid toward reducing its indebtedness; and

Whereas, Michigan and most other states are in sound financial condition able to handle their own fiscal responsibilities; now therefore be it

Resolved By The Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Michigan Legislature joins forces with our neighboring State of Indiana in denouncing this practice of so-called "matching dollars"; and be it further

Resolved, That we respectfully petition and urge Michigan Senators and Congressmen in Congress to exert all their efforts in attempting to stop or at least reduce the offering of federal aid to the several states and territories; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Legislatures or Assemblies of the 48 States, and to the Michigon Senators and Congressmen in Congress.

Adopted by the Senate March 13, 1947.

Adopted by the House of Representatives April 9, 1947.

NORMAN E. PHILLES,
Clerk of the House of Representatives

FRED I. CHASE,
Secretary of the Senate.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CARR from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, to which was referred on April 23, 1947, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendment as follows, which was laid over for one day under the rules:

DEPARTMENT, PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES TO MAINTAIN FIRST-AID ROOM IN MAIN CAPITOL BUILDING.

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1947.

Whereas, The dictates of common sense require, and experience has proven, that where large numbers of persons are in daily attendance within a given area, first-aid facilities for the treatment and comfort of persons suffering minor accidents or illness should be maintained; and

Whereas, Hundreds of persons, particularly during the legislative sessions, are in daily attendance in the capitol buildings as visitors, interested parties and guests; and

Whereas, Frequently among such persons there are those who meet with a minor accident or suffer an illness, and no facilities presently exist where such persons may seek emergency aid or comfort, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Property and Supplies be directed to establish and maintain at a central location in the main capitol building a first-aid room with adequate first-aid equipment, supplies and comfort facilities, and that during the sessions of the General Assembly the services of a registered nurse in daily attendance be supplied.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 649, entitled:

An Act for the protection of the public and the prevention of fraud by prohibiting any person individually or in association or partnership with another person or persons to practice as an accountant, auditor, certified public accountant, or public account under a false, assumed, fictitious, or trade name; prohibiting any corporation organized or registered after the effective date of this act from engaging in the practice as such and fixing the time when such practice by existing corporations shall entirely cease in this Commonwealth and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. SCARLETT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 650, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the College of Lincoln University, Chester County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. LETZLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 651, entitled:

An Act making an additional deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-five.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WATSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 652, entitled:

An Act terminating the existence of the Pennsylvania Nautical School.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. FAZIER. Mr. President, during the recent war, certain conditions arose over which parents seemed to have no control, and one of those was the early marriage of their daughters. They became emancipated then, and a result of losses of husbands as a result of casualties, these daughters are now home with their parents, and some of them have the idea that once having been married, they are always emancipated. There is some uncertainty as to that. There seems to be some uncertainty as to the law, and therefore, in order to clarify this situation, I offer the following bill:

Mr. FRAZIER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 653, entitled:

An Act providing for a status of parental control and authority over minors after termination of marriage of such minors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. HARE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 654, entitled:

An Act to reenact section one of the act, approved the twentieth day of April, one thousand eight hundred seventy-four (P. L. 110), entitled "An act to enable the officers of dissolved corporations to convey real estate held by such corporations."

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 655, entitled:

An Act to divide the State into senatorial districts as provided by the constitution and to regulate the election of senators and the terms of office of present and future senators.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER ON SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN TO BRING THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION TO PHILADELPHIA

Messrs. JASPAN and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 28, 1947.

As a result of the vigorous campaign of the Philadelphia Inquirer, the National Convention of the Republican Party will be held in Philadelphia.

That campaign inspired every Philadelphian and every Pennsylvanian. It rekindled the spirit of home pride which had suffered a considerable blow when it lost, by too narrow a margin, the United Nations Capital to New York City.

The Philadelphia Inquirer campaign not only inspired our citizens but united them and through their united action succeeded in bringing the convention to Philadelphia.

The National Committee of the Democratic Party has not, as yet, selected its convention city, and therefore the same opportunity exists for Philadelphia to win the National Democratic Convention; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates the Philadelphia Inquirer upon its vigorous and successful campaign to bring the National Republican Party Convention to Philadelphia, and hereby urges the said paper to immediately initiate a campaign to bring the National Democratic Party Convention to Philadelphia; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Philadelphia Inquirer.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BECKER, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 28, 1947.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, May 5, 1947, at three o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, May 5, 1947, at three-thirty o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

FORMER MINORITY LEADER, HONORABLE BERNARD B. McGINNIS, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I note in the Senate Chamber this afternoon, a former minority leader of the Senate, in the sessions of 1941-43, the Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis, of Allegheny County.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair welcomes to this session of the Senate, the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny County.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might say to Senator McGinnis, I wish he were still minority leader.

The PRESIDENT. Perhaps that can be arranged.

(The Senate was at ease while official photograph was taken.)

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. JASPAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 656, entitled:

An Act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution giving cities of the first class the right and power to frame, adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government, and providing the procedure, therefor; imposing certain restrictions, limitations and regulations; imposing duties upon city councils, city officers, county boards of elections, courts of common pleas and the Secretary of the Commonwealth and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 657, entitled:

An Act to authorize the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to acquire, by gift from the Government of the United States, a certain tract of land in Tinicum Township, Delaware County, sometimes known as the "Old Lazaretto" for park purposes; providing for the control, management, supervision, restoration, improvement and maintenance thereof, by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission; and autorizing the Commission to make and to enforce rules and regulations for the preservation, maintenance and visitation thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire, before presenting a bill for consideration, to read some prepared remarks relative to the fiscal problems of the State of Pennsylvania. With the permission of the Senate I would like to read from a prepared statement that I have. Each Senator will find a copy of this statement upon his desk.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate: I have been trying since the apperance of the Governor's budget and tax program to give the General Assembly an analysis of this program with the hope of giving the people of Pennsylvania a true and factual picture of our present and future needs.

At this time I am going to offer a positive program. This is contrary to the usual political procedure. Ordinarily the minority is relegated to the position of giving partisan criticism. However, it has long been my contention that this is a misconception and out of order in our present day economy of Government. I have maintained up to this moment the position that the Governor's Budget Director has deliverately falsified the budgetary figures. I make this statement again after a careful reflection upon the past performances of this same Budget Director.

However, in stating that the Governor needed no new taxes if he would give a more accurate estimation of the revenue to be raised, I had in mind enactment of the same tax program enacted in 1945. Although my program has been criticized, the opposition has yet to submit a breakdown of the Governor's Budget showing the need for new taxes.

I want to go further at this time and submit to you a program of taxes and allocation of our revenues having in mind the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth.

First: A realistic view of our responsibility to the Commonwealth with the welfare of its peoples is ever our goal. To do this one must set aside partisan narrowness and make an honest attempt to view our present problems with a dispassionate and calculated analysis.

I have come to the conclusion, and I am willing to listen to arguments to the contrary, that our problems can readily be solved on a more enduring basis if we do three things, namely:

A. The Governor is willing to re-submit his budget.

B. The Legislature is not blindly subservient to departmental needs and demands.

C. The private interests lobbyists act less selfish.

Second: Ever so often in the history of a state an opportunity presents itself to a Governor and a Legislature to perform a lasting service. This Governor and this Legislature have that opportunity now. Governor Duff has the training and the independence of nature and action that is the first requisite if we are to put forth the effort to solve our problems jointly.

This Legislature has within its membership enough men of independent thought and action, who would rather create in this session a monument of achievement for the people's welfare than to further their own political careers. I hope I analyze the situation correctly.

Remember too, that historically a minority would rather see the majority make mistakes than help the opposition make a good record.

Remember too, that in our political Democracy cooperation between the "ins" and the "outs" is restricted to after dinner speaking and funerals for outstanding party members. I do not propose that we change this historic plan of behavior, but I sincerely believe that there can be such a thing as overdoing another favorite political plan of action, namely, and that is our biennial comedy of errors, when the Legislature, following age-old custom surrenders its prerogative to the Executive, the Judicial and the lobbyists.

In Pennsylvania we suffer because of the apparent strangle hold upon the throat of the body politic by the Republican Party. I say this because, the strength of this political party is such that it can with reckless abandon pass legislation on all matters on any schedule selected by the party backers.

I believe there must be a day of reckoning with his haphazard method of taxing and spending.

At this time I am going to present to the Governor, the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives and to the people of Pennsylvania a plan for progress in Pennsylvania.

I have no pride of authorship and do not hesitate to say that I do not believe my plan and suggestions to be without fault. If any interested parties offer to sit around the table to put this or any similar plan into law I stand willing to cooperate to the best of my ability and to the limit of my knowledge and time.

First: I believe that all segments of our population should pay a just share of the taxes. Government is in a sense a police force safeguarding each man's stake and personal wealth. Therefore, it is logical to tax the holders of the largest stakes and possessors of the greatest wealth in a ration to the protection and services rendered by Government.

Secondly: I believe the Commonwealth requires a budget of approximately $600,000,000 for a biennium if we are to render the services demanded by our mode of living and our level of government. I, therefore, put the revenue raising measures into seven categories, namely:

1. Manufacturing, Industrial Mining and Corporations

A. Corporate Net Incomes (increase 1%) $150,000,000.

Under "A" I would increase corporate net income tax by one percent, from 4 to 5 per cent.

B. Capital Stock—$54,000,000.

The capital stock tax would be re-enacted at the present rate.

C. Corporate Loan (present rate)—$5,000,000.

The corporate loan tax would be re-enacted at the present rate.

D. Bonus Tax (present rate)—$1,000,000.

The bonus tax would be re-enacted at the present rate.

2. Mercantile Establishments

A. Mercantile tax (8 mills)—$100,000,000.

The mercantile tax would raise in collection over a period of two years, $100,000,000, if collected on 70 per cent efficiency.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I think we ought to analyze that for a moment. I have heard a great deal of talk, Mr. President, about a sales tax, a sales tax which would be assessed directly against the consumer—the patron or client of mercantile establishments—Consumers we call them, I believe.

Mr. President, I believe I can show, and I will be glad to sit down with anybody interested, that a two per cent sales tax would yield approximately the same amount as an eight mills mercantile tax, properly assessed and properly collected. The machinery for collecting this tax is now here available. We have on hand the machinery in the state government to re-establish the mercantile tax and immediately start collecting the same. I believe, in the interest of good sound government it would be far better to assess an eight mills tax against the receipts of mercantile establishments, rather than a direct two or three per cent sales tax. In the end, it all comes from sales, but in the one case it costs the consumers two and one half times as much money to collect the same amount of money for state purposes. I can not find anything wrong with assessing against this segment of our population, this segment of life in our fair state, a fair share of the tax burden, when any person knows that mercantile establishments, by and large, are the greatest beneficiaries of all expenditures of public funds; they are the greatest beneficiaries of good streets, good roads, good transportation systems and good communication systems, and they carry in this state the least amount of direct taxation, when compared to corporations, industries and the consuming public. I do not believe that any argument can be made against the unsoundness, as it were, of this particular tax.

Next, I would take up the classification of tax known as the individual or personal sales taxes, on consumer goods, which are now assessed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

3. Individual or personal Sales Taxes on consumers goods (present taxes)

Cigarettes (recommended 3c tax)	$58,000,000
Liquor Sales (present rate)	43,000,000
Alcoholic Beverage (present tax rate)	23,640,000
Liquor Store Profits	85,000,000

I would re-enact the cigarette tax and accept Governor Duff's recommendation of a one cent increase, which would bring in $58,000,000. I would recommend that the liquor sales tax, which is presently assessed, be re-enacted, and which would bring in $43,000,000. I recommend that the liquor beverage tax be re-enacted at the present rate, which would bring in $23,640,000. I would also count in this particular category liquor store profits of $85,000,000.

The next group would be utility taxes.

4. Utility Taxes

Gross Receipts Tax (increase to 20 mills)—$20,000,000.

I believe, in all fairness with the increase in revenue to the Commonwealth in Pennsylvania, that the estimates are comparable to the estimates in 1935 and 1937, when we found it necessary to assess against utilities a gross receipts tax of twenty per cent. I would say to you gentlemen that we would increase the gross receipts tax and bring it up to a total of twenty mills, which would provide $20,000,000 for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in even a light year collection.

5. Inheritance Taxes (rate 50% increase)—$60,000,000.

I have heard many arguments that this state should, when in need, and surely this is a time of need, if we are to believe the Governor's appeal for funds at this time, increase the inheritance tax from two to three per cent on direct heirs and from ten to fifteen per cent on collateral heirs, which would be a fifty per cent increase in inheritance taxes and would yield to the Commonwealth $60,000,000.

6. Service Industries

Insurance (present rates	$16,949,000
Trust Co., Bank Shares, (present rates)	6,300,000

I would re-enact the so-called service industries tax, trust company, bank shares and insurance taxes, totaling $16,949,000 and $6,300,000 respectively.

7. Miscellaneous Taxes and Income—$32,828,000.

Item Number 7, miscelleaneous taxes and income, as contained in the budget, show an income of $32,828,000.

This makes a grand total for state purposes of $655,717,000.

For future taxation—and this is important—and revenue for increased expenses for welfare, health and veterans, I would recommend a referendum at the earliest moment for:

A. A graduated income tax,

B. Legalized Horse Racing with pari-mutuel control.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I submit to you, and this is just one ilustration, I had dinner Saturday night with three employers in my community who are large producers of manufactured goods.

These gentlemen, without questioning on my part, volunteered the information that they are scouting the mid-western states of these United States, because they have found that in the mid-western states there is a forward-looking program being put into effect, that taxes are being assessed against those who are the privileged persons in the community, as against the manufacturing end of the community's life. Only just recently I was informed by these same men that the state of Colorado has departed from its age-old adherence to strict blue laws and has recently passed by its legislature a bill taxing slot machines and other gambling devices, and it had passed on second reading, at the time they gave me the information, a bill legalizing pari-mutuel horse racing machinery.

Everybody knows the story in Nevada; all persons interested in this nation knows the story of New Mexico. All of us are becoming more and more aware of the fact that this great industrial state of ours, in this new and modern day of transportation and communication, has lost many of the pre-fabricated industries that have nothing to tie them to this Commonwealth and when I say that I mean the men who produce these goods, skilled and semi-skilled labor, who also have their eyes turned westward.

Those of us who sit here in the legislative halls must have the courage to face the facts as they are. I am going to present to the Senate, when I am through a bill that, if passed, will present to the people of Pennsylvania a simple question; without setting up any schedule of legislation, without creating any boards or commissions, it will submit to the people of this Commonwealth a very simple question, asking whether or not the citizens of this Commonwealth want to defray future expenses of government by having a pari-mutuel tax on horse racing.

When I first introduced a legalized horse racing bill in this legislative body, Mr. President, back in 1935, I was ridiculed by many who still now sit in this Senate and House: they said the bill was one that would destroy the morals of our great state. I predicted at that time, and the record will bear me out, that within the next decade, every state surrounding this state would legalize horse racing, because of the fact that they could not keep down the desire and the urge to gamble and go to horse races, and that every one of those states would milk this Commonwealth of many millions of dollars of revenue that they have no legal or moral right to. Now I want to say to this Senate, not in a spirit of saying I told you so, but I ask you gentlemen of this Senate if you can name one state that adjoins this Commonwealth of our that does not have legalized pari-mutuel horse racing within the last decade. Just as I said then, I say to you now—this probably will be my last session in the Legislature of this Commonwealth—I say to all of you that unless you have the courage to face the future and the facts as they are presented at the present time, you are going to lose in this Commonwealth much of its skilled labor and many lucrative industries.

I say that because persons are normal and human and they are looking with their eyes, ever looking westward.

And humbly I say to you that I, too, am intending to go westward.

This program will, if enacted, give to the people of this Commonwealth an anticipated revenue of at least $200,000,000 a year. If this money becomes available, Mr. President, then there can be a corresponding reduction in the various tax schedules previously recommended.

You will notice in the schedule of taxes the absence of any new tax on soda pop, cigars and tobacco. I left these items on the tax-free list, Mr. President, because the individual consumer is now paying the major share of the tax burden in this Commonwealth. In reality we have disguised sales and consumer goods taxes totaling $209,000,000 at the present time upon our books. This share of the tax burden is paid out of daily living expenditures of working men and women, along with all others in the Commonwealth.

The cigar and tobacco tax proposal of the Governor is particularly unsound in this Commonwealth, where the tobacco industry is a vital part of the economy of our state. I would recommend that this tax be dropped.

The soda pop tax is the creature of small minds. It is one of the most unsound tax proposals ever devised. It lacks character and is a reflection on the intelligence of the members of this Legislature. The only reason this tax has been proposed is that at present it is an industry without political influence.

It seems to me that in a state with the stature, historically, economically, industrially and politically possessed by the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a more equitable revenue measure can be produced. There is something about a soda pop, chocolate milk, ice cream sundae tax that is unbecoming to our great state. There can be no justification for assessing against this low priced daily consumer goods industry an unfair share of our tax burden. However, aside from the unfairness and the unsoundness of this tax, the mere mention of this tax takes away from the fair State of Pennsylvania some of the bigness, some of the greatness, some of the grandeur which has been our heritage.

No tax should be placed upon the statute books merely because it is easily assessed and collected, or because it takes less political courage to pass it.

I have tried to show in previous statements that if we confine our apropriations to the amounts recommended by the Governor, we can do without new taxes. However, you will find upon examination that I have recommended a total revenue program calling for $655,717,000 for the present biennium. In doing this I propose to show why and how this sum can and should be allocated.

Accepting in total the Governor's recommended expenditures is contrary to good business. There can be no quarrel with our demands for a reduction in departmental administration expenditures. The Republican party in Washington, D. C., has slased budgetary needs as much as forty-seven per cent in vital departments of the Federeal Government, strictly on the basis of economy in government, and here, in Pennsylvania, you are adding as much as 22 per cent to 230 per cent increase in departmental expenditures for administration costs. There can be no soundness in that type of political philosophy.

For the purpose of this message I will accept the Governor's estimates of his needs.

With a total of $655,717,000 for appropiration purposes, I propose the following schedule for expending this sum:

$308,745,304—For all agencies including relief, excepting construction program for Public Institutions and public instruction program.

The only difference between this item and the amount recommended by the Governor is $4,000,000. That $4,000,000 is part of the $5,000,000 the Governor recomends for the highway patrol. I take the position, since motor funds are earmarked and safe-locked by a constitutional amendment, that the state patrol should not be a burden beyond that part of the state patrol's expenditures that can be traced to the Commonwealth for detective and police work, other than highway safety and highway traffic account.

Therefore, Mr. President, I intend for the purposes of this message, to remove $4,000,000 from this expenditure and put it over in the motor fund, where it rightfully belongs.

$260,739,400—For Department of Public Instruction. This adds $52,000,000 to the Governor's recommendation, plus $21,000,000 in accordance with Act 403 of 1945.

And, gentlemen of the Senate, this will allow sufficient funds to put into effect the provisions of House Bill 417, so badly needed in the Commonwealth, if our school system is to survive.

$54,232,296—Institutional construction.

$5,000,000—Desilting Schuylkill River.

$27,000,000—Set up Housing Authority for public housing with Veteran preferential.

This is another item I have been able to add because of what I think is the sound tax program herein recommended, $27,000,000, Mr. President, to set up a housing authority for public housing with veteran preferential. This sum to be used as initial construction, financing, to be paid back as properties are sold.

One of the most vital problems in this Commonwealth, and in every state of the union, is the lack of housing, especially for veterans. We are making no provisions, this Legislature, including myself, is making no provisions for veteran's housing, or any other kind of public housing, except to pass some kind of smoke-screen legislation allowing insurance companies, if and when they desire, to build public housing. Two years ago, members of the Senate, I said upon this floor, when a similar bill was passed for insurance companies, to allow them to spend money or to invest in building to eradicate slums in blighted areas, I said then that was smoke-screen legislation and that was properly the function of state government and the responsibility of state government, and that we were not fulfilling our contract with the people by giving this to a private agency, if and when they wanted the power to do this work, and I said further that they would not clear up one blighted area or eradicate one slum, and I submit, and again this is not in a spirit of I told you so, that they have not eradicated one slum area, nor have they cleaned up one blighted area. I say the same about the legislaltion you have just passed, it is a smoke-screen.

We, the members of the Senate, have a direct responsibility and a moral obligation to the people of the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, I have here the necessary finances to set up a $27,000,000 revolving fund, or authority, or whatever name you want to give it. I am not particular about names, I am only interested in doing the job. We can build houses for person who are homeless in Pennsylvania. This, gentlemen of the Senate, results in a total appropriation, for the purposes I have set forth above, of $655,717,000.

By following this program we can still leave untouched the $50,000,000 bond issue for emergency purposes as intended by the people and the Legislature.

The $9,412,125 postwar construction appropriation for State office buildings which Governor Duff proposed to allow to lapse, need not be lapsed and these much needed projects can be carried to their completion. This will save the Commonwealth many thousands of dollars now being expended in rentals, etc.

This is not the original program I proposed, but since the Governor appears to be willing to rely upon his Budget Director's estimate of needs, I cannot do other than accept his spending program in so far as institutional, relief and administrative appropriations are concerned.

I have, however, proposed the necessary revenue recommendations to take care of the school teacher salary raises and the veterans housing program in addition to his proposed schedule.

The final phase of this program has to do with the highway funds. Unless we are to witness a complete breakdown of local government because of added local government costs and inability to raise revenue from a local level, we must set a new standard of returning motor license and gasoline tax funds to the local governments.

With this in mind and knowing full well we can hardly spend from a statewide basis the recommended $250,000,000 proposed by Governor Duff, I propose the following:

There will be, in addition to the $250,000,000 allocated by the Governor approximately $67,000,000 surplus in the Highway Fund at the end of the biennium. I propose to take $4,000,000 more from this amount for the highway police appropriation plus a return to the local governments of $33,000,000. This sum will be returned in addition to the return made from the special one-cent gas tax as outlined in the gas tax return bill of 1945. This will relieve local real estate of its unfair share of the tax burden and will still allow a highway cushion of approximately $30,000,000.

If my estimates are out of line with returns in any appreciable degree, the funds set aside for institutional construction can be taken from the $50,000,000 bond issue created for just such an emergency.

I do not claim finality on figures, as claimed by the budget director; I admit that I am only human and may be in error, but I submit to the members of the Senate that we will have in our back-log $50,000,000 of untouched revenue bonds to be used for the purposes as outlined in this message.

I have tried to show what can be done if the Legislature and the Governor are willing and wish to establish an enduring and just progrom for Pennsylvania.

We can do this if we want to. We can do this if the people are made acquainted with the facts as they are, and Finally, we can do this if we have the courage to try.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I think every member of the Senate has been tremendously interested in this presentation of a program by the gentleman from Westmoreland. I was interested in it very intensely because it reflects several things. I have a colleague of mine on this side of the Senate who is very prone to say at appropriate times, "keep him confused," and I think that would be a proper statement to make at this time, so far as the remarks of the gentleman from Westmoreland are concerned, when you consider what he has said today in the light of what he has said repeatedly and several times on the floor of the Senate prior to today.

I should like to point out, first of all, that after the period of time that we have had before us the Governor's budget message, there now has come this proposal from the gentleman from Westmoreland, which brings an entirely new and different light upon the budget which he has severely criticized prior to this time.

I direct the attention of the Senate to the fact that in this program which he has submitted today there is no menion of any state authority, which has been in the program which the gentleman from Westmoreland has advanced prior to this date.

I call attention to the fact, particularly, that heretofore he has suggested two things: one, that a General State Authority be formed and, secondly, that if it were formed, it would be unnecessary to have one single penny of additional new tax money come into the coffers of this Commonwealth.

And now, Mr. President, I submit that this entire statement today, which I realize is made in complete good faith, and I respect the manner in which it has been presented, and I respect also the purposes for which it has been made, but I suggest it reflects a complete turnabout of the position which the Minority has taken up to this point, because here today comes, for the first time, a realization by them, an admission by them, that new revenues are needed in order to carry out the work and the functions of this state government, and I say that if it serves no other purpose, then certainly it is a great and fortunate thing that at this time in this session, in spite of prior commitments that have been made from the other side, we now have come to at least a mutual understanding that we agree that there needs to be new revenue in this Commonwealth for carrying on the purposes of this government.

Mr. President, in going over the suggestions that have been offered, I should like to make a few observations. I have heard, as every other person on this floor has from time to time, criticism of the fact that small people were being taxed. I note in this proposal that there is to be the establishment of a mercantile tax of eight mills. I should like to call attention to the fact that, and my memory may be in error, but I believe that the heretofore existing mercantile taxes which were levied in this Commonwealth did not exceed one mill on retail business, and if I am in error about that I will stand corrected at any time that the correction is made.

Now it is suggested in this program that the little business people in this Commonwealth, the men and women who are running the corner grocery stores, the thousands and thousands of GI's who have come back after the war and established themselves in small businesses, electrical shops, grocery stores, retail establishments of many and varied kinds, shall be burdened with a tax of eight mills on their gross receipts.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that that is not the approach to this problem that does what the gentleman suggested elsewhere in his speech, when he said that he would like great diversification of the tax burden, so that everybody might be obliged to share in it and to help pay it, and I suggest that this program does not establish that kind of a program in which everybody joins in the paying.

As I understand it there has been leveled, from the other side of this Chamber, repeated attacks upon the liquor system and upon the liquor taxes, there has been an attack leveled at the administration of the Department of Welfare, and yet that tax forms a very important part of this program, to the extent of $43,000,000

I note with a great deal of interest, too, that it is proposed that the rate of inheritance tax shall be increased fifty per cent in this program, and the gentleman from Westmoreland estimates a yield of $60,000,000 out of that additional tax.

I should like to suggest, about that, that I have no fault to find with inheritance taxes, as such, and I do not propose to set myself up as a person who is capable of estimating yields, nor do I propose to indicate by any figures that I shall mention that I do know what the yield will be, but I remember, in 1939, I came here with an idea in my mind that a great deal of revenue could be raised in this Commonwealth by eliminating this exemption which occurs on inheritance taxes when a husband and a wife own property as tenants by entireties. I thought that might be a good way to secure more revenue, by taxing that kind of an estate, and I was amazed to find, when I made inquiry, that very little money would be raised in that way. I would like to suggest, in all probability, this estimate would not probably be produced for several reasons, first of all, it is a high one and, secondly, in addition to that, because it would merely be another means of urging people in Pennsylvania, husbands and wives, to create tenants-by-entireties in order that they might further avoid these inheritance taxes.

I should also like to, suggest, if I may, returning to this proposed mercantile tax, without setting myself up as an expert, that it is unlikely, in view of past experience, which we had when this tax was levied and collected in this Commonwealth, that the yield would be the amount indicated, $100,000,000.

Mr. President, I have only one more comment to make about this situation. Very hurriedly, I have jotted down the increases that are proposed in this plan.

The increase in revenue estimated by this proposal for a mercantile tax is $100,000,000; the gentleman from Westmoreland increases the corporate income tax by one per cent over what it is now and estimates a yield of $30,000,000; he accepts the Governor's proposal of an increase of one cent on the cigaret tax, at an estimated yield of $19,000,000; he increases the gross receipts tax by six mills—I believe it is fourteen now—and he estimates the increased yield from that to be $6,000,000; by increasing the inheritance tax fifty per cent he says there would be an estimated increase of $20,000,000. In addition to that, he accepts the Governor's proposal of the carry-back, eliminating that and keeping on the manufacturer's exemption tax, an increase of $44,000,000.

I want to point out to this Senate that the entire program which has been suggested will produce by new and increased taxes, $219,000,000, as against Governor Duff's proposal of increased moneys in the way of new taxes and increased existing taxes of $133,000,000, or an added new tax burden of $86,000,000.

I suggest, Mr. President, when we are dealing with this subject, that we consider very carefully that you have now a proposal before you which makes new and increased taxes realizing $86,000,000, in addition to the amount suggested by the Governor, and every penny of it is new money, and that the whole program that has been advanced up to this point by the gentleman on the other side has been entirely scrapped.

I say, Mr. President, there is one refreshing fine thing about this entire proposal, and that is that we come to a common ground in agreement, that we do need new revenues in Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. First, Mr. President, I want to clear up for the gentleman on the other side one thing; if I did not have the courage to change my stand and position on any subject, I would not have the courage to be a member of the Senate.

The only reason that we have changed our position is because the Majority has completely outlawed any suggestions of a General State Authority. We still stand upon that premise, and if you will read the message I just gave you, you will find that we still stand upon the premise that permanent construction for future use ought to be met by payment from future taxes but, in order to expexedite the end of this session, which seems to be going far beyond the early anticipated short business-like session, I am willing to say to you that you can have the money that you say you need, and here is a program by which you can get it.

Certainly we have increased consumer costs and increased industrial costs and increased mercantile costs, but if you are going to have the things Governor Duff and the Republican Party promised in their campaign last year, you have got to have more money. You promised it and the people believed it. You told the school teachers they would get their necessities, they would get the things that they and everybody in this state know they need. I provide for that. The Governor has not provided for it. That is why there is an additional need for more money under my program. That is why there is more money required under the figures I have given you, than under the figures of Governor Duff and his budget director.

Certainly there is money hidden in the state. Does any man on the other side know how much money there is right now in the various departments unexpended, appropriated, yes but a liability, an appropriation liability going back to 1939, and that was as far as I cared to go back. But we have today in Pennsylvania $91,762,000 of unexpended funds lying in the various departments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, an appropriation liability, but just as readily that money could be lapsed as any other fund recommended by the Governor. You said about the increased cost of welfare, that I complained against it. Yes, but you have refused to do anything about it—you will not pass resolutions to study it, you will not name committees to look into it, so I have to accept your figures, I have to accept the amounts the Governor wants, and I am providing the money for it.

It is only a question of whether you have resolved in your own mind whether or not you want to continue the policy started in 1943. In 1943 you started a policy of shifting the tax burden from the corporate and industrial interests of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and have shifted it continuously and steadily upon the shoulders of the working people in this Commonwealth, upon the consumers.

In 1945 you said you gave a $96,000,000 tax reduction to the people of Pennsylvania, and I submit to any gentleman with an open mind, and even those whose minds are about ninety per cent closed, if he studies the message of the Governor he will find there was no such tax reduction. You claimed a tax reduction of one cent on gasoline, and all you did was to transfer that from an emergency tax to a tax of a permanent nature, and gave part of it back to the communities, but the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania still pay it.

You claimed a tax reduction of $24,000,000 on the manufacturer's exemption, and yet you are not allowing the manufacturer's exemption to go on the books. You claim all these tax reductions and yet you never give them to the people. It is the same way with your program.

All I am doing here is putting into effect the campaign promises of the Republican party and the Democratic party, if you please. If the Democratic party would have been elected to control of this Commonwealth they would have had to put this program into effect, if they wanted to live up to their campaign promises, and I say to you that if the Democratic party would have been in control they would have eliminated a certain amount of ready cash, that you need now, by passing a General State Authority bill, the only sound method left under our Constitution in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for financing long term expenditures.

I do not care whether you do or whether you do not, but you take the position that it is already bad before you have an opportunity to study it, saying to the great number of people in this Commonwealth that you have set a course and you are going to sail it, you do not care whether the ship of state hits the rocks and shoals and all the citizens of this Commonwealth drown, just as long as you set your course, you are going to sail it.

I have yet to hear any person stand up and advocate that a consumer tax now be placed upon the shoulders of the people of this Commonwealth. You decry the fact that I say we ought to have an eight mill mercantile tax. I suggest to you that I have heard more Republican talk for a general sales tax than any other tax mentioned in the last six years, and yet you would not effect a direct tax upon gross receipts, which is the same as a sales tax, and the eight mills tax will give the same amount of revenue as a three per cent tax assessed against the people.

Where do I get my figure of $100,000,000? Why, from the very same source you get your figures as to what a two or three per cent sales tax would yield. It is the same amount of money, based on the same amount of income.

There can be no quarrel against a $100,000,000 mercantile tax, because a mercantile tax is a tax that can be and is passed on like every other tax, and when we can assess an eight mills tax, or eight-tenths of a cent, against the consumer, and still get the same amount of revenue, I submit that is a sounder tax policy and a sounder tax principle.

And I again repeat, when you start weeping and crying about the veteran going into business in the corner store and being driven out of business with a mercantile tax, what do you think you are doing when you place the so-called special taxes? Are the veterans going into business in the little grocery stores any different from the veterans going into a shop? Are you picking or selecting the type of veterans you want to help or are they all in the same category? You are placing a tax against one type of person but you are holding your hands up in horror when we suggest a generalized tax on everybody that goes into business.

I submit to you that I am willing to listen to argument, but when anyone tries to hit whatever quality there is in this particular program by saying I have changed my mind, why, gentlemen, there is nothing wrong with that in sane society. What is wrong with that in a sane society? What kind of government would we have if one man set his mind on one course and everybody got behind him and marched to our doom because he said it. That is the kind of government the boys dispelled during the last war, that is the kind of government they got rid of. I am willing to change my mind if it means betterment for the people of Pennsylvania, and I have yet to hear arguments to the contrary.

I say to you, yes, this is more money, yes, this is new money, but it is needed money, if you are going to do the things you say you are going to do. You can not pass legislation over in the House, beneficial to the school teachers, and do what you did two years ago; you can not do it, gentlemen, because I am going to be standing here calling your attention to it. You are not going to pass a nice salary raise over in the House and lull the teachers to sleep and then bring it over here to the Senate and reduce it to a minimum before they have a chance to know about it. You promised them something in your campaign and I am going to do my best to see that you give it to them. I am determined they are going to know about it and I am saying to you and to every other citizen of this Commonwealth, you Republicans in your campaign allocated fourteen points to the school teachers, and seven points to agriculture, and in fact it got to the point you were giving out so many points I said they had enough points to be discharged. I am not convinced I was in error, because I say to you gentlemen you can not keep all your promises, but so long as I am a member of the Senate I am going to fight, and fight to the last ditch, to see to it that you keep at least this promise to the school teachers.

This is for all of us, for the benefits of every one of us here, because we do not want the people to lose faith in this type of government, we do not want them to think it was only talk during the campaign, and then we come into the Senate and do directly the opposite, because whatever errors you commit are a reflection upon the members of the Minority, whatever mistakes you make are assessed against us, and so, being aware of our own stake in this thing, we are going to try and keep you from making mistakes.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, on page 29 of this bill, I would like to call to the attention of the Senate the rights of dissenting shareholders, to show to the majority side how inconsistent they are. Last week there was ample provision made for the rights of dissenting shareholders in the pipe-line merger bill and I submit to you under the provisions of section "e" that the rights of dissenting shareholders, in my opinion, have been removed entirely.

If the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, wants to explain that to me, I would be very happy at this time to have him explain just how he is going to take care of the dissenting shareholders.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I understand we are now discussing the bill as it appears on the final passage calendar, and I would like to call to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, the fact that on page 29, clause "e", it amends section 908 of the act of 1933, which is the business corporation code. Section 908 has a number of provisions regarding rights of dissenting shareholders. Sub-paragraph "e" provides that where there is a merger or consolidation by the shareholders of a corporation, where all of the stock of one of the merging or consolidating corporations is owned by the other corporation, then, in that instance, the specific rights of the dissenting shareholders, or of the minority stockholders, are set forth. This is merely an additional right given to minority stockholders in mergers or consolidations.

Mr. President, when this bill was on the calendar last week, and it has been on the calendar since April 15, at the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, following my usual railroading tactics, I put the bill over in its order until today, so that the gentlemen would have opportunity over the week-end to study it, if he so desires, I will get a copy of the Act of 1933 and read sub-paragraphs a, b, c and d, which are now in the law, so that he can understand sub-section "e" which is not a limitation of the rights of minority stockholders in a consolidation or merger but it is an additional right that is granted to them when the provisions of the merger or consolidation conform with what is set up in sub-section "e". I think that is sufficiently confusing.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, that is the greatest amount of double talk I have ever heard in three minutes.

I would like to direct to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, line 15, page 29, which states "the share-holders of such other corporations shall have no right to dissent from any such merger or consolidation."

As long as that is in the bill I ask the gentlemen on this side of the Senate to vote against this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The roll call has been taken. Does the gentleman from Allegheny desire to change his vote.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I did not answer to my name.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I respectfully ask that the clerk re-call the roll, so that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, will have an opportunity to be recorded in accordance with his conscience and best judgment.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object to the offering of amendments at this time.

MOTION FOR THE RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 35

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 35 passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on the motion, I might say to the members on the other side how can they intelligently vote on this motion to re-consider because if they want to give any consideration to this legislation at all, they ought to know what kind of amendments the gentleman is offering. You are taking the position that these amendments are bad and you are judging them without even giving them the consideration of being heard.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I will have no objection if the gentleman would ask the Clerk to read the amendments but I would like to remind the gentleman from Westmoreland that it has been the practice in this Senate, in matters of this kind, that when amendments are offered to bills on third reading, that the person proposing the amendments make it his business to discuss those amendments either with the sponsor of the bill, if he is a member of the Senate, or with somebody over on this side, or on the other side, as the case may be, before they are offered on the floor of the Senate, and I would like to suggest that it would be good practice if we continue to do that, in order to save time and prevent a lack of knowledge on these things that come about at the last moment.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I apologize to the gentleman from Lehigh and consider myself promptly and properly spanked for not having given that consideration to the men on the other side.

However, the amendments were just this moment completed and I was afraid I was not even going to get them done in time to have them read. In the future I will paddle my way hither and yon and see that the gentlemen on the other side get copies of amendments.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman from Fayette there is no need to apologize on his part at all, and I suggest now that the Clerk read the amendments he has offered.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION FOR THE RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 35 WITHDRAWN

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I withdrawn my motion that the Senate reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 35 passed second reading.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The motion is withdrawn.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I ask that my amendments be read.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 3, line 8, by striking out the words and figures "forty-eight (48)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "forty (40)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3) page 5, line 11 by inserting after the word "effort]" the following:

Provided that, should the Secretary of Labor and Industry, with the approval of the Inrustrial Board, permit females to work up to but not more than forty-eight (48) hours in any one week, then time and one-half shall be paid for all hours over forty (40) a week.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object to consideration of the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, at the present time, on consideration of House Bill 35, which has passed the House of Representatives by a mere margin of thirteen votes, I would like to direct to the attention of the members of this Senate the fact that five minutes ago we concurred in amendments to a banking bill, we passed in this Senate a bill last week which would permit bank employes, male and female employes, to work five days a week, and yet here we are today considering passage of a bill which would permit women, and the word "permit" can be construed to mean that we will force women, in the Commonwealth to work 48 hours a week.

Mr. President, I would feel remiss in my duty, and I would feel ashamed to go back and face those women in my life, my mother, my wife and my daughter, if I were not to vote against this vicious piece of legislation.

For many years we in America have prided ourselves on the advances that we have made in the protection of our womenhood, and yet here, by one bold stroke we want to turn back the pages of time and progress and say that a woman can work the same number of hours in any industry as any man.

There should be a woman here to give her voice on this subject but I am going to read into the record a few excerpts I received from a woman in the city of Pittsburgh:

She says: "As a perfectly normal, healthy woman employee who has worked the forty-eight hour work-week during the exigent years of the war and felt herself, with each succeeding year of this pounding, draw closer and closer to a gibbering nervous wreck, I must throw my full weight against the passage of House Bill No. 35. And I would call to your attention that in my capacity of Interviewer with the Employment Service my work is office work, carried on in some noise and confusion incident to the going and coming of numerous people, but not to be compared for strain on a woman's nerves to the hammerings and poundings of shop work where so many of our women are employed. The Woman's Bureau of Washington states that 48 hours per week is unquestionably detrimental to Women's health and we who have worked them know this to be an undeniable fact.

"One argument for the passage of this bill, I believe, is that mothers work far longer hours than this without harm to themselves. Yes, but how do they work? There are pauses for telephone chats with friends, for marketing and shopping trips, walks in the fresh air with their babies in short a variety of occupations, many times in a completely silent house while children are at school and babies asleep. Quiet and fresh daytime air are no strangers to them, and it just so happens that human beings seem to need them. To come out from cooked air and fluorescent lighting into God's sunlight blinking like a mole is not what He intended, I am sure, but that is what we do—and the longer hours we are caged in, the more molelike we become.

Far be it from me to say that women are not equal to men in some respects. I will grant that in a good many respect that are far superior. "We all know and concede that they have their skills and abilities, but woman, the child bearer, with all the attendant functions of child bearing, can never be the equal of man at hard physical work; and unless you wish to fill our Insane Asylums even more overflowing than they are don't try to prove it. Discard this false premise even if women don't make quite as much money as men, and even if some employers leave the State if the bill isn't passed. Let them! If they are slave drivers we don't want them. But it is my opinion that our crippling Power Strike and others fomented largely by men have far more to do with employers' dissatisfaction with our area than the fact that our women are afforded some protection which was fought for against odds for them by beneficient persons. As to lowering the age for night work to eighteen years, it is going back to Dark Age work conditions. Our women of mature age RIGHT NOW are so terrified of the awful things happening on our streets at night that we can't get them out even on drug store jobs running only until eleven o'clock—and we should put our eighteen year olds out for the entire night?"

This bill, on page 7, says that females may be employed in manufacturing establishments during any hours of the day or night, so long as the provisions of this bill are complied with. This bill goes on further and reduces the age from twenty-one years to eighteen years.

Mr. President, I have had the privilege and opportunity of being a teacher in the public schools of this Commonwealth for nineteen years. I believe that eighteen years of age is far too young to allow our girls to be on the streets and in the factories at all hours of the day and night. There is only one question that we have to answer, and that is to our own consciences—do the members of this Senate want to take the responsibility of placing those girls who should be in school, on the streets, in the factories and in the plants after midnight. The question is up to you, but if you pass this bill it will come back to haunt us.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I listened very carefully to the remarks of the young man from Fayette and then I thought I would hear some justification for this legislation coming from the majority side.

I believe if we are to vote intelligently I would like to hear some reasons given for passage of this legislation. Is any person qualified to tell me, and the members on this side, what the reasons are, what the causes are, why do we want this, why do we need this legislation.

This is historical, but I might repeat for the gentlemen, that when we passed a 44-hour bill it was only to comply with the Federal act of 44 hours for women. The Federal act now in inter-state commerce is 44 hours per week, and we are continuing along with 44 hours for Pennsylvania women, but now we are going further and saying 48 hours. You are touching on another subject here which has been close to the hearts of all forward-thinking men and women; you are allowing a 10-hour day of labor for women. Long ago the men in the steel mills realized that an 8-hour day was even too long.

We are not moving backward, we are moving forward. In times gone by my father labored for sixty years in productive labor and he piled up a great big store, a great big heap of good that he produced; he started working when he was nine years old and he worked until he was sixty-nine years old, he worked and produced and piled up this great big heap of productive goods. I started to work at a later age and in 35 years of labor I could produce the same amount of goods. The next generation will produce even more goods in a less amount of time. What are we going to do, sit here in the Senate and pass legislation, because one or two industries feel that they must have this legislation? Are you going to condemn the women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to work all around the clock in the production factories?

If you think women do not work in the steel mills, go there; if you think women do not work in rubber factories, go there; if you think women do not work in the production lines, go to the production lines of this great Commonwealth. The only thing you are doing is that you are putting them directly in competition with young men coming from high school and fiding themselves competing for jobs on round-the-clock shifts against women who receive 17½ per cent less wages in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and these are statistics that the Department of Labor of this Commonwealth will bear out.

I recognize that certain seasonal occupations in this Commonwealth need some relief during certain periods of the year, but we have made provisons for that, because they can go to the Secretary of Labor and Industry and get a concession by showing a need for a longer work week for the women in their industry during their peak production.

There is no need for this kind of legislation.

I doubt if any man in this room would vote for a ten hour day for men in industries in this Commonwealth. Why the workingmen and women of this state, about forty years ago, reduced the working day from ten hours to eight hours, and yet here you are in this Senate voting for a 10-hour day for women and voting for a 48-hour week for women. I do not know how many of you realize the Federal Government has a 40-hour week.

You say you speak for the women of this Commonwealth. Here is a telegram that speaks for 50,000 women of the lady garment workers, and they oppose this legislation. I know who is behind this legislation because I have debated it when I was co-sponsor with the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, for the forty-hour bill in this Commonwealth, and I debated this subject all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Professional and business women are not restricted as to the hours they can work. We are not interested in business and professional women. If they desire to work longer hours in their businesses or professions, we do not care about that, that is their right and they can go to it, but we do care about the women who have no protection and must work in the factories all night, and I want to tell you men who have never been in the shops after midnight that you ought to make a visit to the production lines before you vote for this legislation.

During the war we reduced the standards, we let the bars down during the war, because we were in an all out effort to win the war, but surely you are not going to continue this low standard set up for labor during those years of peak production. I want to say that every man in this room witnessed the terrible cry that went out all over this Commonwealth to take women away from the productive jobs, especially married women, when we had millions of our citizens out on the streets, tramping the streets in despair because they had no gainful work, when there was a fight to bring about a situation where married women would be taken away from productive jobs and we found we could not do it under the Constitution, and here you are setting up legislation that will aggravate that problem.

I say to you it has already become a problem—it is not acute yet but it will be before many moons have passed. Many women are in industry that will never get out of industry. Now you are making it attractive for employers to employ women in industry. If you have some need in some particular high type of labor, some particular type of work which does not require manual labor, if you have some need in that industry, correct that or grant that industry the necessary reforms it needs, but do not try to put all the women in this Commonwealth in productive industry on a competive basis with men, which would be an unfair position than men, because they are paid seventeen and a half per cent less and the young men, the young boys, the future fathers of this county, the future fathers in this state, will find themselves unable to get jobs in light industries because women will take them.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I have gotten a lot of mail with reference to this bill from women, and it is all for the bill.

Mr. President, what this bill sets out to do is to put women in industry on an equal footing with men. There are a lot of women that have to work to support themselves; some of them through no fault of their own have been left alone as widows, and maybe some of them have been left alone through no fault of their own—period.

Nevertheless, Mr. President, all the surrounding states permit women to work around the clock. In modern industry, with three shifts, I do not know how you can get around discrimination against women unless you let them also work three shifts.

This bill has been endorsed, as far as my mail is concerned at least, by women's clubs, associations and groups in the Commonwealth.

I think, Mr. President, if we believe in giving women equal opportunities we ought to vote for this bill. Men have no restrictions on them as to hours of work and the result is, Mr. President, unless we also put women in like position, necessarily they are going to lose employment in Pennsylvania.

Also, Mr. President, I might say that women during this war period have become very adept at doing certain jobs in industry and to remove them from the so-called third shift would seriously hamper production.

It is true, Mr. President, that the Secretary of Labor and Industry, as a war time measure, relaxed the law with respect to the third shift, when that interfered with production during the war but, Mr. President, that condition no longer exists, we are not in war, and the Secretary of Labor and Industry does not have that power and therefore there is only one thing to do, in my opinion, and that is to pass this bill or else the great group of women in Pennsylvania who have to work for a living to support themselves and their children will be thrown out of employment. All the states surrounding us, Mr. President, have this liberal legislation and I think we will put both the women of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania industry at a distinct disadvantage unles we pas this legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman from Delaware will admit, if he is so desirous of helping women to an equal footing with men he ought at least to wait until they are guaranteed the same wages for like labor. I think the gentleman will agree with me, if you are so anxious to help women gain an equal footing with men on a competitive basis for jobs, you ought at least make sure they get the same money for the same type of work, and I think the only fair thing to do in order to show your sincerity, and I do not doubt your sincerity, is to let this bill rest as it is until the companion bill, giving equal pay for equal work hours, comes on the Senate calendar, known as House Bill 195.

You know, Mr. President, I do not object to club women working forty hours a week—I do not care how many hours they work, and it is perfectly agreeable with me that the club women go to their clubs for as many hours as they like, and I do not doubt that you have letters from them.

If you have letters from women in factories, industries and in the plants, I would like to have them and I also would like to be informed whether or not you will support legislation introduced on this side for equal pay for equal work for women.

Mr. HEYBURN. Of course, Mr. President, I think women ought to get equal pay for equal work, and if I know anything about the women of Pennsylvania, Mr. President, they will demand that. After having been married eight or ten years, I am telling you the women of Pennsylvania will not stand for a condition whereby they do equal work with men and do not receive equal pay.

As far as House Bill 195 is concerned, Mr. President, it is not here and naturally I could not pledge myself to support it. I am in favor of the principle, however.

Mr. DENT. I thank the gentleman from Delaware very kindly. I expected that answer and I expect the same vote.

However, I might say to the gentleman from Delaware, although women may demand, up until the present moment there is a seventeen and a half per cent differential in women's labor all over the state of Pennsylvania. If you can account for that I will be glad to take a back seat and say I am entirely wrong on this matter and am not trying to do the right thing.

If you will hold this bill where it ought to be, hold it in committee until the companion bill comes over, and then take both bills up for consideration at the same time, I would say, Mr. President, that you will be showing the kind of sincerity I want to believe you have.

MOTION THAT HOUSE BILL No. 35 BE RECOMMITTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 35, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I suggest to my colleagues that they vote against this motion to re-commit this bill. It is simply a trick to kill the bill.

Mr President, I would like the gentleman to tell me what they are going to do with all these women in industry that are supporting their families and have no other means of support; I would like him to please tell me what their plan is for taking care of these women here.

I have a statement here, Mr. President, concerning 456 women in one plant alone in Pennsylvania, working on this so-called third shift. If we do not pass this sort of legislation, Mr. President, these 456 women in this one plant will be out of employment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to clear up one point with the gentleman from Delaware—I am not indulging in any trickery, I am in dead seriousness, I am in all seriousness, and I certainly do not believe the gentleman thinks that I could kill a bill in committee that is packed 12 to 4. I would suggest, Mr. President, that it would require pretty much of a stretch of the imagination to think any Democrat could kill a bill in committee.

I only say to you, Mr. President, that if he has 456 women, that for each of them I can give him two men who are unemployed, and for every women there is a young man who never had any employment and therefore never had any seniority and can not compete and I will measure against his 456 women 50,000 women working under this legislation today who do not want a 48-hour week.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

Barr,	Holland,	Leader,	Ruth,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Margie,	Stiefel,

Farrell,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I was quite amused today sitting in my seat here, to hear a man from a farming district, a farmer, who never worked in factory or a mill, give his opinion on women working in factories. I believe I have the distinction of representing the largest industrial district in Pennsylvania. I have in my district the mills which made a record during the war.

Over the week-end I went to the trouble of talking to women in the district who work in the mills, asking them pointblank if they are for this legislation, because I had not received any letters, except from professional women, saying that they wanted this legislation, and I wanted to find out from the girls working in the glass factory, in the Hines plant, in the Oliver Iron and Steel Company, in the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, in Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company and in United States Steel Company, what their opinion was, and everyone said that this legislation, if passed, would not in any way help them but would result in a breaking down of health and morals.

I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware if he ever worked in a mill all night.

Mr. HEYBURN. I worked in a hay mow all day.

Mr. HOLLAND. Well, if he did, he did most of it sleeping.

If he was in a mill all night, around four or five o'clock in the morning—this is serious, Mr. President, I know Mr. Heyburn has an unusually good sense of humor, but this is a serious condition, affecting the womanhood of Pennsylvania, and I tell you I resent, every time anything is discussed on this floor, it is passed off as a joke; if it is a joke, then let us all go home and take this Legislature and give it to the people who are passing bills underneath the tables, let them run the Legislature and let us go home.

If you ever worked in a factory and were in there till four or five o'clock in the morning, and these girls would be leaving at seven o'clock, I say to you morally it is wrong, and I hope I do not have to be too explicit as to some of the experiences, some of these things that go on every day when, perhaps after a person has worked without sleep and dozes off here and there in the factories and in the mills—and this was told to me by women who work in the mills, not those who want to work in the mills, but those who have to work in the mills to support their families, and most of them are widows and they want to be home at night with their kiddies.

You talk about juvenile delinquency and you come down here and pass this bill and it will make only more juvenile delinquency.

In other words, I heard one of the majority members saying something about confusion, and there is nothing more confusing than the way bills are being passed at this session of the Senate. I have never seen it before; it is all confusion. One day we pass a bill doing this and the next day we pass a bill doing just the opposite, and then go out and make speeches to constituents worrying about the morals of America.

This bill is bad. The gentleman from Delaware stated he could not vote on a bill or give his word on a bill unless the bill was before him. I want to tell him that House Bill 195, as amended, right today is not worth the paper it is written on, and even the women, the professional women, if I might say so, who asked that the bill be introduced, have now completely divorced themselves from the bill as it now appears on the House calendar, and that was told to me just this morning by two of the women that helped write the bill.

I ask you to be fair. Why not wait until this bill comes over, if you are consistent. It is easy to talk about industry being driven out of Pennsylvania; we have heard it at every session, we heard it when we passed unemployment compensation, we heard it when we passed workmen's compensation. Every progress that was made in Pennsylvania, it was always the same cry—industry will leave Pennsylvania. Well, I think, by looking at the financial reports of industry in Pennsylvania, that industry in Pennsylvania would be very foolish to leave because, after all, remember they have the tools and the people who use the tools are people who live in Pennsylvania. We are living in a different world today than we lived in in the past, when men owned their own tools, but today industry owns the tools and the men who know how to use those tools are in Pennsylvania and there is no fear of those tools being taken away from Pennsylvania because the experienced workmen are here.

I beg of you that you ignore the pleadings of certain manufacturers in Pennsylvania who are greedy, who do not have a heart for the people of Pennsylvania, who worship the almighty dollar more than they worship the people who are a part of our great Commonwealth. Ignore them this time and defeat this bill.

This is a bill that will disrupt and destroy the home. This is a bill that will destroy the morals of the women who are forced to work in Pennsylvania. This is nothing but a greedy and grasping bill.

A lot of you, and all of you no doubt were in church on the Sabbath yesterday, and you come here today and you vote for the money changers. After all, it is only the money changers who are supporting this type of legislation.

I beg of you to defeat this bill. If you believe in a moral standard of living, give the right to those who must work to live a moral standard, just as you want our own families to enjoy.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I do not want to unnecessarily prolong this debate. However, the Senator from Westmoreland asked me if I had a letter from a working girl that was in favor of this bill.

I would just like to read, Mr. President, rather hurriedly, a letter which comes from a young lady in Jeanette, Pennsylvania, which, as I understand, is the town the gentleman from Westmoreland comes from.

This letter says:

"I am an employe of the Pennsylvania Rubber Company, Jeannette, Pa. Our extension of the third shift (11 to 7) is up on May 1, 1947. We are hoping the company can get another extension as it will put a large number of girls out of work till Congress (she means the Legislature) votes on Bill 35. I am the only one working, as my dad died four years ago and I support mother and myself. There are a great number of girls in my department in the same circumstances. In fact on my shift there are six out of eight that really have to work."

Then she goes on, Mr. President, to cite other cases, and there are the signatures of a number of girls who work in the Jeanette plant of the Pennsylvania Rubber Company.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I can almost guess, without forcing the gentleman to read the names, as to who the person is, because I have received the same person in my home and discussed this matter. That is true, it is very very true.

But I want to inform the gentleman from Delaware that I was employed in the same Pennsylvania Rubber Company for a good many years of my life and we had employment under the old bill, where the women did not work around the clock, we maintained a certain number of jobs in that plant as women's work, female labor, and they performed that labor, and the young men took over the eleven to seven shift, or the midnight trick, as we called it.

Mr. President, that is no longer true in the city of Jeannette. Not only at the Pennsylvania Rubber Company but at the McKee Glass works, the Victory Glass Company and the Jeannette Shade Company, and I can give you all my industries.

You know what is true now in Jeannette? The women are working the eleven to seven shift and all the young boys are loafing on the streets in the city of Jeannette, they are no longer taking these boys in because the women's pay rate is lower than that of men.

I say to the gentleman from Delaware, in spite of the fact that he received a letter from a girl in Jeannette, and I might add that a great many women are like men, in many instances they are just as selfish, and if they can work they would like to get a little extra money to go to beauty parlors and doll up a little extra and that is the only way they can get the money because they can not afford it if they are not working. I am not saying they should not work but I say to you it is more important for the morals and more important for the future growth and more important for the better citizenry of our state to allow the young men to get jobs, than it is to force young girls into the mills.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, it is pretty hard to sit here hour after hour and listen to this talk like we have had to put up with here today about morality and women.

I am going to vote against this bill.

I simply wish to add this comment, as to morality, I know of so many more instances where people are immoral by broad daylight than I know of during the hours of the night. If I should become poetical for a moment it is just the result of taking in so much of the argument that has been given on this floor.

I am voting against this bill on principle, but please let us have more faith in womanhood.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, before we take a vote on this bill I think it ought to be pointed out on the record, and in the hearing of the members, just what this bill does because I do not want any of the majority to make a mistake.

In the first place, we are amending an old bill. We are amending an Act of 1913 and that old bill provided for a number of things. In the first place, it provided that women should not work excepting between the hours of six a. m. and ten p. m.; as I count, that is about sixteen hours of available work for women in shops and factories, and it seems to me sixteen hours might be a reasonable period to ask a woman to work.

The old Act of 1913, which is now sought to be amended, restricted women's hours to eight. That was 1913, a good many years ago, and now in 1947, we attempt to raise the eight hour day to a ten hour day. The old Act of 1913 said there should be a maximum of forty-four hours per week for women, and now we attempt to raise that to forty-eight hours a week.

It does seem as though we are turning our clocks backward instead of forward; it seems as though we are not holding the decent gains in social legislation which were made so many years ago and which have been on the books for so long a period. It seems to me, that giving the women of Pennsylvania the right to work during a sixteen hour period, we are supplying industry with enough available woman power and that this bill ought to be voted down.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President; I just want to make a remark regarding the people in my own county. The gentlemen from Delaware, enator Heyburn, remarked that he had endorsements from practically all clubs of women. I do not know what he meant by clubs.

In the county of Cambria we have many thousand of women who work in the garment industry and I have talked with employers who are definitely opposed to the bill, along with the employes. The employers have pointed out to me that they made better progress and had more production, by cutting down from a forty-four hour week to a forty hour week; the female help were in better physical condition and able to produce more, both on a straight time basis and on a piece time basis.

New industries have come to our county and all of them are working forty hours a week, so I see nothing to be gained by working forty-eight hours a week. Human nature can stand only so much work. It is bad for the females and bad for the employers and bad for industry as a whole. I think we are making a great mistake by passing this bill, and I definitely oppose it. In my own town of Patton, where I live, there are quite a number of industries and every employer has gone on record as being opposed to the passage of this bill.

Mr. BARR. I just want to make one more point. I think all of you men on the other side should know that a woman's work is never done; when a woman finishes her work in the factory her work begins at home.

I have great faith in the Governor of this state, far more faith than I have in his members in the Senate, and if they do not have the intestinal fortitude to vote this bill down, I have faith in him and think he will veto it, the same as he did the magistrate bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this is a House Bill. I would like to ask any person on the other side to give me a reason for transferring this function from the Department of Public Instruction and putting it in the Department of Mines.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will have to ask someone specifically.

Mr. DENT. I will take any one at all, Mr. President.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, the move was asked for by the Secretary of Mines because it is more expedient, more convenient and more efficient for them to examine the mine inspectors than the Department of Public Instruction, because they have better equipment to do so.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, of course you will not mind if I look with suspicion upon that particular reason, since the certification bureau was set up in 1929, eighteen years ago, and for eighteen years the Department of Public Instruction has set up the department and the bureau to carry out the provisions of that act of 1929. And now, all of a sudden, we are taking it out of there and saying they are not efficient and can not do the work and we are going to turn it over to the Department of Mines, and yet everyone knows that the bulk of this work was performed in the early days, when they had to certificate all the miners in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that up until that time needed no certification.

So, Mr. President, I can not see anything in this except perhaps a jurisdictional dispute between the Department of Mines and the Department of Public Instruction. I notice that the Senate is trying to get the Department of Mines of this Commonwealth to do this work before the anti-jurisdictional dispute bill passes, because after that bill passes they would not be permitted to do this little bit of a job.

You see, Mr. President, the Department of Mines is not the proper place, because this is a matter of instruction, it is a matter of learning, it is a matter of qualification. The Department of Mines is not the proper place for this function and should not be given this responsibility, for everyone knows that under every administration the Secretary of Mines comes under undue influence from persons that are more interested, and I say that advisedly because I too in my small way have been in the coal mining business, but he comes under an influence that is not fair to the men that come up for certification. I think the Department of Public Instruction has done an excellent job in Pennsylvania and they ought to be left along.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, as I heard the reason given by the gentleman from Monroe, Senator Crowe, for the passage of this bill, it was because the Secretary of Mines had requested it. I am reminded that in the 1945 session this same gentleman requested that we take boiler inspection of mines away from the Department of Labor and Industry, where they were equipped to handle that dangerous inspection work for the protection of the citizens of our Commonwealth, and the resources of our Commonwealth.

May I have order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator is entitled to be heard. The Senator from Northampton will proceed.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, in my opinion this is an important bill because, as the gentleman has stated, it does attempt to place into the hands of a single man and his department the sole passage of qualifications of the inspectors.

As I was saying when I was so rudely interrupted, this same inspector of mines in the 1945 session came before this legislature with a request that we take out of the Department of Labor and Industry the inspection of boilers and steam heat vats and give it under his jurisdiction. When we investigated that, and I say we because members from both sides of this Senate investigated the request, we found out that the Department of Mines had no trained boiler inspectors, and had that bill been permitted to pass it might have resulted in the loss of a great many lives and a great deal of property.

I think the fact that this gentleman has made the request is no reason for the passage of this bill, but that the qualifications of these men, as in all such measures, should be passed on by the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, this proposition was by agreement between the two departments because the Department of Public Instruction thought the Department of Mines was more competent to handle examinations and qualifications of these inspectors.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 996 has been on the calendar for about two weeks, and I rise to oppose the motion to recommit. This bill deals with a serious subject, and I felt before I called it up for second reading that every Member of this House should have an opportunity to read it carefully and consider it seriously.

After every war and often in peacetimes during periods of economic depression we find crackpots here and there who organize primarily for the purpose of manufacturing and distributing poison among the people of this Commonwealth, against certain groups in this state because of their creed, their race and their religion. This bill will stop this kind of nefarious practice. If you believe that these crackpots should be allowed to run loose, then you will vote to recommit the bill, but if you believe that this bill will help to solve a problem that we must face at some time, and that these crockpots should be told that their practices are not in the interests of the public, then you will vote against recommitting this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of this House to give this subject serious consideration before they vote on the motion to recommit.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I do not rise to debate the merits or demerits of this particular issue. I desire to have it known, however, that there is a conflict of information which comes to me from this particular Committee. One report has it that the Committee reported the bill out with the understanding that after it had remained on the calendar for some time a motion to recommit was agreed to. On the other hand I have it also from the Committee that it was to remain on the calendar for such time, but no motion to recommit was agreed to.

I make this motion, however, Members of the House, in order to clarify that particular issue and to ascertain what the Members of the House desire.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I hate to disagree with my Majority Leader, but the only request made at the meeting of the Committee was that I do not rush this bill to passage, that it be printed and be allowed to stay on the calendar for every Member to be allowed an opportunity to read it.

There is no use kidding anyone about this. We know what the purpose is of the motion to recommit. If we vote for it there won't be any more bills like this on the calendar. If you favor that attitude then you will vote for this motion, but if you believe that these crack-pots ought to be put where they belong, then you will vote not to recommit the bill.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker whether or not if this bill should pass and become law an organization like the Ku Klux Klan would be committing a crime in advocating discrimination.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, if this bill were passed it is my opinion that an organization like the Ku Klux Klan would be committing a crime in advocating or disseminating propaganda such as they do, which practice certainly is to be condemned.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I feel it would be a mistake to recommit this bill, because anybody who voted to recommit it would be advocating a policy of perpetuating an organization like the Ku Klux Klan. We have been trying for years to get rid of such organizations, and here is a chance to do it.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, as I said before, I did not care to debate the merits or demerits of this particular measure. I cannot, however, allow the statement to stand on the record as it is at the present time.

While I fully agree that it would operate as an absolute prohibition of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, it does certainly seem to me that it would carry with it far more activity on the part of not only organizations but any two individuals that the bill perhaps in itself does not even contemplate.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, of title, second from last line of title on said page, by inserting after "(AMVETS)" "the Coast Guard League."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2403) page 3, line 2, by inserting after the word "League" "and to each chapter of the Coast Guard League."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I am against these amendments for this reason, the Coast Guard League consists of persons who served one day a month during the World War service, and for that one reason I am against the Coast Guard League amendments being put into this bill.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I am really surprised at the gentleman from Allegheny. I should think that any Member of this House who would take a microphone should know whereof he speaks. The Coast Guard League is a nationally recognized organization, recognized by the Congress of the United States, with national headquarters in Washington, D. C., and it has some twenty chapters in Pennsylvania. Unfortunately I did not expect to run into this difficulty this afternoon and I do not have the material with me. I asked the gentleman from Allegheny to hold these bills over until tomorrow, until I could provide the necessary information for the House, but he refused to do so. The gentleman seems to be in a hurry that this legislation should be passed.

The Coast Guard League is made up of veterans of the U. S. Coast Guard, both men and women of World War I and World War II. It is true that the members of the Temporary Reserve are eligible for membership in this organization. I do not see how any man can belittle a member of the Temporary Reserve who gave six days a week during the War to release a Coast Guard for active duty, without any pay, without any benefit whatsoever—and he asked for no benefits whatsoever. But there are many members of the Coast Guard League who were regular Coast Guardsmen in World War II and took the LST's to the South Pacific beach-heads and no doubt were captured.

What this bill does is to prefer one service organization to the other. I have no objection and I made no objection last Thursday when the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Layer, offered amendments to include the Marine Corps. I think they should be in the bill—I think every nationally recognized veteran organization in this state has just as much right to get the benefits of these bills as any other nationally recognized organization of war veterans. If any Member wants to belittle the United States Coast Guard, then let him vote against these amendments.

Mr. LAYER. Mr. Speaker, it has been my privilege to ride ashore in the LCT's out in the Pacific with the Coast Guard. It has also been my privilege to be on ships or transports manned by Coast Guard personnel of the highest type that we could get. They asked no favors when the shells and bullets were flying around, but these organizations that are recognized nationally, The American Legion, The Amvets, The Marine Corps League, The Jewish War Veterans, The Veterans of Foreign Wars, they all have stipulations in their by-laws and Constitutions that the people that join those organizations must have served seven days a week, thirty or thirty-one days a month, and three hundred sixty-five days a year. They do not take into their organizations men that only served one day a month. There is no criticism of the men who only served one day a month—they did a wonderful job, but the veterans' organizations such as I have mentioned all have in their by-laws and Constitutions and regulations that a man must have served full time.

Now, Mr. Vaughan is objecting, and I agree with him one hundred per-cent, that only those men who have served in the armed forces full time should derive the benefit from the bills that are up for third reading and final passage.

This is nothing personal against Mr. Chudoff or the Coast Guard League. As I said the Coast Guard has a very fine personnel, but I have inquired from men that have been in the newspaper business, writers and other men in the Halls of this House, and I personally myself have never heard of the Coast Guard League. Now, that does not say that the Coast Guard League doesn't exist. The Coast Guard League must exist because Mr. Chudoff is a member of the Coast Guard League.

I would just like to voice these objections and ask that these amendments be voted down.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Layer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAYER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like, Mr. Speaker, to know from the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Layer, whether or not he is a member of the Marine Corps Leaque?

Mr. LAYER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I am proud that I am a member of the Marine Corps League.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not he is a member of the AMVETS.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I am a member and I am very proud of it; also the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I simply wanted to say to the Members of the House that I am a member of the Coast Guard League and I am proud of that too. I just want to reiterate that the members of the United States Coast Guard Temporary Reserve did not serve one day a month on the river front; they served forty-eight hours a month, six eight hour watches to relieve a regular Coast Guardsman for active duty in combat zone, and further that they received no pay and no benefits, nor did they ask for any. I am simply offering these amendments to give those men in the regular Coast Guard Reserve the same rights as the American Legion, the AMVETS and the Marine Corps League.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL 402

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 28, 1947.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 402, Printer's No. 60, entitled "An Act to amend section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1743 Number 368) entitled 'An act relating to magistrates and magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia imposing certain duties upon and prohibiting certain practices by magistrates imposing certain duties on the city controller in regard thereto authorizing the employment by him of additional clerks and fixing their compensation regulating the practice in magistrates' courts the entering of bail and the issuance of discharges in criminal cases in the county of Philadelphia conferring certain powers over magistrates and magistrates' courts and imposing certain duties in connection therewith upon the judges of the courts of common pleas of the county of Philadelphia providing for the appointment and employment of stenographers to report proceedings in certain cases heard by magistrates fixing salaries of persons employed by authority of this act providing penalties for violations of the provisions thereof and repealing certain prior acts' by removing the restrictions against magistrates participating in political activities."

This bill would remove from the Act (1937 Magistrates' Court Act) the restriction in Section 3 prohibiting magistrates in the City of Philadelphia from serving as representatives of any political party in an election district or on the governing body of any political party organization.

One need look no further than the opinion of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in the case of Rutenberg et al. v. Philadelphia et al 329 Pa. 26 (1938), to find adequate reasons for disapproval of this bill. In that case the constitutionality of the 1937 act was questioned and the Court in speaking of a report made in 1926 by the Committe on Legislation to the Law Association of Philadelphia said:

> "* * * The committee recommended that magistrates be divorced from politics by restricting them to the performance of their duties and forbidding them to engage in any business or profession, or to serve in any capacity as the representative of any political party, organization or committee; * * *"

The opinion calls attention to the fact that in passing the 1927 act, the Legislature ignored the foregoing recommendation and the 1937 Magistrates' Court Act, including the provision this bill would remove, was enacted because a special Grand Jury investigation disclosed widespread illegal practices, denial of justice and the oppression of citizens by magistrates. The report filed by the Grand Jury recommended the appointment of a committee to make an investigation, and this committee in its report to the Goverenor and the General Assembly said:

> "* * * 'The principal underlying cause of most, if not all, of the evils and abuses which have crept into the administration of the magistrates' courts in Philadelphia, is the practically universal participation of the magistrates in politics. The temptation to which a magistrate is subjected to use the great powers of his office for his personal political aggrandizement, by granting immunity from criminal responsibility for political considerations, or by using his powers to oppress and extort factional political support from the citizen in difficulty with the criminal law, is, in the judgment of the commission, the fundamental weakness of the system.'"

The Court quoted the above language of the committee report and subsequently in the opinion said:

> "The functions of the magistrates' courts come closer to the great mass of our population than any other part of our judicial machinery. The faith and respect of the citizens in the competency and integrity of these tribunals in which they appear must be maintained. These are the courts to which the ordinary citizen for relatively small but to him important problems, whether criminal or civil, resorts for the redress of his grievances. Competent and honest the magistrate can be a protector against both unlawful invasion of private rights by public officers, and the wrongdoing of criminals and racketeers. Dishonest or incompetent, the magistrate becomes the tool of oppression and the ally of crime."

The court also said:

> "We have said that where an act is the product of the study made by a commission of citizens appointed to investigate conditions found to be harmful, and authorized to draft an act to eradicate such evils, the act should not be condemned unless the breach of the fundamental law is so glaring that there is no escape: Minsinger v. Rau, 236 Pa. 327."

Statutory violations of constitutional inhibitions may be no more objectionable than factual or conscientious reasons which make legislation undesirable. In view of the well-reasoned opinion of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as evidenced by the foregoing excerpts, it would be a backward step to remove from the statute the restriction applying to political activity by magistrates in the City of Philadelphia.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JAMES H. DUFF.

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. VAUGHAN and WALDRON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 28, 1947.

The Members of this House of Representatives are saddened to learn of the death of William F. McCann, a former member, who died April 21, 1947.

Mr. McCann was born in Pittsburgh and throughout his life, active in its affairs. He was elected from the second legislative district in Allegheny County as Representative in 1920. His achievements were recognized, for he was reelected in 1922 and again in 1924, 1926 and 1928.

William McCann was a man whose integrity was above reproach. He willingly assumed civic responsibilities and served his community and State with honor. Those who knew him well can attest to his wholesome personality and to his sympathetic understanding; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of William F. McCann his community and State have lost the services of a conscientious citizen; and be it further

Resolved, That the Members of this House of Representatives extend to his widow their heartfelt sympathy, and direct that the Chief Clerk, in token thereof, shall transmit to her a copy of this resolution.

RESOLUTION

Messrs. LOFTUS and O'NEILL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 28, 1947.

The Legislative Sons of St. Patrick held their legislative dinner on March 31st, in accordance with the well laid plans of the Joint Legislative Committee.

In keeping with the Irish practice of spreading good cheer, one hardly got off the elevator on the banquet floor before he found himself in the arms of his friends and in the midst of a happy Irish party filled with much laughter and wholesome friendliness, not to be duplicated by any others than the Sons of St. Patrick.

A splendid banquet was served during which we all were patriotically thrilled by the appearance of the Irish American Veterans Color Guard and later entertained with the Irish band from—was it Reading?

At this point John Cummings, the toastmaster of the evening, came into his own by holding down the slinging of brick-bats and shillelaghs by the gentleman who had become knee-deep in old Irish folk lore.

The Lieutenant Governor was in a jovial mood and stated he couldn't prove that the early Strickler settlers came directly from Ireland.

Our good friend, Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Speaker of the House, became the singer of the evening by singing an Irish song in Pennsylvania Dutch, so that henceforth his title should be "Speaker and Singer of the House".

Senator Farrell played his part with genuine perfection in smiling that great big smile of his that sticks way out beyond his face.

Con J. McCole, the mayor of Wilkes-Barre was there with his matchless stories, mixed as they are with humor, pathos good homely observations, patriotic reminders and wholesome lofty intentions—pointing out humorously the good in man, woman and child. Surely he must be regarded as the most able American story teller of his age.

Honorable John H. McCann, President Judge of Common Pleas Court of Cambria County spoke at length on Lincoln and St. Patrick as great men of the ages and reviewed briefly a list of distinguished Irish Americans.

It is impossible to give due mention to all those who contributed to the memorable evening. It is, however, sufficient to say that the committee had planned a great evening and it became a great evening of enjoyment and pleasure for all who attended; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House who were present at the celebration for themselves and for all those who were fortunate enough to have been there, extend to the members of the committee who arranged the banquet, their profound thanks and they request the Chief Clerk of the House to forward a copy of this resolution to the toastmaster John M. Cummings, and His Excellency, the Lieutenant Governor, Monsignor George D. Mulcahy, the Honorable John H. McCann, the Honorable Louis H. Farrell, the Honorable Cornelius J. Loftus, the Honorable Harry O'Neill, the Honorable Thomas Griffin for their extraordinary efforts spent in making a most enjoyable evening and a memorable celebration of the birthday of St. Patrick.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr President, as a Pennsylvanian traveling through New Jersey, New York and Connecticut, we are very much impressed, I think, with the type of highways we find in Northern New Jersey. Going into New York, on the West Side Highway, over the Hendrik Hudson Parkway, Saw Mill River Parkway, Cross County Highway, up along the Hudson on the beautiful highway over the Hutchinson River Parkway onto the Merrick Highway into New England, and when I realize what they have there I think we feel in Pennsylvania that we are a little backward.

Mr. President, on the Delaware River, from Trenton to Chester is a distance of thirty-three miles—that is, we measure from the Chestnut Street Wharf in Philadelphia which is the point where the datum is taken, and from the Chestnut Street Wharf to Trenton is thirty-three miles, from Burlington to the Chestnut Street Wharf is eighteen miles, from the Chestnut Street Wharf to Chester is sixteen miles. Going north from Chestnut Street we have the Delaware River Bridge, which cost upwards of $37,000,000 the receipts from which, the first year, were $2,000,000 and the traffic—I am giving round figures—amounted to 8,000,000. In 1945 and 1946 there was income of about $3,769,000 and traffic of almost 15,000,000. In speaking about that time, the fiscal year ends on June 30, and I do not have the figures from that date on.

The net income from the bonds of the Delaware River Bridge for the period ending June 30, 1946, over and above its obligations, the net income was $951,683, as against $321,000 in the preceding year.

Then we have, Mr. President, north of Chestnut Street the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge, with traffic of over two million in 1945 and, again for the first six months of 1946, 1,388,000.

Above that is the Burlington-Bristol Bridge.

In New York we find in 1945, that the Holland Tunnel had 12 million passengers and the Lincoln Tunnel had 6 million passengers, the George Washington Bridge had 8,300,000 and the Staten Island Bridge had 2,800,000. The total under the control of the Port Authority was 30,000,000.

As I look south from Chestnut Street I find we have nothong, in the way of transportation, across the river. We have this tremendously important industrial highway coming from the south and we have in comtemplation extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike and we have in south Philadelphia the making of the most important airport in America.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that we need added transportation across the river south of Chestnut Street. With that thought in my mind I have had prepared and I now take the privilege of presenting to the chair a bill looking to the creation of a tunnel under the Delaware River south of Chestnut Street.

Mr. FRAZIER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 666, entitled:

An Act to facilitate vehicular traffic between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey by providing for the construction, operation and maintenance of a tunnel or tunnels under the Delaware River and connecting the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at or near Philadelphia County or Delaware County or any County contiguous to these counties with the State of New Jersey; providing for the creation of the Delaware Tunnel Board, and conferring powers and imposing duties on said Board; authorizing the Board to enter into a contract with a duly constituted and authorized commission created by the laws of the State of New Jersey, with powers similar to the powers conferred on the Board; authorizing and empowering the Board to enter into a contract with any New Jersey commission, which contract may provide that the Delaware River tunnel or tunnels may be constructed, maintained, and operated jointly by the Board and the New Jersey commission or by the Board with the approval of the commission, or by the commission with the approval of the Board; authorizing the issuance of tunnel revenue bonds jointly by the Board and the commission, or by the Board with the approval of the commission, or by the commission with the approval of the Board, payable solely from tolls, to pay the cost of such tunnel or tunnels; providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act; providing for the collection of tolls for the payment of such bonds and for the cost of maintenance, operation and repair of the tunnel or tunnels; making such bonds and tunnel or tunnels and property used in connection therewith exempt from taxation; constituting such bonds legal investments in certain instances; prescribing conditions upon which such tunnel or tunnels shall become free; providing for condemnation; authorizing the Department of Highways to advance moneys in behalf of the Commission and provide for the refund of such advances; granting certain powers and authority to municipal subdivisions and agencies of the Commonwealth to cooperate with the commission; giving the Board under certain conditions, the right to act in the State of New Jersey and giving the commission under certain conditions the right to act in the State of Pennsylvania; and authorizing the issuance of tunnel revenue refunding bonds.

DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES TO MAINTAIN FIRST-AID ROOM IN MAIN CAPITOL BUILDING

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have observed that we do not make or lose many votes on the floor of the Senate, and I am going to refrain hereafter from asking any other Senator to vote the way I do, but as to this bill I would like to make a statement to the effect that I am going to vote for House Bill 351, but in doing so I trust that a lot of other veteran legislation which is in committee in both the House and the Senate will come out so that we can also vote on it.

This bill gives to some, but not all veterans who have lost one arm, one limb or more, or lost the use of one or more limbs or one who are totally blind, it gives some of those people the right to receive a free fishing license.

I am going to vote for this measure, although I have not uniformly voted for such measures. I think that we owe considerable more to the veterans of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, than free fishing licenses for some disabled veterans; I think we owe them something in the way of housing and education and hospitalization, and we owe them financial and physical rehabilitation, and we owed them, for a great many years, a timely bonus, so that whatever bonus the state of Pennsylvania wanted to give would have been available at the time of their discharge, when they most needed it. A bonus in 1950 or 1951 is not going to serve the purpose for which it is designed.

So that, while I am going to vote for this bill, I hope that my record as a member of the 1947 session of the Senate will not consist, in veteran legislation, solely in the giving of limited fishing licenses to some disabled veterans.

Mr. President, you will find in the phraseology of the bill that we first purport to give to disabled veterans free fishing licenses, but then we have additional language —those who meet the above qualifications—in addition to their disability they have to meet other qualifications, so that we are not even doing what the bill on its face purports to do.

I am not very proud of this legislation, but I will vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 25 The provisions of this act shall become effective on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this bill has a relationship to House Bill 317, about which we battled last week. The logic of the situation commends us to oppose this measure, especially when there is lack of uniformity. This bill excludes Philadelphia; it pertains to the entire state but does not touch Philadelphia, and I deplore situations which create bills lacking uniformity. This probably is conducive to a lot of misunderstanding.

At the end of the Civil War President Lincoln, in greeting his generals, produced a map of the United States and he made the observation that all the railroads of that time were running from the west to the east but not from the north to the south and this, in his opinion, was conductive to misunderstanding.

A bill like this, which pertains to the entire state and excludes Philadelphia, creates, so to speak, duplicity in our government. I believe that is a reason why we ought to oppose this bill and I appeal to my colleagues to vote against it.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, this bill has been passed as one of those part of the loaf home-rule bills. I believe in giving the cities and counties of second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class the loaf—give them home rule in its entirety. The Senate will have opportunity to give home rule to third class cities next Wednesday at the public hearing. Furthermore, in order to be consistent with respect to the position I took on House Bill 317, I shall vote "no".

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it is unusual to be called upon to cast your vote on a resolution of this kind. I would find no fault with this bill if it were properly amended to read that all Senators, members of the House, and every public official, that his tenure of office be limited to two terms.

Only last week we passed a bill permitting sheriffs to succeed themselves, and now we find that this body is in the mood to vote for a resolution telling the people of these United States that no man can serve as our President for more than two terms. Then we speak of preserving our democracy, when the people do not have the opportunity of going to the polls and deciding for themselves whether or not a man is fitted to be re-elected.

I say again that we are in the mood of setting a tenure on the greatest office in our land. Certainly we ourselves are not entitled to seek a public office for more than two terms, and I am wondering whether the sponsor of this bill would be willing to amend it to say that he himself should not be permitted to be elected to office in this chamber or any other chamber in this land for more than two terms. What may be good for the goose may be good for the gander. I think this is a very bad bill from the Democratic way of doing things and we are very inconsistent, as I said a moment ago, by permitting one office-holder to succeed himself and then telling the people of our nation that the President should not serve more than two terms.

I trust that my colleagues will vote "no" on this measure.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, the question before us is not the limiting of any President of the United States to two terms, but indeed there is one other question. The question we must decide today is whether or not we believe our American form of democracy has been a success. Never before and never again will any member of this Senate be given an opportunity to vote on a question which will go down in history as being the stamp of approval to democracy.

Mr. President, just two years ago I walked from a steaming Indian jungle and found that the President of the United States had died. Here in the Senate of Pennsylvania, to use the words of a Congressman in Washington, we have come to celebrate a "pitiful victory over a great man now sleeping on the banks of the Hudson."

In the 160 years since the founding of this Republic there have been some three hundred attempts by the Congress of the United States to change the constitutional provisions for presidential tenure and re-eligibility and now lo and behold, one of these attempts has become successful, at least in Congress, and now the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and we in the Senate of Pennsylvania, are asked to give our stamp of approval to something which has failed in our national Congress two hundred ninety-nine times.

There is one principle that is inescapably involved in this question of limited tenure, and that is the principle of Democracy. Turn and twist it as you may, the proposed amendment is a vote of no confidence in our form of Democracy. What those who will support it will say is that the American people can not be trusted to wholly or wisely decide on the question of their Chief Eecutive.

Moreover, they say, the American people, by their decisions in 1940 and 1944 justified their mistrust; they made a mistake then, they say, and they shall not be permitted to make that similar mistake in the future.

But why not are the people of these great United States to be trusted in this, the most important decision they can make in their political lives. They can be trusted, apparently, to vote for me for more than two terms, because this is the third time I have been returned to Harrisburg; they can be trusted to vote for senators in Washington and representatives any number of times; they can be trusted to vote for governors, for judges, any number of times in most of the states; they can be trusted to vote on new constitutions. A new constitution for the United States could be voted upon by the people, or a constitutional amendment.

It is only in this one political choice that we are to be limited.

Are we as Americans, to merit this distrust? In one hundred and sixty years America has never had a bad president, a president of whom we could say he was dangerous to our form of government.

This notion that the people are not to be trusted is no new thing in our policies or history. It was the favorite hue and cry of the Federalists; it was taken up by Calhoun and the Southern Democracy in the generation before the Civil War. It has rarely been heard in this form since then but it pops up every now and then under the theory that the people are likely to be carried away by their passions, that Democracy may be turned into mobocracy, or that men may be misled by pernicious propaganda.

Of recent years the favorite form is the argument ad horrendum from European experiences. It happened that way in Germany, we are told, or in Italy, or in Spain, so it can happen here.

Those insinuations do not even rise to the dignity of argument, but if Democracy is not to be trusted with its most important responsibilities, we might as well give up the whole business and look for something else. Americans have not, in fact, yielded to the blandishments of dictators or been misled by propaganda into countenancing despotism. In theory, to be sure, it is not impossible that they may do so in the future.

Two observations are very important. The first is that in a Democracy people have a right to make mistakes and to learn by mistakes. The second is that if Americans ever do arrive at the point where they wish to retain a dictator in power, no constitutional amendment, no law or amendment we can put on the books of this Commonwealth, can stop them. By that time, Mr. President, democracy will be gone.

There is another principle involved in the limitation of presidential tenure. This is not as obvious as the principle of democracy; in fact, it is barely hinted at in Congressional debate in Washington on this amendment, but it is of vital importance, and that is the principle that the Constitution should contain limitations not on the machinery of government but on the scope of government.

This so far drifting from sound constitutional doctrine takes a little bit of explaining. The framers of our Constitution were determined, above all, to erect barriers against arbitrary government, to insure a government of laws and not of men. That government was good, they knew, which did not have the power to be bad. And on many occasions they threw restrictions around government, but those restrictions were designed to fence off certain areas from government control. There were some things no government could do, some rights no government could invade. Parliment, as James Otis neatly put it, could not make two and two five, nor could parliment, or any government, deprive men of their life or liberty or property without due process of law, and to make sure that government could not invade those sacred domains, governments were limited, and limitations were written into the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. But the limitations were on the realm or scope of government. Where government had, of necessity, authority, it must clearly have sufficient authority to do the job well. To confuse limitations on the realm or scope of government with limitations on the authority of government, when it operates in its proper field, is a fundamental error.

From time to time we have committed this error in our law making, but heretofore, with the possible exception of the prohibition amendment, we have not committed it in our Constitution. The original Constitution effects careful limits to the realm of government but where authority was granted, it was granted fully. And that is the interpretation which most of the learned men of our day have put on the Constitution.

Now for the first time we are adding to our Constitution a limitation on the power of government, or of the people in their relation to their government. We are confusing what belongs in a Constitution with what belongs in administration, or in ordinary every-day politics that we all well know.

The concept of democracy was far more limited in 1787 than it is today, and the framers of the Constitution confessed to more and deeper misgivings about it than any statesman would admit today. Yet with all their misgivings, all their uncertainty about the future, the framers did not make the fundamental mistake we are being asked to make. They did not write into the Constitution a limitation upon the exercise of power in that field where power must be exercised. They left this matter to the judgment of the people, not only because, in the long run, they trusted the people, but because, logically, that was the right place to leave it.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, I made quite a number of inquiries on this subject, to add to my own thoughts on the idea, and have prepared this statement, with the exception of a few thoughts I have interposed at the beginning. The idea is not only mine; it seems to be the idea of some of the best thinking men in the United States. I have also referred to an article appearing in one of the leading newspapers of the United States, except for a few words which I might have interposed at the beginning.

In conclusion I charge, gentlemen, that your vote on this bill is a vote of your confidence in our American form of government. Thank you.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, we are voting, as the Senator from Fayette said, on a very important measure. I do not like to take the floor again, I was just up a moment ago and I was up two or three times yesterday, but I want to point out to the members of the Senate that each and every time I get up it is to discuss bad legislation introduced by the majority party. When you have good legislation, and those of you who are fair-minded on this thought will agree with me, I sit in my seat quietly and vote for it, but if you insist on putting on the calendar the kind of legislation that we have had the last two or three weeks, then I am going to insist on my right of getting up and talking against it.

This resolution we are called upon to consider at this moment, and vote upon, and you of the majority to vote for, is of no importance to any one of us here. The question of presidential succession is not going to recur in our lifetimes. What you are doing is putting a hamstring around the democratic rights and privileges of those who are going to follow us in future generations. It is entirely possible, with atomic bombs, and I do not like to bring that into this picture, but with the increasing knowledge of science and of warfare, it is entirely possible that some day again the United States of America may find itself in a great national emergency by reason of war, or by reason of internal strife, for one reason or another, or by reason of great economic difficulties, and by the passage of this resolution, gentlemen, you are going to take away from the people who are living and representing each other in that day and age, you are going to remove from them the democratic right to govern themselves as we today want to govern ourselves. I think it is a shame, it is a travesty on our democratic principles, it is a bad piece of legislation.

The Senator from Fayette covered some of the history concerning this question. It has been before the American people for one hundred and sixty years and the American people have uniformly refused to do anything about it, apparently on the theory that the people of the particular day and age when the question arises have the right to resolve the question by casting their ballots at the polls.

The people in 1940 and 1944 decided this question, and they decided it according to their consciences, according to their dictates. We all were not pleased with that decision, we all are never pleased following an election, but the people of the United States did what they thought was right and they exercised their democratic right to cast their ballot for the man and the party of their choice.

General Washington, the so-called founder of our country, our first President, was called upon time after time in the constitutional conventions, and thereafter, to do something about presidential succession, and General Washington, time after time again, refused to limit presidential succession. In his writings, which have come down to us through history, he is recorded not once, but many times, concluding with his farewell address, as being opposed to this type of legislation. Again, in a letter which he wrote to General Lafayette, he said among other things this: "I see no propriety in precluding ourselves from the services of any man who, in some great emergency, shall be deemed universally most capable of serving the public."

Mr. President, when we go out compaigning, addressing the women's clubs all over the Commonwealth, currying political favor, we like to often to wrap ourselves in the stars and stripes of our nation, we like to be great patriots, but we are not being patriotic to the memory of men like General Washington, and those who have succeeded him, when we insist on passing this kind of legislation, which is not going to hurt us, it does not hurt anybody on this side whether you pass it or you do not pass it, but it is going to tie the hands of democratic-loving people who will follow us in future generations.

The fewer restrictions on the people that we place in the Constitution, the more truly our democratic form of government is going to continue.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, last week we had before us a bill, also a political bill, which reduced the position of the Democratic party on the ballot by reason of the fact that hereafter the ballot would be determined on the result of the gubernatorial instead of presidential election.

I think the Senator from Northampton, Senator Woodring, at that time detailed for us the history of that legislation, and at that time he told us that there had been numerous changes from time to time, going back as far as 1893.

What we are doing today is also acting on a principle that is steeped in politics. I am not going to discuss the merits or demerits, as I think they have been adequately covered. I can at this time envision, in the circle of political evolution at a time when the Democratic party is back in power nationally, when there will be at that time another constitutional amendment to do away with this constitutional amendment and that, my friends, is what the passage of this bill will mean today.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I am rather of the impression that the gentlemen on the other side who have spoken against this resolution have a misconception of its purposes. I do not think it is steeped in politics. I do not think it is an attempt to take away from the people the right to act; I think this gives them the right to act. They say it is bad legislation. It was never my fortune to know the distinguished President of the United States who seems to be the cause of this criticism. I say fortune —those who wish can add "mis" or "good" to that, as they choose.

But my thought is this, if it should ever happen in the future that we have again the privilege and the opportunity to elect as the President of the United States one who we wish to keep in office until he may die, it is going to be very easy to do it.

They say that the framers of the Constitution made no mistakes, and yet within two years they found that they had made ten mistakes, and I would like to read into the record, if I may, the action of the people of the United States since they adopted the Constitution.

The first mistakes were cured by the Bill of Rights, by ten amendments which were placed in the Constitution within two years from the time that they started.

The eleventh amendment I do not have the record on.

The twelfth amendment, which provided for presidential electors, became a part of the Constitution between the twelfth day of December, 1803, and the twenty-seventh day of September, 1804, a period of ten months.

The thirteenth amendment, having to do with the abolition of slavery, became a part of our Constitution between the first of February, 1865, and the eighteenth of December, 1865, a period of eleven months.

The description of citizenship, the fourteenth amendment, in fourteen months, between the fifteenth of June, 1866 and the twenty-first of July, 1868.

An amendment which provided that freed slaves might vote became the fifteenth amendment, between the twenty-seventh of February, 1869, and the thirtieth of March, 1870.

When we wanted an income tax in America it was passed on the twenty-sixth of February 1913, after a few months.

Then we came to the seventeenth amendment, providing for the election of Senators by popular vote, and that went into effect May 31, 1913, after eleven months.

Then we come to the most controversial amendment we ever had to discuss—prohibition. Prohibition was submitted to the states on the first day of January 1918, and it was passed by the constitutional majority of thirty-six states on the twenty-ninth of February, 1919—that was a little over a year.

When we found that is was not workable and feasible and we repealed it, it was repealed between the tenth of April, 1933, and the fifth of December, 1933, about eight months.

The nineteenth amendment, where we wonderful men decided it was advisable to have women in politics, became part of the Constitution between the tenth of June, 1919, and the twenty-sixth of August, 1920.

When we changed the date of induction of the President of the United States from the fourth of March to the second Monday of January, that was done between March 4th, 1932, and February 6th, 1933.

I am reading these dates into the record for the purpose of saying to my friends on the other side, and saying to the nation at large, that if the time shall ever come when the people of America want to change to a dictator role, they can have it in six or seven months by amending the Constitution, as I said previously, by repealing this amendment, so let us put this amendment in because the people of America want it and the people of America are going to vote for it.

The criticism of a long continuous term of office is the fact that we all know it takes a president about eighteen months to get coordinated. He then acts in his official capacity for a year and then the last eighteen months he is campaigning for re-election for a second term.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am very much afraid my friend from Philadelphia feels that sooner or later we may have another Roosevelt because, after all, Roosevelt was responsible for two defeats of him in this body. Fortunately for him, President Roosevelt died, and that is why he is here this year.

Having heard the Bill of Rights for the first time in many years, I think it would be in order to have a reading of the Declaration of Independence, the basis of our government, and we ought to learn something. Following that we ought to read the Constitution of the United States, with al its provisional clauses.

But I say this much, I wish President Roosevelt were alive and I would vote for him again and our people probably would vote for him, and I probably would come back here once more in 1948.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like, if I may to read into the record some reasons for my voting in favor of this bill.

At the end of his second term, George Washington had this to say about the situation: "Rotation in office accords with the representative spirit of our Constitution, and the ideas of safety and liberty entertained by our people."

President Thomas Jefferson, in like circumstances, said this: "Inludgence and attachments of the people will keep a main in the chair so that re-elections through life shall become habitual, and election for life follows that. George Washington set the example for voluntary retirement after eight years. I shall follow him, and a few more presidents doing so will oppose the obstacle of habit, to anyone after awhile who shall endeavor to extend his term."

Eight of the then functioning state legislatures passed resolutions inviting Jefferson to serve a third term, and many people of the time said that he was indispensable. But the great American, Thomas Jefferson, was steadfast in his refusal. President Andrew Jackson, founder of the Democratic party, in six of his eight messages, advocated constitutional amendments limiting the presidential term.

John Quincy Adams said in an address in 1839, celebrating fifty years of the Constitution "the example of self-shastened ambition, by the decided approbation of public opinion, has become a tacit subsidiary constitutional law."

Democratic President James Buchanan said in 1859: "The example of Washington, Madison and Monroe has forever determined that no president shall be more than once re-elected. This principle has now become as secred as if it were written in the Constitution."

Another Democratic President, Grover Cleveland, said in 1844: "No man ought to seek to disturb the public usage and unwritten law which prescribes that a third term, whether or not consecutive, is dangerous to the Republic."

In 1896, the Democratic platform said: "We declare it to be the unwritten law of the Republic that by custom and usage of one hundred years, and sancitioned by the example of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and maintained our government, no man shall be eligible for a third term of presidential office."

An so it goes, Mr. President, and we might pause here to think a moment of what was the thing that these great Americans were afraid of.

For one thing, Mr. President, if the President of the United States, with his appointive power, stays in office too long, it could be possible that the entire Supreme Court of the United States could be appointed by one man—certainly a great majority of them. Great power goes with the high office of president, with all the vast hordes of federal officeholders. In my opinion, Mr. President, these great Americans were afraid, if any man held power too long, he could build for himself such a strong political organization that he could never be removed from public office as long as he lived.

Mr. President, the suggestion has been raised by someone on the other side that this bill be amended, which of course can not be done; it is a federal constitutional amendment and can not be amended by the Pennsylvania Legislature—but the suggestion was made that it be amended to include senators and representatives, and so forth.

Mr. President, the danger does not lie there. The danger in this sort of thing lies in an office that has great appointive power and the power, if so desired, of perpetuating a person in office almost without any limit.

Here in the state of Pennsylvania, Mr. President, our forefathers realized that, and that is the reason a governor of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can not succeed himself, because a man could become governor and, through the appointive power that he has, forever maintain himself in that high office as long as he lives. Those are the reasons, Mr. President, I propose voting "aye" on this bill.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, may I just take a moment to correct an erroneous impression that may in the minds of the Senate as a result of the extemporaneous remarks of the Senator from Philadelphia.

I had the honor and privilege of beating the man who succeeded me by over 45,000 majority in 1930. As a coattail rider he beat me by 1,328 in 1934. That meant a change of 665 votes, and a coattail would not have helped.

The Senator from Philadelphia says he wishes the president were alive, so that he could come back here next year on his coattail. I think, if he is entitled to come back, he ought to come back on his own feet.

What I want to correct, Mr. President, is the misstatement he made, that I was defeated in 1938 and 1942. I never ran again for the office of Senator of the State of Pennsylvania, after 1934, when I was defeated by 1,328 votes, until I sent the coattail rider home in the election last fall.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was very much interested in the reasoning of the majority party for voting for this particular type of legislation. However, all of us here know that behind it all is the oft-repeated criticism of the man who is in absentia the subject of this legislation.

So far as Mr. Frazier's political career is concerned, I compliment him upon being able to win an election entirely upon his own merits, without the benefit of political officeholders and ward-heelers and all the other things. I, of course, Mr. President, am not quite that fortunate. I use every means at my command to win when I go out to fight a political campaign.

Mr. President, I might say there is not much difference between the election of a man and the perpetuation of a party and its policies. For some sixty-odd years the Republican party held sway in the state of Pennsylvania and any student of politics knows that, although they changed the name of the candidate for governor, the same persons ran the political office of governor. No one needs to stand on the floor of the Senate and give credit, as it were, to the men who drafted the Constitution of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by limiting the term of the governor when, and then, in the same breath, admit that, although the governor does not succeed himself, recent history has proven that he always picks the crown prince to succeed him, and so his policies and all the things he believes in are perpetuated in office.

I am more disturbed, Mr. President, over the fact that this group of men in the Senate of Pennsylvania feel that they are superior to the will of the people of the United States of America. The arguments that were presented here in favor of this legislation were thoroughly exploited, in the year 1940, when the question of a third term was presented to the people very vividly by the nomination, as it were, by the Democratic party of their standard bearer, the late President of these United States, so some persons seem to fear that again we might find ourselves in the position where the people will exercise their God-given right to perform a duty for themselves and their nation and elect the man whom they feel best qualified at the moment to put into the office of President of these United States. I can not say that I am a more profound student than the people of these United States; I can not say that I have a superior knowledge of what is good for this country, when that question has already been resolved by the people themselves upon two separate occasions.

One might say that perhaps in 1940, the people were misled and confused and that, because of that, they failed to exercise their rights, failed to follow the dictates of their consciences, and therefore were stempeded into the position where they elected a man for a third term but, lo and behold they made the same mistake again—they made the same mistake again. They refused to believe that certain interests in these United States had the coveted right to always be in office. They thought that the man who was then President had been a servant of the people. I challenge any man upon the other side of the Senate to get up and enumerate for me, and for the enlightenment of my colleagues, any of the actions of the late Presiednt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, that were contrary to the welfare of the people of this nation.

I can remember, and I was quite a young man at the time, conditions in this country as they were when we, the people, elected Franklin D. Roosevelt President. I can remember the state of near anarchy in the great midwest of our nation, when farmers banded themselves together and armed themselves with shot guns and other weapons of defense and stood upon their neighbor's ground and challenged the law to do that which the law was determined to do, namely, to foreclose upon that property. I can remember when, in the city parks of this great state, and all over this nation, able-bodied men laid down to sleep under the stars with nothing between them and the heavens above but a daily newspaper to cover them. I can remember when thousands upon thousands of children in this great nation and this state were undernourished, underfed, ill-housed, over this great country of ours, because of the policies that had been lived up to and outlined by a man who only served one term as president. Mr. President, there can be such a case where a man can be president for one term and be there too long, and there can be such a case where a man may be president for so many terms that the people in their wisdom want him to be, and still not outlive his usefulness to this nation.

As history, of course wil lrecord, and I challenge again anybody to successfully contradict this statement, those of us, of course, living in this day and in this age, being contemporaries of this great president, may not be able to value in a true light the services that he rendered, and I say, in the words of the Majority Leader, Mr. Tallman, that it comes in bad grace, after the people have spoken, to say to this state and to this nation that we, the great Senators of Pennsylvania, feel that you do not know what you are doing, you have made a mistake, not only once but twice, and we are going to stop you from making that mistake again; we are going to keep anybody from being president for more than two terms.

I do not think anybody in this room has any illusions about any of us here ever hoping to be president for one term but certainly, if upon the horizon comes a man, if this nation again finds itself in an hour of need, that will step into the picture and save this nation from anarchy, save it from a breakdown of its economy, save it from a breakdown of its industries and agricultural strength, save again for the children and the children's children of this and past generations, the great heritage that has been handed down to us, if that man ever comes upon the scene again and presents himself to the people of this nation, I only hope that my children or my children's children will have the intestinal fortitude to do that which we did, elect that man to office to lead this country again to the point where now they are back thinking, as they dared not think in 1932, again thinking of legislation to put certain segments of our population in a certain corner and keep them there, again thinking of passing legislation to shift the cost of government from the shoulders of those best able to pay the burden onto those least able to pay the burden, again to allow that proud thinking that you claim for yourselves, as being the saviors of what? You are now the new saviors. Are you afraid that your policies, are you afraid that your actions in the Federal Congress and your actions in the Senate of Pennsylvania are again leading the people to flock to the standards of the Democratic party? Are you fearful that Mr. Truman, whom a year ago you spoke of derisively, may be the next president, and if the people so decide, he may be the next and next president of these United States?

We are not fearful. We are not fearful of any person that you may select, because if the people feel that you are the party to lead us to greater prosperity, to greater glory as a nation, the people will so vote, and if you select that type of man that will keep that prosperity, will keep the faith of the people in their constitutional government, I am sure that you too would applaud the people if they decide to keep your man in so long as he was doing what was good for the people of this nation.

I know the die is cast, I know that you are going to pass this legislation, but somehow or other I can not help but reflect that just a few weeks ago you passed a bill that assured you of first place upon the ballot, so that you could get a few votes, and now you are coming along and saying that no Democratic President—we can say that because, incidentally, a Democratic President was the only one that ever broke this so-called tradition—traditions are great, traditions are wonderful things, but how many of you realize that to follow traditions only in a day of ever-changing economic conditions would soon put this nation back in the class of the Balkans and the other nations that long ago had reached and passed their peak.

These are forward-looking people in these United States, and as the conditions come they will meet them, and if traditions have to be broken in order that the future welfare of our people will be assured, I say to you that the people of these United States will break those traditions.

Those of us who are young enough to hope for a greater America than what we have inherited, want to see no hamstringing legislation passed that will tie the hands of future Americans from selecting for themselves their standard-bearer in a time of crisis, if that time should ever come again.

We pray, Mr. President, that we will never need again to have a man to serve us that long, but I am of the honest opinion that if Franklin D. Roosevelt would have been thinking of self, and self only, he would never have accepted the third term nomination to the presidency of the United States. I am convinced in my own heart and in my own soul that he knew that the inevitable end was a grave along the Hudson, that he knew in his own heart that he would give only one thing by accepting that nomination and election, he would give the most cherished thing of all, his very life, and I say again, in the words of the Majority Leader, that it comes in bad grace that we in this Senate this afternoon should condemn the actions of this man who sacrificed his all, the same as any soldier on any battlefield all over the world, when he gave for his country his very life.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I have no desire to prolong this debate and shall speak very briefly on this subject. I regret indeed that the subject of this legislation has become pretty much of a political debate in this chamber this afternoon.

I was tremendously interested in the remarks made by the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Tarr, because I, too, read the article from which he quoted, which is an article by Henry Steele Commager, who is a member of the faculty of Columbia University, and appeared in the New York Times last Sunday. When the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Tarr, quoted from this article he quoted the remarks made by Representative Sabath concerning, as he quoted it, "A pitiful victory over a great man now sleeping on the banks of the Hudson." The gentleman from Fayette forgot to mention that the writer of this article said that the representative who used that had bad manners, and I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that instead of talking about grace, it is bad manners, and I would like to suggest that it adds no credit to the greatness of Franklin Delano Roosevelt to bring that into this debate this afternoon, and the reason I say that, Mr. President, is this: this matter of whether or not there should be a limitation upon the term which the chief executive of this nation is to serve is not a matter that just came up now. That was a matter of great debate, of long tedious debate at the time of the constitutional convention. I would like to direct the gentlemen on the other side to peruse, if they want to take the time, the Federalist, over many, many pages, and note the long discussions and serious debate which then took place about this very matter. I would like to call attention to the fact that very soon after the constitutional convenion, that the constitutions of many states were formulated, and that again that matter became the subject of serious debate. I should like to suggest that they peruse, if they will, the constitutions of many of the states and find that the thinking that was represented by those people who did not share the views of the then majority in the constitutional convention, turned out to be the majority thinking in many of the states and, as in Pennsylvania, there were restrictions and prohibitions placed upon the term a chief executive might serve.

I should also like to point out, Mr. President, that the newness of that subject has not worn off, nor the oldness of it. The gentlemen on the other side know very well that this subject, throughout the years, from the date of the formation of this nation, has been the earnest subject of great study on the part of historians, on the part of people who are interested in government, and on the part of persons who are teaching government in the public schools, the colleges and the universities of this country, and that that debate, that discussion, has continued over a period of a great many years, even up to the present time.

I was going to take the time to quote from a statement by Thomas Jefferson, but I am going to refrain from quoting from it, in the interest of time; I do not think it is essential.

What I do want to say is this, Mr. President, that this subject comes about out of a serious difference of political philosophy; it comes about out of a serious difference of opinion that has lasted over the entire history of this nation.

I regret that there needed to be brought personalities into it, and I want to say to the gentlemen on the other side of this chamber that we on this side—and I think that I may in this instance speak for the feelings of the men who sit on this side of the chamber, having a different political philosophy than the men on the other side of the chamber—feel just as keenly, just as sincerely and just as earnestly the rightness of this bill.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, it seems to becoming a habit for me to get up and apologize to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman. Yesterday he said I was rude and today he said my manners were bad, and I hope that opinion has not become too great over there.

However, Mr. President, we are considering very important legislation today.

This reminds me of a time I went deer hunting in West Virginia with a dog. When we started out in the morning, the dog took out after a marvelous stag and continued to follow the tracks of that deer until they crossed the tracks of a fox, and then the dog took off after the fox. Now, Mr. President, a fox is not the most ignoble animal, but not in the class of the deer. But then it was not long before that dog was off on the track of a rabbit and, Mr. President, at the end of the day that marvelous dog, which started out in the morning chasing that most magnificent of all game animals, ended by barking in a hole at a skunk.

Mr. President, it seems that we have gone far off the question since this debate first began. We heard one of the gentlemen on the other side say that he had not ridden in on the coattails of any person, and the members talked on so many subjects, but Mr. President, and I hope this does close the debate, let us keep in mind that we are voting again on our confidence in democracy. Let us also keep in mind that Nazism, Fascism, Communism, all dictators say the same thing, "we must protect the people from themselves." Gentlemen, if you want to protect the people you will allow them vote as their consciences dictate; we can not legislate the dictates of our own consciences.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I regret very much that the gentleman from Fayette takes a personal position on what I said, and I want to assure him that I meant no offense to him personally.

In order that the record may be straight for all time to come, I should like to read into the record that which I have referred to, which appears in the New York Times, Magazine Section of April 27, 1947, page 13, an article by Henry Steele Commager and I shall quote: "But the amendment was passed by unanimous Republican vote in both houses of Congress, and Representative Sabath had the bad manners to call it 'a pitiful victory over a great man now sleeping on the banks of the Hudson.'"

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to make any reference to the question of bad manners. Of course, I long ago decided that if you have no defense you strike up a powerful offensive, and I am not a bit disturbed over that. I am not a bit fooled either.

Every person knows that this is a direct criticism of the decision made by the Democratic party in June of 1940. However, that is beside the point.

The gentleman from Lehigh said that this Democratic Minority should peruse the history of this type of legislation. Perhaps he too ought to study the history with the succeeding events, and realize that at all times when it has been a question of debate, it was a question of debate in legislative halls but never before in the history of this nation did it become a question of debate after the people had resolved the question. This has been before the people on two separate occasions. The arguments that you are now using before this Legislature were used before the people in the press, on the radio and upon the political platform, all over the state and the nation. Every person eligible to vote knew what the question was, knew they were deciding to break tradition, as it were, knew they were lifting the lid upon the number of sessions or terms that a man could be elected president.

New you come before this Senate and say that historically this has always been a subject of debate. It has, Mr. President, of political debate, by the outs wanting in, but this is the first time, and I repeat, that the question has come up in the legislative halls after a decision has been made. You are a little late. You are a little late—about seven years too late, because the people have already decided, and whether you pass this legislation or not, you can never take away from the tradition that has already been broken the fact that the people decided they would exercise their right, and they told the politicians how many times a man could serve.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

SENATE BILL NO 121 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, on page 7 of the Calendar, I call from the Postponed Calendar Senate Bill No. 121, Printer's No. 90.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 121, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to add section three hundred three point one to the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" increasing the fees for hunting licenses and providing for the use of moneys derived therefrom for the stocking of small game.

be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I knew that this would happen if I would be a bad boy, I knew I was takling too often. I feel, Mr. President and member of the Senate—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair reminds the gentleman from Northampton that the question before the Senate is a motion to re-commit Senate Bill 121, which motion is not debatable.

Mr. WOODRING. Then, Mr. President, I ask leave to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, leave is granted.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, Senate Bill 121, by way of funeral services, was an honest attempt to gain for the sportsmen of Pennsylvania more adequate hunting conditions. The small game population in our state has been dwindling and dwindling, becoming less and less, despite the large sums of money which have been paid into the Game Commission through the medium of $2 per license, $2 for each of more than 600,000 licenses being sold in the state each year. Despite that large fund, despite that adequate sum for stocking purposes, hunters from one end of the state to the other are receiving less and less in the way of adequate state stocking.

Therefore I had drafted and presented to this legislature Senate Bill 121, which would have done two things —it would have increased the hunting fee by the sum of $1, but it would have ear-marked that $1 increase for stocking purposes, and it would have made it mandatory upon the game commission to stock in the county from which the licenses were issued at least one piece of small game.

The only argument that was presented to me by members on the other side against the practicability of the bill was that the $1 increase would not cover that cost. The $1 increase would not have had to cover that cost, because, in adition to that $1 increase, the game commission is already receiving $2. The sportsmen in my section, and sportsmen in other sections to whom I have spoken, independent of the State Federation of Sportsmen, have almost uniformly approved the idea, because they thought this was a means of securing the type of hunting we have had in the past, and to which we and our younger generation are entitled in the future.

I regret that the bill is to be re-committed. I would like to be recorded as voting "no" on the motion, and I hope to see the bill again under a new number.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

SENATE BILL No. 204 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I call up from the Postponed Calendar Senate Bill No. 204, Printer's No. 173.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 204, on third reading, entitled:

An Act establishing a uniform time for appeals to the Superior and Supreme Courts and from the Superior to the Supreme Court in all proceedings; and repealing inconsistent acts.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, the gentlemen from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, at the present time any appeal from a lower court to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania or the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania may be taken within three months. The consensus of opinion today is that it too long a period, and since it is up to the Superior or Supreme Court to have final say as to a case and, so to say, give justice in the matter too much delay in taking an appeal would be a delay in justice, and, as the late President Woodrow Wilson said, "Justice delayed is justice denied."

The purpose of this bill is to shorten the period to thirty days. I believe that is a step in the proper direction, but as one of my predecessors said, you have the votes, so you will get the motion.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, for the purposes of the record I should like to make a very short statement.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, when this bill came into committee, and this is for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, cutting the period of appeal from ninety days to forty-five days, the committee cut it to thirty days in order to make it conform to the new federal rules. The information which I received was that the sponsor of the bill was not satisfied with the committee amendment and that is why the bill went over in order and then was placed on the postponed calendar. The bill is going back to committee so that it can be further discussed by the sponsor with the committee.

Mr. STIEFEL. I am deeply grateful to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, for his explanation. Knowing his good faith in the matter, I know it will come out again to the light of day.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

SENATE BILL No. 333 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I call from the Postponed Calendar Senate Bill No. 333, Printer's No. 179.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 333, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (a) of subsection three of section fourteeen of the act approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled, "An act establishing a public school employes retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes; defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes; exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process, and providing penalties by providing for an increased employes annuity.

be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to,

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I want to explain the reason for this motion. There are other bills of a similar nature in that committee and it has been requested that this bill be returned so that that the committee may study it with them.

SENATE BILL No. 351 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, on page 8 of the Calendar I call up from the Postponed Calendar Senate 351, Printer's No. 99.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 351, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act of one thousand seven hundred five (1 SM L 25) entitled "An act to restrain people from labour on the first day of the week", by authorizing the service of execution on Sunday of certain warrants and other instruments in cases of misdemeanors involving gambling.

be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask uanimous consent to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, the gentleman from Washington may proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we had an agreement quite a while ago with the sponsors on this side, not to bring this controversial measure up for quite a while, and this matter comes as quite a surprise to us.

All this bill does is to make it legal to make arrests for gambling on Sunday, and if you recommit this bill, you are taking the position that it is illegal to gamble six days out of a week but legal to gamble on the Sabbath day.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I request permission of the Senate to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, the gentleman from Lehigh may proceed.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I regret that the impression has arisen, on the question of recommitment of these bills, that the whole purpose of recommiting them is to kill the bills. I want to suggest to the gentleman who sponsored the bill, on which a motion has just been made to recommit, that there is very serious honest concern about the validity of that bill. I think that they themselves know, because some of the men have discussed it with them. I want to suggest too that this bill does not do what was just stated on the floor. It puts no stamp of approval upon gambling on the Sabbath. The gentleman knows very well that anyone who violates the law in that respect can be punished, can be arrested on sight on the Sabbath.

What is asked to be done in this bill is that you want to serve processes for a misdemeanor and there is a serious question, even if that were advisable to do, as to whether or not it is advisable and constitutional to limit it to one offense out of all misdemeanors.

These are the reasons for this motion, and I think this side is entitled to have its reasons for these things.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask permission to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, the gentleman from Cambria may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Yesterday, Mr. President, we heard the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, tell this audience that today would be a field day. I did not quite get what he meant by a field day but, judging from the action of the majority party, we now have four bills recommitted, three of them being Democratic bills, and I imagine that was what the gentleman from Allegheny meant when he said there would be a field day today, recommitting all Democratic sponsored bills.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

SENATE BILL No. 505 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, on page 10 of the Calendar, I call up from the Postponed Calendar Senate Bill No. 505, Printer's No. 161.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 505, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 886), entitled "An act creating a Municipal Employes' System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them, and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor; imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board and the actuary thereof; providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system, and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith, and as to certain existing retirement and pension systems, and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions and institutions supported and maintained by them; providing certain exemptions from taxation, execution, attachment, levy and sale; and making an appropriation," changing the provisions relating to prior service and defining prior salary; changing the superannuation retirement age; eliminating the requirement for joinder of system by twenty-five municipalities, reducing the amount of contributions by members; and changing provisions relating to retirement allowances.

be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE BILL No. 544 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, on page 11 of today's Calendar I call up Senate Bill No. 544, Printer's No. 204.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 544, on third reading, entitled

An Act to establish an Eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institute conferring powers and imposing duties and obligations on the Department of Property and Supplies and providing for maintenance and operation by the Department of Wilfare through a director and an advisory board appointed by it be recommitted to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE BILL No. 772 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I call up from the Postponed Calendar, on page 11, House Bill No. 772, Printer's No. 165, for the purpose of offering amendments.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent at this time to offer amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, Subsection 202, page 4, line 13, by striking out the words "Stevens Trade School" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Thaddeus Stevens Trade School;" amend Section 2, Subsection 401, page 7, line 3, by striking out the words "Stevens Trade School" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Traddeus Stevens Trade School;" amend Section 2, Subsection 401, page 10, line 20, by striking out the words "Stevens Trade School" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Thaddeus Stevens Trade School"; amend Section 3, Subsection 1311, page 12, line 7, by inserting after the word "School)" and before the word "Stevens" the following: "Thaddeus."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended, lie over for printing on final passage.

SENATE BILL No. 611 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, now that we are on the Second Reading Calendar, I call up from the Second Reading Postponed Calendar, on page 15, Senate Bill No. 611, Printer's No. 209.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 611, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by making it unlawful for any person while hunting or trapping to carry any firearm with the safety off except during the momentary interval of time necessary to permit the discharge of such firearm and providing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE BILL No. 190 CALLED UP FROM POSTONED CALENDAR

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, at this time I call up, on page 15 of the Second Reading Postponed Calendar, Senate Bill No. 190, Printer's No. 70, for action.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 190, which has just been called up, on second reading entitled:

An Act to repeal certain statutes relating to oleomargarine butterine or similar substances manufactured wholly or partly from fats oils or oleaginous substances go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BARR. I object.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 190, on second reading go over in its order.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, would the gentleman from Lehigh tell me why this bill needs to go over in order.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, this bill was on the postponed calendar and the gentleman from Allegheny called it up; this side of the Senate is not yet prepared to act upon it at this time, and for that reason I requested that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. BARR. Senator Tallman, will you tell me, not just a date, but how soon you think your side will be able to consider the oleomargarine bill.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, there is not much use of the gentleman from Allegheny being coy about his questions, because I do not know when this side is going to be ready to take action on the bill, but I assure him, until it is there will not be any action taken on it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the gentleman gave me a very fine answer.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

BILLS ON SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 7, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and four of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 793) entitled "An act authorizing counties of the second class to regulate the production of smoke from chimneys smokestacks or other source including provisions for the payment of inspection and certificates of compliance fees incident thereto authorizing the expenditure of money for the employment of persons and the acquisition of property for effectuating such regulations and providing penalties for the violation thereof" removing exemption regarding railroad locomotives and changing the effective date

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like, if I may, the opportunity to read into the record my reasons for a motion which I am about to make.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington may proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to explain the reason for the motion I am about to make.

Last week my colleague, Senator Tarr, and I offered a resolution seeking an opinion as to the constitutionality or legality of the so-called 1943 Allegheny County Smoke Control Act, I understand that the Committee on Rules, to which this resolution was referred, has not had the opportunity to act on same, and I wish to submit the following information:

On February 27th and 28th and on March 1st, 1947, the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs held its Thirty-sixth Annual Convention Meeting at the Penn-Harris Hotel here in Harrisburg, I am sure that many members of the House and Senate are acquainted with the sterling work of that association, and the practical and most assuredly legal character of their work, and I am quite sure that quite a number of the membership from the House and Senate attended that convention.

The activities of the convention were divided into many different conferences of interest; that is, the borough councilmen met and discussed borough problems; the burgesses met jointly; the borough secretaries met in a group, and the borough solicitors gathered and discussed their legal problems.

The meeting of the borough solicitors held a special interest, for many were in attendance from Allegheny, Washington and Greene counties, and I am further told that the problem of home rule was actively discussed.

At that solicitors' group meeting, let me again emphasize, attended by many borough solicitors from the counties mentioned, there was unanomously adopted, for presentation to the Resolutions Committee, the following resolution:

"Whereas, the County Commissioners never were, nor were ever intended to be, a legislative body, nor were counties intended to be legislative units, but were and are, administrative arms of the State Government; and

"Whereas, such powers, if extended to counties, could easily create sixty-seven more legislative units in the State, capable of enforcing other edicts upon people to the full detriment of their freedom and contrary to the fundamental principles of home rule;

"Now therefore, Be It Resolved that this Convention of State Boroughs go on record as steadfastly opposed to the granting, by the Legislature, of any power, to County Commissioners of any county of the State, to enact or enforce ordinances having the effect of law, or to enforce penalties in connection therewith; and that the Officers of the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs be, and they are hereby, directed to oppose any Bills introduced into the Legislature for any such purposes, and to prepare and have introduced therein Bill or Bills repealing any such powers heretofore granted"

Now, let me point out, Mr. President, that this outspoken resolution of the State Association of Boroughs was adopted, after careful consideration by the finest, most competent municipal attorneys in the state of Pennsylvania; it unanimously passed the session attended by the solicitors; it unanimously passed the Convention's Resolution Committee, and it unanimously passed the final general meeting of the convention. It is the platform of the Association of Boroughs.

Surely, Mr. President, it must suggest to all the wishes of this group, and in regard to this Smoke Control Act now under consideration, if the 1943 Act allowed local delegation of power to the county commissioners of the second class, do those learned borough delegates, many thoroughly experienced municipal authorities, leave any doubt in our minds as to what they think of this 1943 Act.

And yet, Mr. President, the law or constitutionality of this Act, along with the other unanswerable parts of same, were all considered by the Senate Mines and Mining Committee in a very short period of time. Imagine a law that affects, directly or indirectly, the lives of all persons in Western Pennsylvania receiving just an hour or so consideration.

Mr. President, in view of the fact that the Committee on Rules has not had an opportunity to consider the resolution which I introduced last Thursday, requesting, as stated before, a formal opinion from the Attorney General in regard to this Act, I make the following motion:

MOTION THAT BILL BE POSTPONED

Mr. LANE, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 7, on second reading, be placed on the Postponed Calendar.

Mr. HALUSKA, Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Washington for what purpose he desires having this bill placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. LANE. As I stated before in my previous remarks, Mr. President, I would like to be assured we are acting in a constitutional manner, and I thought probably we might have an opinion from the Attorney General in the near future.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I read in the newspapers that such an opinion has already been handed down and that the Attorney General has already ruled on the constitutionality of the bill, at the request of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth, and if that is the only purpose for which the gentleman from Washington is desirous of having this legislative action taken, it is unnecessary at this time. I see no good purpose to be served by postponing action on this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, probably I am misinformed but I believe the Attorney General ruled on the constitutionality of House Bill 7, but not on the 1943 act. House Bill 7 would amend the act of 1943. Is that correct?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the Attorney General's ruling, as I understand it, dealth not only with what is contained in House Bill 7, now before the Senate, but also on the constitutionality of the act itself, because most of the act of 1943 is contained in a re-statement in House Bill 7.

I would ask my colleague to vote down this motion to suspend action on the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative).

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Messrs. LANE, HALUSKIA and TARR offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1) page 3, line 1, (by striking out the word "the" and inserting in lieu thereof "but shall not in any case prohibit or be so construed as to prohibit the use or consumption of any solid fuel produced in this Commonwealth. The"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment.

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I request my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I seem to be getting nowhere fast, but at least I am trying.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to assure the good citizens of western Pennsylvania that I have done my best, but of course, tomorrow is another day.

The PRESIDENT. The Legislative Journal will so note.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt, to preside during the first reading calendar.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, did I understand, or do I understand that when you introduced the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt, that on the occasion of the only time that State defeated the Army the gentleman was on the team?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, with the publicity you gave the gentleman from Indiana, I am reminded of the story of the farmer who had a bull dragging a cart. He got to a bridge and to the middle of the bridge. The bull wouldn't move forward and he couldn't get him to back up. Along came another farmer with an automobile. He drove up behind him and said

"Can I give you any help?"

The farmer said "Yes, you might toot your horn and he may move."

The fellow behind tooted his horn and let out a terrific blast on the horn. The bull immediately went over the side of the bridge, into the creek, dragging the cart with him. The man got out of the car, came up to the farmer and said

"I am terribly sorry,"

The farmer said "Thats all right, it's not your fault, but that was an awful big toot for a little bull."

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt, for presiding, and recommends that if you ever need a good line plunger to call on the gentleman from Indiana.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there have been a number of things that I wanted to talk about. I wanted to talk about the electric roll call situation which seems to have bogged down in unfortunate complications, but I will talk about that at some other time.

I also want to talk about the fact that this House for four months has been concerned with legislative trivia, busy work, calculated to keep the little boys busy on inconsequential matters, legislative truck. There has been an entire absence of coherence or integrated program.

If you have a veteran program, where is it? Who has got it? If you have a housing program, where is it? Who has got it? If you have an educational program, where is it? Who has got it?

We released bills dealing with education by installment, a little bill here and a little bill there. There is no way of telling whether the bills that appeared are part of an integrated program, whether it is something that is desired by the Commonwealth speaking through the Department of Education, or simply a measure that some pressure group somewhere in the state desires. I will probably have more to say about that at some other time, but if the Legislature is going to frame programs let us have programs emerging from the committees.

We supposedly have a Pittsburgh program. I have been reminded if anybody knows where the Pittsburgh program is or what it is now, that the legislative leaders don't seem to know. Is there a Philadelphia program? We have a multiplicity of Philadelphia bills. Do they represent special interests, private interests, or are they part of a program in which the citizenship of Philadelphia is properly interested. I am appealing to you to bring out of committees and the legislative jungles where they have been, not isolated bills that fall into no program, but an integrated program that can be brought out and considered at one time as a whole.

As I say, Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to speak about that in the hall of the House today. What I wanted to talk about was this, I noted in the public press a headline which reads: "State mercantile tax to net one hundred million dollars sought by Democrats."

Now, that is a natural enough headline but it is misleading. There is a great deal of difference between a program submitted for and on behalf of a militant, and a very much alive party and a program submitted by one individual Democrat. If there is any Democratic caucus held at anytime, anywhere, or any place that has placed its imprimitur upon a one hundred million dollar mercantile tax program I have not heard of it, and if any Member of the Democratic Party wants to commit the party to such a schedule, I suggest that he take measures to convene a Democratic Legislative Caucus.

I understand that there has been introduced in the other chamber of this Assembly a detailed financial program proposing tax schedules. I say the same thing about that entire program. Any Member of the House on this side speaking for himself has a right to rise and propose any program he likes, just as any Member on the other side If the House has a right to propose any program he likes, but no individual Member has the right to presume without consulting with the leadership of his party and without consultation with a legislative caucus which he presumably represents, to presume that his individual conviction alone concerning a Legislative program represents the stand of the Democratic party.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I ought to make one remark concerning a matter to which the gentleman refers. Answering his question, where are those programs and who has them, they are in Committees where they belong until they have been worked out satisfactorily. They are in Committees that are working diligently, and the gentleman may have a pleasant surprise if he is waiting for those programs to make their appearance very soon.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SPROUL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there is reason for the introduction of House Bill No. 1302, proposed by Mr. Haudenshield, as an amendment to Article III, Section 18 of the Constitution of this Commonwealth, requiring the Superior Court to reapportion the Senatorial and Representative Districts upon failure of the General Assembly to do so. When you and I and previous members of this House were elected, we subscribed to the oath of office pledging to uphold the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

This very document in Article II, Section 18 provides and I quote

> "The General Assembly at its first Session after adoption of this Constitution, and immediately after each United States decennial census, shall apportion the State into Senatorial and Representative Districts agreeably to the provisions of the two next preceding Sections"

These previous sections 16 and 17 referred to respectively, designate the manner of reapportionment of the Senatorial and Representative Districts. Should we and can we of the Republican Party, the majority party, and the Democrats again neglect the provisions we have sworn to uphold? The means to carry out this mandate of the Constitution now lie in the Elections and Apportionment Committee of this House in the form of a bill introduced by the Honorables Smith and O'Donnell, House Bill No. 458. The members of this House in consultation with whatever leaders they choose, may hand amendments to Representative Dalrymple, the Chairman of the Elections and Apportionment Committee and ask that the bill be reported out for action.

Now we may be a bit selfish if our district loses a representative to which they are really not entitled under Constitutional provisions owing to a shift in population. I do not undertake a spanking of the members of this House, but I do maintain that we accept and undertake this responsibility. We in Delaware County are not represented fully. We are entitled to two more votes in this assembly on account of our large increase in population. Gentlemen, that is discrimination against those who are entitled to be represented. Even, and only a selfish stand would justify a few votes against this measure; added to the opposition perhaps might be those who may not be quite satisfied with the apportionment in their district. The remedy of the latter lies in agreement or amendments and with the former, I must disagree. This State and Nation was built upon the Constitutional form of Government. I urge, therefore, this House accept this responsibility and have this House Bill No. 458 reported out for proper consideration and action.

For the last fifteen years Republicans have complained that Constitutional Government is breaking down, a government of men and not law is edging its way along. Not since 1921 has this State been apportioned and we have contributed to this by ignoring the terms of our constitution and today we violate our oath by not assuming our responsibility. If now we are sincere in upholding our own Constitutional Government, lets abide by its provisions, action is the evidence, report out House Bill No. 458. Again, we in Delaware County want full representation.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. There will be a Republican Caucus immediately after the session today.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 542, Printer's No. 445, on page 2 of today's calendar, bills on second reading, which was passed over temporarily earlier in the session today.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 542, entitled:

An Act creating as bodies corporate and politic "Parking Authorities" in cities of the second class prescribing the rights powers and duties of such authorities authorizing such authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate parking projects to conduct research of the parking problem and to establish a permanent coordinated system of parking facilities and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such authorities empowering such authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government State political subdivisions of the State or any agency thereof exempting the property and securities of such parking authorities from taxation and conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. RICHTER offered the following amendment.

Amend Sec 2, page 4, lines 1 to 5 inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 6, by striking out the letter "(k)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(i)".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

QUESTION OF PARLIMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parlimentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments that were sent to my desk to House Bill 542, Printer's No. 445, amend about five sections of House Bill 542. Is it permissible to discuss all of the amendments or shall I discuss each amendment when the Speaker asks "shall the amendment be agreed upon?"

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may ask for unanimous consent of the House to discuss all of the amendments at one time to House Bill 542. If the House grants unanimous consent it will be permissible for the gentleman to discuss all of them at the same time. The Chair might say that it will save considerable time for the Members of the House if that is done.

Mr. BROWN. Mr Speaker, under that procedure the Clerk would have to read all of the amendments so that the Members of the House will know what we are talking about. Will that procedure be followed?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will direct the Clerk to read the amendments to all of the sections. They will not be acted upon until after the gentleman from Allegheny or other Members of the House have had an opportunity to discuss the amendments.

The Clerk will read the amendments.

Amend Sec. 3, page 5, line 10, by inserting after the word "desirable the following "Provided, That all such new construction shall be done only by private contractors and with competitive bidding."

Amend Sec. 5, page 10, line 2, by striking out the word "regularly".

Amend Sec. 5, page 10, line 4, by inserting after the word "service" the following "and shall not engage in the sale of any commodity of trade or commerce."

Amend Sec. 5, page 13, line 7, by striking out the words "or convenient".

Amend Sec. 9, page 23, line 11, by inserting after the word "domain" where it appears for the first time in said line, the following "Provided further That no presently existing above or below surface parking facilities shall be taken under the right of eminent domain."

Amend Sec. 9, page 23, line 13, by inserting after the word "class" the following "Provided, That in the exercise of the right of eminent domain the authority shall take into consideration and make allowances for and compensate for consequential damages."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Section 1?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the co-sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RICHTER. I shall, Mr. President.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny has asked in his amendments that lines one to five on page 4, which read as follows: "That adequate provision of properly located terminal space for automobiles is a public responsibility. That the parking problem is beyond remedy or control by regular processes and cannot be effectively dealt with by private enterprise" be deleted.

If these lines are deleted from this bill, is not the gentleman seriously interfering with the necessary expression of legislative intent which must go with any legislation giving to anybody the right of eminent domain, and does not the gentleman feel that he is seriously crippling this bill in that when you delete these words you do not have proper safeguards to express the legislative intent?

Mr. RICHTER. No. I do not, Mr. Speaker. I believe that on page 2, line 11, where it reads: "That the parking of vehicles is part of the public street service" constitute adequate grounds for this bill.

My reason for deleting these words referred to before as they appear on page 4, lines 1 to four, is simply because I do not believe that parking should become strictly a public operation. There are people in private enterprise there now and I believe that they should be permitted to remain there and the government should not take over their facilities and drive them out of business.

The purpose of this bill as I see it is to relieve the parking situation. I do not believe that an Authority by merely changing the existing facilities will help to solve the problem at all. The main thing here is to relieve the parking situation and not merely to change the management of those that already exist.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman believe that the expression of legislative intent in any bill giving the right of eminent domain should be broadly and clearly stated so that the intent can be clearly gotten from the text of the bill? Does the gentleman agree with that fundamental legal proposition?

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, I am not an attorney but I will agree with the gentleman. However, I think it is absolutely taken care of in this bill in another way.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the objection of the gentleman, he is deleting these lines one to five on page four because he feels that they will take somebody out of business, is that it?

Mr. RICHTER. I do, Mr. Speaker, and I feel that the lines are rather socialistic in their intent. I believe if they are incorporated into the law of this Commonwealth, they can lead to broader encroachment by government on private enterprise.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know as a legal proposition that the preamble or statement of legislative intent does not take anybody out of business and does not put anybody in business?

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know, but I want to make very sure that it does not.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have anyone that he can refer to and enlighten him: if he does not know?

Mr. RICHTER. How about my co-sponsor, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield to me to enlighten him, I will say that somebody has certainly misinformed him, unless this is put in for the one purpose of improperly expressing legislative intent, so that the whole bill can be declared unconstitutional.

I am at a loss, Mr. Speaker, because this is the first time in my Legislative career that I have witnessed where the cosponsors of a bill are at odds, and where amendments are sent to one sponsor forty-five minutes before the bill is called up, that are intricate and that will absolutely destroy the bill. It will take some time to go through all these amendments, and I hope that the House will bear with us because I believe this is one of the most important bills for the city of Pittsburgh, and one that I think is absolutely wrong. There is no question about that.

For that reason I am asking the House to bear with us so that I may complete my interrogation and get the intent of these amendments.

Mr. Speaker, I should like further to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the second amendment on page 5, line 10, reads as follows: "Provided that all new construction shall be done only by private contractors and with competitive bidding." As I understand the bill, the idea of competitive bidding is already in the bill, is that not right?

Mr. RICHTER. It is there, Mr. Speaker, but is there any harm in having it reiterated?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I asked the question, is it not true that competitive bidding is already in the bill.

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, competitive bidding is stated in the bill in the latter part, but I felt it should be included in the definition of current construction. There has been some controversy on the use of the word "construction". In other words, the Allegheny Conference on Community Development who are presenting this bill agree to the amendments for the simple reason that the way it has been written the Authority could at times increase their maintenance crews, their regular payroll and could construct their own buildings, which to my mind is wrong. I still do not want to see government entering too much into private enterprise, and I believe that private contractors have every right to bid on these contracts.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, then I understand from the gentleman that the parties responsible for this bill, the Allegheny Conference on Commuity Development, is in favor of this amendment, the amendment on page 5, line 10, is that correct?

Mr. RICHTER. They agreed to it, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, are they agreeable to the amendment just stated prior to this on page 4, lines 1 to 5?

Mr. RICHTER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, they are.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, are they agreed to all the amendments?

Mr. RICHTER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny mean to say that the Allegheny Conference on Community Development is agreeable to all his amendments?

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, I think I can honestly say that they are.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, as co-sponsor of this bill I was interested in the bill largely because of the people who are responsible for the bill. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter, tells me that these parties are agreeable to all these amendments. No such information has come to my desk. However, I want this clearly understood, I will take the word of the gentleman from Allegheny. I would only ask this, that I be allowed to discuss with them, either over the telephone or maybe by bringing somebody here to Harrisburg, to discuss some parts of these amendments, for I don't have such information. Would the gentlemen from Allegheny accord me that courtesy?

Mr. RICHTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the bill go over in order and that the Chair's decision be recalled.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter, withdraw his amendments at this time?

Mr. RICHTER. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richter, withdraws the amendments he has submitted to House Bill 542, Printer's No. 445.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will withdraw its decision as to the House agreeing to the first section.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no obpection

House Bill No. 542, Printer's No. 445,

was passed over at the request of Mr. RICHTER.

Mr. RICHTER. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of record, inasmuch as there seems to be some controversy between me and my co-sponsor on this bill, I believe that some of the history of this bill should be cleared up. In the first place———.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield for a moment? Does the gentleman ask unanimous consent of the House to address the House?

Mr. RICHTER. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RICHTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Back several months ago in Pittsburgh there was called together a meeting of the Democrats and Republicans, and officials of the city and county, also the representatives of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development, for the purpose of putting through this Legislature an integrated package of bills to promote and help the City of Pittsburgh. At that time we were asked to co-sponsor the bills. Also at that time there were no copies of the bills available. We all agreed that we would introduce them by request on a non-partisan basis. Fortunately or unfortunately my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and I drew this particular bill from the grab-bag. It was also the understanding at that time that although we would introduce the bills we were not bound to be for them. When I did receive a copy of House Bill 542, although I am very much in favor of the intent and purpose set forth in that bill, there were certain things about it that I personally did not advocate or pass upon. It seemed a little bit too socialistic to me; it seemed as though it was aiding government in proceeding against private business. It was for that purpose that I introduced my amendments.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of the record I would like it to show that when I called this bill (House Bill 542) up it was at the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. I conferred with his co-sponsor, Mr. Richter, and then it was upon agreement between both of them that the bill was called up for the purpose of considering amendments. I have no objection to the course that has been taken. I would say in behalf of Mr. Richter, that that was the course he wanted to pursue in the first instance, but it was at the request of the co-sponsor that I called the bill up.

HAROLD RUSSELL INTRODUCED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen of the Senate, we are honored today by the presence of a distinguished American, one who has done much for us. I have the pleasure of introducing to the members of the Senate and the guests here today Sergeant Harold Russell, a handless veteran, who is appearing in the motion picture "The Best Years of Our Lives." Sergeant Russell.

SERGEANT RUSSELL. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is a rare and great privilege to be able to say a few words to you gentlemen today. I think I have been a very lucky guy in the sense that my appearance in the picture, "The Best Years of Our Lives" has given me a great opportunity to speak for a lot of people who otherwise might not be able to speak for themselves.

In the last few months we have been traveling all over the country, visiting Veteran's hospital's, army and navy hospitals, crippled children's homes and hospitals and rehabilitation centers. We have seen what fine work the Veteran's Administration, the army and navy, are doing toward rehabilitation in their hospitals.

We are wondering if that same type program might not be made available to our disabled civilians who do not have the apportunities that the man who qualified to enter our army, navy and Veteran's hospitals have; we are wondering why there could not be great medical rehabilitation centers for use of both civilians and veterans in all our major cities, a program which would probably help take care of approximately 23,000,000 disabled Americans from one end of our country to the other.

We are sure that this program could be put into effect, which would mean a tremendous saving of life and a great help to industry and the health and rehabilitation of our people.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much, Sergeant Russell, four your inspiring message.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am sure I express the sentiments of the Pennsylvania Senate when we thank Sergeant Russell for his appearance here today. One can easily see, from the attitude he takes for others who are not as fortunate as he, in the position that they now enjoy, that he is unselfishly devoting his time that others might get whatever comfort they may be able to attain through the efforts of men like him.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I desire to join most heartily in the remarks made by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, in saying that I think we appreciate more than can be expressed in words, the very fine message which we heard from Sergeant Russell, and I trust that he may spread that message many times and much further, so that more good can be accomplishned.

We appreciate very much his being here and hope that he may come back some other time and be with us again.

MEMBERS OF GRADUATING CLASS, NEW OXFORD HIGH SCHOOL INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I wish to call attention to the members of the Senate at this time, the graduating class of the New Oxford High School, sitting on my left, under the direction of Mr. Ivan R. Mechtly. It is the senior class of the New Oxford, Adams County High School.

I have always wanted to get up and have the pleasure of introducing to the Senate members of a school from my district, but they are just too far away, so after talking it over with my good friend, Senator Crider, I take the honor now to present to the Senate the graduating class of the New Oxford High School.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Senators the Chair welcomes to the Senate the members of the graduating class of the New Oxford High School and trusts they will enjoy their visit here.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY VISITORS INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, this afternoon we are honored by the presence in the Senate of the Honorable Charles Fetterhoof, President Judge of the Courts of Huntingdon County, and with him are Mr. Charles Fetterolf and Mr. Ralph Volpe, of Huntingdon county.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair welcomes to this session of the Senate the distinguished visitor from Huntingdon County.

VISITORS FROM COOPERSBURG INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN Mr. President, I want at this time to direct to the attention of the Senate a very distinfiuished group of citizens from Coopersburg, Pennsylvania, who are members of the Coopersburg Lions Club, seated on our right.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair also welcomes to the Senate members of the Lions Club of Coopersburg and would say to you that if we had time we would like to hear you roar, but we will have some of that ourselves later.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, Senator Jaspan and I join with the Philadelphia Inquirer in expressing disapproval of silt conditions on the Schuylkill River which the Philadelphia Inquirer has forcefully pointed out in an article which appeared on Tuesday, April 29, and I quote.

"When does the silt reach Philadelphia?"—These are not photographs, of mountains or hills these are just masses of silt—"These photograph, typical of a sheaf of desolating pictures made in a three-day survey by the Inquirer, Show how rotting, man-made mountains of culm and silt; choke the headwaters of the Schuylkill and pour silt into the river, which eventually deposits the black muck at the mouth of the Schuylkill in Philadelphia."

Conditions on the Schuylkill undoubtedly are extremely dangerous today and something must be done immediately to correct them. It was hoped that when the Brunner Bill was passed and enacted into law, the coal operators would comply with the law, but unfortunately they are flouting the pledges made by them to clean up the river and build silt basins and more important, they are violating the laws of the Commonwealth in delibertely dumping silt into our streams. We wonder whether they are exempt from the provisions of the law.

In view of the shocking revelations made by the Philadelphia Inquirer, it becomes increasingly important that the Water Sanitary Board and the Attorney General take immediate steps to abate the nuisance and further prosecute the violators of the Brunner law. We dare not delay. We also have a duty to perform to see that our laws are enforced.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Jaspan and myself, I offer the following resolution:

RESOLUTION

ATTORNEY GENERAL AND SANITARY WATER BOARD TO START PROCEEDINGS TO ABATE THE FLOW OF SILT INTO PENNSYLVANIA STREAMS AND MAKE A REPORT OF THEIR PROGRESS TO SENATE IN THIRTY DAYS

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DiSILVESTRO and JASPEN, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish:

In the Senate, April 30, 1947.

In 1937, the LaRue Pure Streams Act was passed and it was believed that stream pollution would at last be ended.

However, during the years that followed, the question arose as to whether the act was intended to cover coal silt. To eliminate that question the Philadelphia Inquirer began a pictorial and editorial campaign against coal silt in the Schuylkill River and Governor Duff who was then Attorney General, not only made it his official duty to put an end to that question, but dedicated himself to the problem and staked his political future on insisting that coal silt shall cease to flow into clean water streams that were used by the public. Only as a result of his courageous and persistent demands was the Brunner bill for the purification of Pennsylvania streams enacted into the laws of this Commonwealth.

Under the Brunner Act of 1945, the prosecution for violations was centered in the office of the Attorney General with the courts of common pleas having jurisdiction in the county where water pollution was taking place. The act prohibited the dumping of silt and acid mine draining into clear water devoted to public use. It also gave the State Sanitary Water Board power to define water purity standards and to determine available equipment. Fines of $100 to $5,000 and jail terms up to one year for non-compliance, were provided.

Through the recent investigation of the Philadelphia Inquirer, it was discovered that the coal mine operators were again violating the law and were apparently indifferent to the further and continued polluting of the streams.

Hundreds of tons of slimy coal silt continue to flow every day into the wrecked remnants of the Schuylkill River and start their journey towards the culm-choked mouth of the river at Philadelphia.

That a situation like this can no longer be a matter of debate. It is a matter that requires immediate and drastic legal action; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General and the Sanitary Water Board shall immediately initiate proceedings to abate the flow of coal silt into the streams of Pennsylvania and to prosecute vigoriously the offenders who are presently responsible for the flow of coal silt into the streams; and be it further

Resolved, That the Attorney General of Pennsylvania and the Sanitary Water Board shall file within thirty days a written report with the Senate, setting forth the proceedings which they have initiated and the success or failure thereof.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCARLETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr, SCARLETT. Mr. President, oleomargine in this session of the General Assembly has become more or less of a "hot" subject.

But the heat applied by big interests and those who seek special privileges has not melted either oleo or butter to the point of cooling my determination to protect the rights of the consumers of both products.

I have been looking into the facts that make oleo a hot subject. I have run across some ugly information and damaging records. I feel it is my duty to tell you the facts. Some are not pleasant.

As you know, a new oleomargine bill has been introduced in the Senate. It is Senate Bill 644, sponsored by Senator Heyburn.

Members of the Senate and the public at large have a right to know why this bill has been presented for consideration of the General Assembly.

There appear to be many who would like to see all legislation on oleomargarine wiped from the state statues. I say that would be dangerous. Not only dangerous, but it would be a calamity for both buyers and sellers of oleomargarine.

Existing Pennsylvania laws governing the distribution and sale of oleomargarine are stringent. There is reason for that. The main reason is not so much for the benefit of the farmer, as claimed by certain groups, as it is for the benefit of the consumer.

Senate Bill 644 represents legislation that the Commonwealth needs and must have. It tells what oleomargarine is. It prohibits sale of oleo when colored yellow in imitation of butter. It does not prohibit manufacturers from giving it any other color than yellow.

Senate Bill 644 provides a relatively insignificant license fee of $5 for manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, hotels restaurants and boarding houses alike. No distinctions are drawn. The license fee is less than that levied by the Federal Government.

There are two chief reasons why a license is necessary: |1. to better enforce provisions of the law, and (2) to enable the Commonwealth to know who is handling the product and keep unscrupulous dealers out of the business as a matter of protection to the public. Both are vitally important, as I shall soon point out.

Some have interpreted this new law to demand that retailers of oleomargarine make lengthy reports to the Commonwealth. That is not true. Retailers make no reports to anyone. The bill rightfully requires that they merely maintain records of the amounts purchased from their wholesalers. Before I have finished I shall explain why this is desirable and necessary.

Senate Bill 644 favors retailers in other respects. No longer will your grocer need wrap plain paper around a package of oleo and stamp his name and address thereon unless he digs it out of a tub and sells in bulk. This bill eliminates reports of violations to the county courts by constables; eliminates prosecutions by individuals, and eliminates undue posting of signs and placards in stores where oleo is sold.

I have no quarrel with oleomargarine as such and when sold as such. Neither has the State Council of Farm Organizations which represents 100,000 Pennsylvania farmers. When the consumer buys butter he wants butter. When he buys oleo he wants to know that it is oleo. But it is not fair to have him exposed to buying oleo when he thinks he is buying butter.

The only basic provisions of the proposed new oleo law are that the Commonwealth have knowledge of where the product is being sold in order that consumers may be protected from fraud and deception, that oleo be sold for what it really is, and not substituted for another product.

In no way does the Heyburn Bill restrict the sale of oleomargarine. Rather, it greatly broadens the scope of sales. It protects retailers from becoming unknowing accomplices of crooks and racketeers.

Anyone who believes there can be no fraud in dealing in oleomargarine in these United States need only look up the records of the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue. They are jammed with reports of case after case where disgusting practices of known criminals have resulted in the foisting of an inferior product upon an unsuspecting public.

The most glaring cases that I have reviewed where consumers are being cheated are in the states where state regulation is limited to color restrictions. Fleecing of the public does not usually occur in states where outlets are licensed.

Consumers should not let moneyed special interests and pressure groups fool them. They are not fooling me in my efforts to do what I believe is proper for the protection of the people of Pennsylvania.

Internal Revenue records are full of cases where fraud and deception have been practiced by unscrupulous persons, known criminals and racketeers. Such persons have been caught red-handed, operating in cellars, caves, old barns, garages and all kind of filthy places, under conditions of insanitation that are revolting. They have used washing machines, battered tin tubs, wash boilers and all sorts of containers for mixing color in oleo. Some even worked renovated butter into their mixtures.

And out of such equipment there has come a product which was put up in flashy blue and gold cartoons carrying such false labels as "Quality Butter" and on other cartons, "Country Butter".

These are all facts contained in public records. They are not dated 40 or 50 years ago. They are of recent occurrence. These and other facts relating to this vile practice can be verified in court records by anyone who is sufficiently interested to dig up the real facts on this whole subject.

These records expose colossal profits obtained by such operations. It is a tempting racket with a product easily manipulated by the simplest methods.

I could go on giving case after case where thousands of consumers have been defrauded of thousands of dollars of hard-earned cash and duped with so-called "Bargain Butter." Sad to relate, most of those struck hardest with such brazen fraud are laborers and families in the low income brackets.

Fraud in oleo does not originate with the legitimate manufacturer. It usually takes place in distribution channels. That is why we must have legislation that clearly identifies the points of distribution and enables the Commonwealth to do its duty in the protection of legitimate manufacturers, dealers and consumers alike.

Licensing stops the illegal operator. This bill does not create any hardship or restrict the sale of oleomargarine when sold as legal oleomargarine. It encourages such sales, but discourages illegal sales.

Selfish outside interests may try to influence unsuspecting persons and gain their support for the elimination of proper safeguards for all citizens of Pennsylvania, dealers and consumers alike. For these pressure groups to succeed in hoodwinking this Senate is unthinkable. It must not happen here.

Pennsylvania has several special commodity food laws which were requested and are supported wholeheartedly by their respective industries, including butter, cream, ice cream, lard, meat, milk, eggs, oysters, sausage, soft drinks, bakery products, coffee and chicory. The general food law is not sufficient to do the full job with these other foods. Neither can it fully provide for emergencies that can arise in the unlicensed distribution and sale of oleomargarine.

I have no special interest other than when a consumer wants oleo he is entitled to get it, and when a housewife buys butter she is equally entitled to get pure, unadulterated butter—not oleomargarine in disguise.

It has been said that present Pennsylvania laws discriminate against oleomargarine and that the Heyburn Bill places a "stigma" on oleomargarine as a food. Because oleomargarine so readily can be sold as real butter, it is automatically placed in a different class as a food product.

Bread is bread, pickles are pickles, apples are apples, and there are no products that can be made in imitation of any one of them and be passed off as the real thing. Yes, oleomargarine is in a class by itself. It has had special legislation for half a century. It still needs and must have special licensing legislation to prevent fraud and deception.

I say in all sincerity—let us keep oleomargarine the clean, sanitary product that it is claimed to be. Let us make it more readily available to all who wish to purchase it. Let us give full and proper protection to all consumers and legitimate dealers and have them always able to sell it for what it really is. Let us not expose our housewives and our children to the dangers of "moonshine butter" and the gyping by racketeers here in Pennsylvania.

I am heartly in favor of special legislation that will protect all of us, that will protect the consumer and the legitimate dealer in oleomargarine. The Heyburn Bill offers such protection. It warrants your full support. No member of this Senate who has the best interests of his constituency at heart can afford to vote against this bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am very much surprised and really shocked to hear a member of the Senate get up and state that oleomargarine is being marketed in Pennsylvania by racketeers. The manufacturers who are producing oleomargarine in America are nearly as old as America itself. Some of the concerns, from a financial standpoint, are of the highest reliability.

To say that this law must be passed, which is practically a nuisance tax to discourage people from selling oleomargarine, and say that it must be passed to help and protect the people of Pennsylvania from racketeers selling oleomargarine, then we put into that class every wholesale grocer, every retailer, some of them who are old as Pennsylvania, companies that are as old as Pennsylvania itself.

Oleomargarine has been proven by tests by all the laboratories, including the butter trust laboratories, as being a wholesome product and one which contains all the vitamins contained in butter.

When he states that oleomargarine can be sold across the counter as butter, the gentleman knows there are laws protecting us against such practices. We have the Pure Food Law, which has control over the manufacture of oleomargine, and when you consider the millions of dollars which are being spent each year in national publications and over the radio to sell certain grades of oleomargarine, certainly these manufacturers are not going to throw this money away and substitute butter for the product on which they have spent so much to bring it before the public.

To say that fraud and deception is being practiced by those selling oleomargarine is hitting way below the belt. If any of these things exist, there are existing laws to place those people under the jurisdiction of the courts and sentence them accordingly. To say that in the prosecutions for Pure Food Law violations that more exist concerning oleomargarine than any other type of food that is sold, I say to you that is a gross exaggeration. Many a man who produces butter today has labeled it many a time wrongly. They are selling that over the counter too as grade A when it is not a grade A butter, and getting high prices. We have a law to correct that too.

We do not need another law here, just to confuse users of oleomargarine, and it is unfair to stand up here and try and tell the people of Pennsylvania that oleomargarine is poison or unclean, or not made under proper manufactoring conditions, or that it should be sold uncolored, when we color butter itself. Butter is colored and there are also certain ingredients added to butter to make a different tasting butter. There is a lot of difference between butter coming right out of a churn and the butter we buy over the counter.

I say to you that this is an attack which I think is wholly unwarranted, it is an attack on industries which are just as good and substantial as any other industry in America, the manufacturers of oleomargarine; and those who are trying to curb the sale of oleomargarine are the same people who tried time and time again to have laws passed that oleomargarine should be colored green before it would be allowed to be sold. It is a long story about oleomargarine in America, a long fight against butter trust. I might also say to the gentleman, for his information, that thousands and thousands of pounds of butter are brought into Pennsylvania; producers on the farms can not begin to make enough butter for the users of butter in Pennsylvania.

I think this is a very unfair attack against a good honest industry and a smoke-screen and a smear, just to confuse the people when they buy oleomargarine, that they are buying inferior products and one which may be poisonous to the user.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FARRELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, my remarks will be few, because when this bill comes up for final passage, not No. 644 but No. 190, which does propose to abolish the oleomargine law, I am going to have a lot more to say.

I would just like to call your attention, Mr. President, to a few things. I would like to call your attention to a telegram I just opened while the speech-making was going on. It is from Pittsburgh and it says "Louis H. Farrell, House of Representatives. Legislative Council of Western Pennsylvania comprising twenty-five thousand members urges removal of all restriction to permit the free manufacture and sale of oleomargarine." It is signed by the secretary.

I have a communication from an organization which says they represent seventy thousand women. I just want to call your attention to what the Philadelphia Bulletin said last Saturday on its editorial page. The Bulletin is a pretty fair paper and it says—I will not quote the entire article but I would like just to quote this part of it:

"If the public should vote on the issue it surely would favor the Farrell Bill. It knows oleo from butter and when it wants oleo it wants to be able to buy it without expense and trouble."

Mr. President, I would like also to call your attention to a communication which I just opened here—I have received hundreds of letters on this matter, but this communiation is from Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, and it just came in. It says "the business and professional women's club of Waynesboro want action on abolition of margarine restrictions."

I also have here a communiation, Mr. President, from the Pennsylvania Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, representing twenty-four hundred members, which is to the same effect.

That is what I want to put over to you folks. While you are all home during the week-end I want you to read the Reader's Digest—I am not advertising the Bulletin or the Reader's Digest, but they do have some pretty good news and pretty substantial news.

In the Reader's Digest of May, 1947, page 27, there is an article of three pages on margarine, which I wish you would all read, and there is one thing particularly that I want to quote now. It says "butter and margarine both contain eighty per cent fat." It says "isn't it time to wipe this sixty year old nonsense off the nation's law books."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCARLETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I have not attempted to say that margarine is not a pure food. It is a pure food. It so happens that it is made from the best of importations from other countries, such as the Phillipines, Cuba, South America and Africa. None of it, however, happens to be produced in the United States.

I expected that the women's clubs would attack this measure, because the originator of the opposition, in a conversation with me, advised me that he had seven hundred envelopes addressed to women's clubs throughout the state of Pennsylvania, and he expected to turn them loose. That is all right. I have no fault to find with that. I have no fault to find with the sale and consumption of margarine, but I do have fault to find with a product that is a colored imitation of butter. With the remaval of these restrictions, any restaurant, hotel or eating place in the State of Pennsylvania could serve margarine unknown to the hotel or restaurant itself. That I do not think is right. I think the people in this state are entitled to better protection.

As I said before, there have been comparatively few violations in the State of Pennsylvania and that is because of the regulations which we have had. Eighty some per cent of the violations come from states that do not have a restrictive licensing law. There is a movement on foot, not by these regular manufacturers, the large manufacturers, but by those who purchase this product from those manufacturers, from those jobbers, to color it and wrap it and sell it as butter.

I see no reason why any consumer or any retailer should object to the Heyburn bill. I can see why a jobber might object to it, yet I can hardly see that he is put to much trouble because he necessarily has to make a report to the federal government once a month. The report to the State of Pennsylvania is similar and simply requires that an additional sheet be placed under the carbon and that copy be furnished to the State of Pennsylvania.

The purpose, the real purpose, the only purpose of this licensing law is that violators can be more easily traced. It would be rather a difficult job to trace violators if the officers were not able to visit the distributors, I mean the wholesalers, and obtain from them certain information as to the distribution of the product. I think also that such a law would be for the benefit of the distributor. It would take away from him the suspicion which certainly he is placed under now. It cannot be denied that there is an attempt to disguise oleomargarine. Someone has said there have been suggestions that they color oleomargarine green. I suppose that was for the purpose of pointing out to the purchaser that it was margarine and not butter, because, so far as I know, there has not been produced any green butter.

I again say that this bill is for the protection of every citizen of the State of Pennsylvania. Other surrounding states which have not had this protection now have in their legislatures bills to give them the protection that we have had and which we are asking for now.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. RAHAUSER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the enate.

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, some time ago, in bringing this matter before the Senate, I said that the laws were some forty years out of date. While I have the most sincere regard for the gentleman from Chester, I beg to differ with him about the origin of the production of oleomargarine in the state of Pennsylvania. It probably once was true, that margarine was manufactured from substances imported into this country.

In a statement made by Dr. Hugh H. Darby, of the American Cookery Institution, he says as follows:

"At one time a good percentage of the vegetable oils were obtained in various parts of the world, and therefore some competing manufacturers were able to raise the point that this constituted the favoring of foreign agriculture in contrast to our own national agriculture."

And I may remark today that for forty years this act was an act well established for the protection of our domestic agriculture.

However, he goes on and sa

"It is for this reason that Texas put a special tax on margarine made from foreign vegetable oils.

"Today, however, soybean and cottonseed oil produced in the United States are the major ingredients of all margarine. In buying margarine today, and we are only writing of today, we are supporting our own farmers on our own soil. Therefore, if there remains any old ideas about the origin of margarine, they should be completely revised. To do otherwise would be an injustice to our soybean and cottonseed farmer of today."

Some time ago, when I stated the content of margarine, I cited the fourteen million pounds of whole milk that went into the production of margarine and I cited likewise that this constituted some fourteen per cent of the ingredients used in margarine, and that this was the product of Pennsylvania farms.

I would like to read also for the thoughtful consideration of this body something that is said in the Reader's Digest. My colleague, Senator Farrell, said you should read this over the week-end but in order that it might not be neglected by somebody, I want to read these few remarks.

"The nutritive values of butter and margarine have been argued at great length. Several points are conceded by both sides. Butter and margarine are both 80 per cent fat. Both contain Vitamin A; butter naturally, margarine by fortification. Butter's Vitamin A content varies with the season. Dairymen claim it runs from 9,000 units per pound in winter to 20,000 in summer. The law requires no guarantees or minimum standards.

"On the other hand, 99 per cent of all margarine made in the United States for human consumption is fortified with at least 9,000 units per pound and most with 15,000 or more. Margarine is subject to test for its Vitamin A content."

I will not take any more time of the Senate except that I would like, beginning with next week, to have a better prepared statement in answer to our worthy colleague from Chester.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I just have a few words to say in answer to the gentleman from Chester.

For years in America western farmers opposed oleomargarine and the largest lobbies were from the western and mid-western states. Today the farmers of these states have found out that by growing soybeans they can make more money than they ever made before and, as you know, soybeans are used in the production of oleomargarine.

I just want to have this clear, because I do not want the people to be confused and think that the material going into margarine is all imported. It is not. It is one of the most profitable products of the middle west and western farms, the soybean.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCARLETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCARLETT. I agree, Mr. President, with most that the gentleman has said. I again say oleomargarine is a wholesome food. I know that. I have looked well into the subject and I think I know just what I am talking about along that line.

There are no restrictions on the method of selling or distributing margarine in this bill, with the exception of making a record as to where it goes.

I was not aware that so much cottonseed oil was being used in margarine at the preesnt time, because some margarine manufacturers have told me that it was not. In any event there is not, as far as I know, a pound of margarine being manufactured in the State of Pennsylvania.

Again I say margarine is a good wholesome food, it should be distributed, it should be properly distributed, it should be made available to any one who desires to use it—and I use it myself occasionally and I like it—but I do think there should be restrictions placed on this product, only to the extent of a $5 license, so that the policing departments of the pure food law authorities of the United States and the state of Pennsylvania can find it more easy to locate offenders.

Again I say the bill is for the protection of the people. It permits them to buy a lower priced product, but it would not permit the racketeer to buy that lower priced product at twenty or twenty-five cents a pound, color it, re-label it and sell it for sixty-five cents a pound.

The farmers of the state of Pennsylvania are making no objection. They simply are interested, with the rest of the people, in knowing that it is sold as margarine. There would be no way at all to detect the sale of this product if it was not so handled. I think our women and our children are entitled to that protection and I am more and more heartily in favor of this legislation.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, as you all know, I have the privilege of residing in the fairest city in America, the city of brotherly love, fair in very many things; I have the honor of representing the largest senatorial district in America, with 412,000 population, and I am happy of my associations and happy about my city in all things but one.

For many years, Mr. President, I have been irked and annoyed by one condition which exists in the city of Philadelphia. We have many meetings in my senatorial district where we like to have the honor and privilege of having the Mayor of Philadelphia come and talk to us.

Since the Act of 1999, the Charter Bill of Philadelphia, for some reason in that bill the mayor was taken out of the category of all the other mayors in America and he became nothing but a private citizen when he went to meetings, he was not a politician, he had no political rights, and in fact, it was a crime for the mayor to indicate that he was a Republican, and I have always been irked by that. Nowhere in America does such a condition exist.

Without consulting anyone, and upon my own initiative, I thought that condition ought to be corrected and I now present to the Chair a bill which, if enacted into law, will restore to the Mayor of Philadelphia that citizenship which he ought to have.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, may I point out to the Senator from Philadelphia that he said the Act of 1999. I believe, Mr. President, it was an act of 1919.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, if I said the Act of 1999 I ask to have it corrected. If his ears are bad I ask him to have the wax taken out.

Mr. JASPAN. Don't forget you put the wax in my ears.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 7, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one and four of the act approved the twenty-eight day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 793) entitled "An act authorizing counties of the second class to regulate the production of smoke from chimneys smokestacks or other source including provisions for the payment of inspection and certificates of compliance fees incident thereto authorizing the expenditure of money for the employment of persons and the acquisition of property for effectuating such regulations and providing penalties for the violation thereof" removing exemption regarding railroad and locomotives and changing the effective date

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Sections one and four of the act approved the twenty-eight day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 793) entitled "An act authorizing counties of the second class to regulate the production of smoke from chimneys smokestacks or other source including provisions for the payment of inspection and certificates of compliance fees incident thereto authorizing the expenditure of money for the employment of persons and the acquisition of property for effectuating such regulations and providing penalties for the violation thereof" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Counties of the second class shall have the power by resolution or ordinance to regulate the production or emission of smoke from any chimney smokestack or other source [except railroad locomotives] within such county Said regulations may include provisions for the payment of fees for examination of plans and issuing of permits for inspection of fuel-burning devices and issuing certificates of compliance with such regulations and providing for fines and penalties as hereinafter set forth for the violation of any such regulation The boards of commissioners of counties of the second class shall have discretion to determine the effective date of any resolution or ordinances promulgated by them pursuant to this act and in making such determination shall take into consideration the availability of fuel burning devices suitable for burning high volatile bituminous coal smokelessly

Section 4 This act shall become effective [six (6) months after the cessation of the war in which the United States is now engaged] immediately upon the final enactment of these amendments

Section 2 If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid the remainder of this act and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby and to this end the provisions of this act are declared to be severable

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I know from experience that anything I may say upon the floor of the Senate will not change a vote on this bill.

However, since the bill is on third reading and final passage, I believe that we should have some facts with regard to the administration of the same. I would have preferred to interrogate Senator Walker, but in view of his absence I would like to interrogate his co-partner, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, Senator Barr is not a co-partner of Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. He is not here to deny it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to ask Senator Barr what would be the average cost of installing smoke control apparatus in indivilual homes in Allegheny County.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this bill has nothing to do with that. This bill amends the Act of 1943, which gave the county commissioners of Allegheny County the power, it is a permissive act, allowing them to pass resolutions or "Regulate the production or emission of smoke from any chimney, smokestack or other source," and in the Act of 1943 we excepted railroad locomotives. The only thing done under this bill is to take out those three words "except railroad locomotives" to which the railroads have agreed. They said they wanted to be regulated and I think if they say they want to be regulated we ought to go along with them

Mr. LANE. Senator Barr, do not the provisions of this bill grant the county commissioners of Allegheny County the right to regulate smoke?

Mr. BARR. That is correct.

Mr. LANE. Does it not also grant them the right to enact ordinances which would make it mandatory for the good citizens of your county to install smoke control apparatus in their homes?

Mr. BARR. They have that right now, Mr. President. For the information of the gentleman from Washington we have a smoke control ordinance which is in operation in the city of Pittsburgh at present.

Mr. LANE. Then, Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny what would be the cost or what is the cost of installing smoke control apparatus in each individual home?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think that has anything to do with this bill, but I will answer the gentleman's interrogation by saying that there are different ways of handling it. In other words, if you burn high volatile coal it does cost, I think, $2 more a ton, but you do not use nearly as much of that coal and, secondly there is an enormous saving to the housewife and the person who has to pay the cleaning bills.

Mr. LANE. Senator Barr, according to the newspapers, city council will enforce the smoke control ordinance in Pittsburgh as of October 1, Is that correct?

Mr. BARR. That is correct, whether this act is passed or not; this is a county smoke provision.

Mr. LANE. Is the equipment available?

Mr. BARR. As I read the bill, Senator Lane, "the Boards of Commissioners of counties of the second class shall have discretion to determine the effective date of any resolution or ordinances promulgated by them pursuant to this act, and in making such determination shall take into consideration the availability of fuel burning devices suitable for burning high volatile bituminous coal smokelessly." That is an amendment to this bill which was added after the bill was introduced in the House of Representatives which we are willing to accept.

Mr. LANE. What would be the effect of the smoke control bill in regard to the bituminous coal market in Western Pennsylvania? What would they lose?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, they would not lose anything. I know in Allegheny county the coal mines there can not produce nearly the amount of coal that Western Pennsylvania should have, for use right there in Allegheny county alone and, as I told the gentleman, in this bill you will only except railroad locomotives and they use only two per cent of the coal that is burned.

Mr. LANE. Is it not a fact that the provisions of this bill outlaw the use of high volatile coal in the city of Pittsburgh and the county of Allegheny?

Mr. BARR. No, Mr. President, that is not true. It depends on what device you use with it. If you burn low volatile coal, if you use a certain kind of stoker, I think you can use high volatile coal.

Mr. LANE. So that you admit, Senator Barr, that it is absolutely necessary to install smoke control apparatus in the individual homes.

Mr. BARR. No, Mr. President, I do not admit that. I admit there are several ways it can be done. A lot of people use heating oil, a lot of people use gas and then there are those that heat with hard coal and there are some advantages to each of those fuels.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it is apparent from the interrogation here today that we do not know just where we are going. However, I would like to read into the record, so that we can refer to it in the future, a news item that appeared in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette today, which has the heading, "Easier Smoke Rules Rejected by Council. Retail Coal Group Insists Confusion is Widespread." The article then reads as follows:

"City council has turned thumbs down on a request by the Retail Coal Merchants Association to 'soften' up smoke abatement regulation which go into effect October 1.

"J. Don Horner, president of the RCMA, conferred with Council President Thomas Kilgallen on Monday as to the possibilities of modifying regulations to allow the use of high-volatile coal in stoves after the October deadline.

"Council and Mayor Lawrence immediately went into a huddle and came up with the decision that 'modifications will be considered if an emergency arises and not before.'

"SPEAKS OF HARDSHIP

"The essence of Mr. Horner's argument was that the change from high-volatile to low-volatile coal would work too much of a hardship on the people and that there 'is a wide feeling of confusion about enforcement.'

"'We believe in a smoke abatement,' said Mr. Horner. 'But we believe in a sensible approach to the problem or it will fall of its own weight.'

"'Normally we sell between 500,000 and 600,000 tons of coal in the Pittsburgh district during the summer. But today, people are afraid to buy the regular coal for fear they won't be able to use it and are afraid to buy the low-volatile coal for fear it won't work.

"SAYS SLACK RUNS HIGH

"'True, a sufficient supply of low-volatile run-of-the-mine coal can be obtained from Central Pennsylvania but it is 70 to 80 per cent slack.

"'We have had trouble with it. Some customers have refused to pay for it after it had been dumped in their cellars. Johnstown uses almost low-volatile coal exclusively and yet it is one of the dirtiest cities in Pennsylvania.

"Mr. Horner went on to explain that Pittsburghers have been accustomed to the very highest grade prepared coal and that it will take them some time to learn to use low-volatile coal.

"'It is very difficult to burn it in stoves,' he said. "It also has a tendency to burn out grate bars.'

"Mr. Kilgallen said he doubted that confusion existed and said that council and the mayor were confident the 'skies over Pittsburgh would be clear in 1948.'"

As we go merrily on our way legislating industry out of Western Pennsylvania, and coal miners out of work, I want this in the record, that this bill is going to pass, it is going to be enacted into law, because the leadership on both sides are back of it, but I will have the opportunity to stand here and tell you "I told you so" in the years to come, and I reiterate my statement that I made before, that smoke control in Western Pennsylvania is ridiculous and fantastic, because we are the heavy industrial section of the state. Western Pennsylvania depends upon the coal and the steel industry and it is going to hurt, regardless of any statement to the contrary.

And so, in conclusion, I say I have brought this to the attention of the members of the Senate time and time again and I will continue to oppose it, because I feel that we are taking a step in the wrong direction.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, sometimes one is called to rise in his place whether he wants to or not. I just heard the gentleman from Washington read into the record a statement—I do not know who the author was—that Johnstown is one of the dirtiest cities in Pennsylvania. I certainly resent that statement, coming from that direction. I think Johnstown is far from being the dirtiest city in Pennsylvania and the man who wrote that story should come to Johnstown and spend a few days there with us.

Secondly, Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, as I read the first part of this bill it states very specifically that the county commissioners shall have, at their own discretion, the right to set the date this act shall become effective and then, at the bottom of the same page, line 17, page 34, section 3, we find the following wording "the provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment."

What I want to know is shall this bill become effective upon final enactment or do the county commissioners have the right to set that date.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, as I understand the bill, and I suffer from some lack of knowledge as to the detailed question the gentleman from Cambria asks, but as I understand this bill it is merely a bill which empowers the county commissioners to enact the kind of regulation they want relative to the smoke nuisance. I take it, Mr. President, that the effective date of the bill is now when it becomes a law, when the Governor shall sign it, and thereafter, any Board of County Commissioners, pursuant thereto, could make regulations which may become effective upon passage of such resolutions by the various municipalities.

Mr. HALUSKA. Thank you, Mr. Tallman.

Mr. President, we are going back into the same rut where once again we find ourselves delegating legislative powers to various individual groups. It has always been my impression that this Legislature could not delegate legislative powers to other groups in the Commonwealth. This is not the first time in this session, but the third or fourth time, that we have been called upon to vote for such ridiculous measures.

I must uphold my colleague from Washington County, when he questioned the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, as to what it might cost to install these smoke devices. I recall so vividly in my mind back in 1938, when the then candidate, Arthur James, came to my town and pointed toward our mines and said "if I am elected Governor the smoke shall fly from those stacks again." Not only in Cambria County did he say it, but he mentioned it in Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Philadelphia and elsewhere. We were hoping he was right. The smoke did fly.

Now we find ourselves going in the opposite direction they are telling us the smoke must cease flying. What de we face? Nothing but an invitation to gas and fuel oils to replace coal.

I realize that this bill was passed in 1943, but I also realize that under this bill now the county commissioners of Pittsburgh have the right to state what shall be used what the type may be, they must be installed in these private homes and these industries, and any further cost placed upon the coal consumer will definitely make that consumer turn to fuel oil and we shall regret our action, gentlemen, in days to come. Once this bill becomes effective in Pittsburgh it will come to Johnstown, Altoona, Williamsport and elsewhere. It is a small cancer and a cancer is bound to kill you. There is no cure for cancer and I say to you this is a cancer and each and every one of us will feel the effects of it in the days to come.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think my colleagues, Senator Lane and Senator Haluska, are trying to start a fire with just a little smoke. This bill would merely amend an act passed here unanimously in 1943, where we excepted railroad locomotives, and now we are removing that exception.

Senator Haluska talked about delegating legislative power. In the city of Pittsburgh we have the power through ordinance, to regulate smoke. Naturally winds do blow and smoke follows the wind, and what good is it to have our smoke ordinance if the surrounding municipalties in greater Allegheny county do not have similar smoke ordinances? In other words it is just a waste of time.

These gentlemen that Senator Lane quoted, from the Retail Coal Merchants Association, they came to call on me and they gave me much the same story; they have been before city council and they have had the same story up there some ten or twelve times and I think they timed their last call on city council very well, knowing this bill was going to be acted upon today.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, I am only going to take a moment of the time of the Senate to explain my position and the reason for my vote.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that the question of the use of high volatile or low volatile coal is just a method of trying to get rid of the coal tar—well, I think "tar" is a pretty good thing myself.

Fayette county is one of the largest producers of soft coal in the Commonwealth and it is my firm belief that if this bill does become a law that the production of coal in my county will be cut to such an extent that thousands of men will be put out of work. I can remember in Fayette county when there was no smoke. I can remember back some fifteen years ago when practically everyone in the Commonwealth was crying for smoke, because smoke meant industry and industry meant pay.

Mr. President, Fayette county produces only high volatile coal, and I am going to vote "no" on this bill because I believe that in so voting I am going to best serve both industry and labor in my county. I am not asking anyone, as I know it will be useless, to vote against this bill with me, but I want my vote recorded because I think in voting "no" I will best serve the interests of all Fayette county.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, how is the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Walker, recorded as voting on this bill?

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Senator Walker, is not recorded as having voted.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER, MR. DENT

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, due to conditions over which I have no control, I will not be able to be present at the session tomorrow, but I have a message I want to deliver to the Senate, relative to some of the tax bills, and that was the reason I asked that these tax bills go over in their order, to delay action on them, so that any information that I might request, if at all possible, would be available for me.

I have some information at my command—I do not want to vouch for the veracity of it—but I request that the Republican Floor Leader try and get for me, if he can possibly do so, and for the information of the rest of the Senate, the amount of money that will be raised by the so-called soft drinks tax.

I have searched the records and find, from information received from Washington, D. C., that for the last year available the gross business done by the soft drinks people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was $25,000, 000. Based upon a twenty per cent tax this would give to the State Treasury of Pennsylvania approximately $5,000,000 in taxes which would add up to about $10,000,000 in the biennium.

The Governor, in his budget message, stated that this tax would raise $38,000,000 or a twenty per cent tax on $190,000,000 total worth of business.

I want to point out to the members of the Senate that if we are basing our appropriations and our estimates of governmental costs for the next biennium upon this estimate of revenue, I suggest to the members that they interrogate the budget directors to the point of finding out whether or not the amount of money estimated will be raised or upon what figures he bases this estimation.

Mr. President, if history repeats the story of the only state in the union that now has this tax, it would tell us that the estimate of $38,000,000 is way out of range. South Carolina, in its best year, has only been able to have a return of $4,000,000 for a biennium.

I submit to the Senate that before we place this imposition upon the people of the Commonwealth, let us find out whether or not it will do as it has been suggested it will do.

Mr. President, I have before me a long treatise written by a person who represents a very profound group of citizens, who believe that passing this bill, in the first instance, will do something that will be detrimental to the health and welfare of the youth of Pennsylvania. They say in this message, and I am not giving it as authoritative, except that is is a quotation that has been given to me, that eighty per cent of the consumption of all soft drinks in Pennsylvania is by that group of citizens under the age of twenty-one. If that is so, Mr. President, then this tax will do two things; it will place an undue and unjust burden upon the shoulders of the youths who will carry the burden of this tax, and it will also open the door for the youth to be seeking a more potent and more powerful refreshment for the sum that they must pay.

I say, Mr. President, that this is one of the most serious tax bills ever presented in the Senate of Pennsylvania, for many reasons. I tried the other day to show to you that it does not add anything to the dignity of this Commonwealth to be reaching down into this type of taxation. I again show you now that it reaches that portion of our state citizenry that has no defense to make on their own account.

I also tried to point out to you, Mr. President, that if it does not raise the amount of money that the Governor's Budget Director estimates, then the tax is not only punitive and not only discriminatory but we find that it is practically useless.

Therefore, because of the fact that I would not be here tomorrow, I wanted the record to be clear that we intend to present certain figures to the Senate, and if the Majority Leadership is unable to get the figures, I will give my figures for what they are worth, after the research I have made.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I also have amendments to section 2 of this bill. Do I wait until we dispose of the other amendments or do I offer them now?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please send his amendments to the desk now? We will proceed first to consider the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. C. M. Smith.

Mr. FISH. Mr. Speaker, I object to these amendments because they seem to me somewhat of a subterfuge to becloud the issue of these two bills. Senate Bills No. 1 and 2 are companion bills as the Members know, and the subject under discussion is the matter of good housing.

According to the amendments the insurance companies if they were permitted to build under these housing authorities, could not restrict the rental of these houses or these apartments in regard to race, color or creed.

Mr. Speaker, I think the issue is, are we going to allow the insurance companies to invest their funds, and not how those houses are going to be built. I ask any Member of this House if he were investing his money to build an apartment house, would he want to have jurisdiction over the tenants that come in that house? I think we can use the same argument in favor of the investors, the insurance companies. If they are going to invest money, shouldn't they have the same privilege of exercising jurisdiction and the right of choosing tenants for their houses? I believe you will agree with me on that argument.

I ask you to vote down these amendments. The American Legion and the other Veterans' organizations throughout the state of Pennsylvania have asked for this legislation. We realize that unless the legislation does go through as it will be in these bills, it will be not only for the veterans but for the many thousands of civilians of our State who are going to continue to suffer from not having any good housing. I ask you to vote down these amendments.

Mr. UPSHUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise in defense of this amendment. I was informed by reliable information that it was unanimously agreed upon at a conference that this amendment would be accepted and Senate Bill No. 2 would be reported out as amended.

Since that conference something has happened, and I would like to know what has happened. The insurance companies, both foreign and domestic of this Commonwealth, have come to us and asked the Members of this Assembly to give them permission to invest a certain sum of their surplus in new housing projects, and now by implication they want to tell us who can live in them or who can purchase them. I think it is of intrinsic value to the Members of this House to protect the minority groups in Pennsylvania who help by their taxes to make Pennsylvania one of the greatest states of the Union. The money that the insurance companies are investing in these projects is the policyholders' money paid into the insurance companies in the form of premiums. The premiums received on industrial policies reported by all companies in Pennsylvania, according to figures received from the Insurance Department as of 1945, is over one hundred seven million dollars.

These premiums are mostly paid by the minority and low income brackets groups. If this is true I cannot see why the insurance companies object to this amendment. If this amendment is adopted I will be very happy to vote for Senate Bill 2 and hope that the confidence that this House will place in the insurance companies will be justified and that they will invest such premium money in such a way as will redound to the credit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I again ask you to vote in favor of these amendments.

Mr. LAYER. Mr. Speaker, it hasn't been so long ago that over one million boys of the great state of Pennsylvania were in the armed services.

Many of those boys went out and a great many of them gave everything that it was possible for a man to give. They didn't ask anything in return for just the privilege of going out and fighting for their country and state, which has no equal in the world.

A few weeks ago they had a public hearing on Senate Bills 1 and 2. In the State of Pennsylvania the majority of over a million ex-servicemen and servicewomen are represented by Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, Disabled War Vets and all the rest of the major veterans' organizations. At that public hearing those veterans' organizations,—remember now, representing over a million men in the State of Pennsylvania, requested that Senate Bills 1 and 2 be passed "as is." That is without any amendments, and, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of those veterans I would like to ask that these amendments be voted down and Senate Bills 1 and 2 be passed "as is."

Mr. CLARENCE M. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise in the defense of this amendment that represents the cry of one of Pennsylvania's largest and most loyal minority groups. Today we are challenged with the task of rendering a decision that shall set a pattern for our future behavior. Your vote against this amendment will voice your desire for a pattern of segregation and discrimination wholly foreign to Pennsylvania's glorious history. It was here in our Commonwealth that Liberty's bell rang out the first sweet tones of an eternally loved independence. It was here that men cheered that ever to be defended document of Thomas Jefferson which declares that all men are created equal and are endowed with certain inalienable rights,—the right to a decent home in which to live as a worthy citizen and to rear children to love America, the land of the free. Your vote against this amendment is an overt endorsement, aimed at keeping alive the fractious fragments of disunity capable of enervating our strong democratic union and reducing it to an emaciated giant with a wounded heel. America is the leading nation of our bewildered world and Pennsylvania is its keystone of support. In statesmanship we are the thinkers, in education we are the creators, in war we are the arsenal of democracy. In social uplift let us be the pioneers.

This amendment is not designed to penalize the insurance companies nor is it a rope to hang or bind their noble efforts. If their real desire is to relieve the housing shortage they should be anxious to build such units in blighted areas, where poor housing and sub-standard conditions now breed vice, crime and immoral conditions. They should be anxious to help us keep our word to the returned veteran whose bravery and sacrifice has preserved for us and them our way of life. Housing projects built in exclusive areas and money made available to already established financially strong corporations will not solve our problem nor help us legislate to keep our word to the folks back home.

This amendment proposes to say that private funds put to public use shall not stink with the foul odor of discrimination, be it racial, religious, or cultural. I know that we cannot legislate righteousness. I know that the gospel of the big stick is not a popular nor too often a successful one. I know that the Master Teacher said that a bad tree will not bring forth good fruit. But He also said if the tree does not respond to pruning, that it might bear good fruit, then cut it down.

Lest I weary you with too long an appeal, I urge you to vote for the amendment which will make this Senate Bill 2 a strong document for fair dealing in caring for the people who trust us; or else let us consign this whole matter to the archives of dead legislation where not even its ghost shall rise up to plague our future well being.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to go on record as having the highest admiration and respect for the sponsor of this amendment. However, I cannot see eye to eye with them in this amendment, and in fact I oppose this amendment with all my heart and soul.

I know it is odious to use the first person singular, but I believe I am as tolerant as any Member of this House; I believe I am as broad-minded as any Member of this House, but I believe also all the Members of this House are tolerant and broad-minded or they wouldn't be sitting here today.

However, there are many of our people who are not so tolerant and are not so broad-minded, and when somebody moves in that is objectionable to them in the neighborhood, they move out. Now, what I want to say in regard to these amendments is not going to be very long, and I hope to make it to the point. These amendments are discriminatory in reverse English, to use a pool-room vernacular. They are discriminating against the insurance companies' right to invest money.

You and I wouldn't make such an investment unless we knew that we had the right to select the tenants who will live in our houses, and I ask that this amendment be voted down. But before doing so I would like to read to you a telegram from the associate counsel of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York. I know it is burdensome to read too many things in detail, so I will just read a portion of it:

> "There should be no distinction between the management of a redevelopment company and other private landlords in the power to select tenants. Statutory restrictions would deprive management of power to manage property on the basis of prudence and due regard for safety of investment and would keep private capital from aiding in urban rehabilitation, thus hampering the solution of an immediate problem because of an ultimate objective."

That is signed by the associate counsel for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York.

I would like further to read into the record one more short quotation:

> "If the above-mentioned limitation is included in the bill, any applicant who is rejected may well assert that he is rejected because of his race, creed or color. This assertion could, of course, be plausibly made despite the most earnest efforts of the owner to avoid actual discrimination.
> "Assuming that, notwithstanding the owner's bona fide effort to avoid discrimination, one or more persons asserts a discrimination, such persons might individually seek damages or relief in equity against the insurance company maintaining the project. Regardless of the ultimate success of any such litigation, the possibility of its institution represents an obvious hazard to the soundness of an investment in such a project.
> "There is in our opinion a substantial possibility that any alleged discriminatory action might be restrained in a negative way by injunction. A proceeding for such injunctive relief would be less likely to be successful if brought by an individual than if brought by a public official such as the Insurance Commissioner, the District Attorney or the Attorney General."
> "If it could be established to the satisfaction of a court that discrimination was being practiced in a project, there is a further possibility that the Insurance Commissioner or the Attorney General, acting on behalf of the Commonwealth, might successfully assert that the insurance company, by operating its project in a discriminatory manner, was exceeding its lawful corporate powers with respect to investments, that is to say, that the housing project had ceased to be a lawful investment for the company. If an insurance company were compelled to dispose of the investment because it had ceased to be a legal investment, the officers and directors of the company, under the terms of Section 406.1 (q) of Senate Bill No. 2, might become personally liable for any loss occasioned thereby."

Now, Members of the House, this is purely a question of housing. Do we want housing or don't we want housing? According to an item in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, an editorial which I read last Saturday morning, the census was taken, and it was determined that thirty-two per cent of the married veterans are living doubled up with their own parents or in-laws,—thirty-two per cent of the married veterans. That is not only the case in Pittsburgh but in Philadelphia and throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and it is not only the veterans' housing; it is most everyone else.

The paramount question is, will we have housing for none or will be have housing for all? There is only one answer, and that is this, vote against these amendments, because I am satisfied that if this bill is passed with this crippling amendment attached to it the insurance companies are not going to invest the moneys of you and me and the other policyholders in a proposition where they might stand to lose that money of you and me as policyholders in the insurance companies. I, therefore, urge and implore you to vote down the amendments.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I have heard a lot of arguments against the bill in this House. I do not believe I ever heard as many arguments against a bill that could be turned around and be for it. The gentleman from Butler, my very good friend, asked this pertinent question, shall we have housing for all? The answer is yes, and the only way we can have housing for all is to vote for the amendments.

Now, if that is the question that he proposes—and I believe he is honest and sincere, for I have the highest regard for the gentleman, the answer to his question is in the amendments, not in a letter from counsel of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The gentleman from Butler says that he is tolerant, and I believe he is, but tolerance is not speech, tolerance is action. Speech is as the sounding brass and tinkling cymbal if it is not followed by action.

The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Layer, makes the best argument for our amendments that could be made. He says that veterans are for this bill, and that they will benefit by this bill, although I see nothing in this bill that has one word in it about veterans; and if there is one word about veterans I have been unable to find it.

Nevertheless, I will grant for the sake of the argument that the veterans will be benefited, for I believe the gentleman knows whereof he speaks, although it is not written within the bill. Let us suppose that he is right, that one million veterans fought for Pennsylvania and they are entitled to these houses. Over one hundred thousand of those veterans were Negroes, and by the very argument that he makes, they are entitled to these houses on the same basis as anybody else.

If they are not to have them, then let us say so in the bill, and say that nine hundred thousand veterans will be accommodated by these houses.

I regret that the gentleman from Cumberland said that our efforts here today amounted to a subterfuge to becloud the issue of housing. It is not very nice for a Member of the House to have to couch his terms in caustic language, but sometimes we have no alternative. I say to the gentleman from Cumberland, I have no quarrel with him, if he wishes to vote against these amendments. That is his right and privilege. If I didn't believe in them I would vote against them too, but the gentleman comes in here with unclean hands when he says that because we are fighting here in this General Assembly that men will have the right to the democratic way of life, fighting with everything we have against entrenched wealth and vested interests, we are resorting to subterfuge. I hope the gentleman will retract his remarks from the record so that those who may come in the years that are ahead of us may see that no one, a Member in this assembly of Representatives of the free people of the State of Pennsylvania, would say that men who are fighting for the right to live, fighting for the right to work, fighting for the right to be properly housed, are resorting to a subterfuge in this, the greatest of all commonwealths in the United States.

I did not intend to make a speech, but let me remind the gentleman back some one hundred years, back in Sussex, England, a young man who was born to the manor, who had all the wealth that he could command, whose father was an admiral of the British Fleet, who had left to him inheritances such as no other man in England perhaps had at that time, had a dream, and when he had the dream he came to the shores of Delaware, and there he established a democracy that had more freedom than any other government that had ever been founded on the face of the earth. It is to perpetuate that freedom that I ask you to vote for these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CHUDOFF offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec 2, (Sec. 406), page 15, line 2, by inserting after the word "hotels" the following:

"Providing, however, That no dwelling unit leased, owned or constructed shall rent for a sum exceeding fifty dollars ($50) per month to any tenant thereof".

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 406), page 15, lines 3 to 7, inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, my amendments which I will explain shortly, in my opinion change this bill from a dangerous bill to a good one. I want it clearly understood by the Members of this House, and by the Press of the Commonwealth that I represent no real estate builder, no real estate board and no real estate associations. I am only interested in this bill as a policy holder, and also my interest is in the policy holders of my district. I want to say to you, Members of the House, that there are many, many life insurance policies in Pennsylvania, and when one of the holders of this insurance dies I am sure we are all interested in making sure that—

(Failure of loud speaker system).

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the Chair would inform him that this interruption is in no way an attempt to subdue opposition.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I thought I might have said something about a vice-president of some broadcasting company and they might be cutting me off the air.

My amendments,—and I will take the last part of them first,— provide that insurance companies in Pennsylvania would not be allowed to invest in industrial real estate. These amendments will allow insurance companies to construct and maintain and lease dwelling units, but it puts a ceiling on the rentals of those units of fifty dollars per month.

Now, as to the first point, Mr. Speaker, I want to make it clear, and I want the Members of this House to think back to 1932. In those days the banks of America and the banks of Pennsylvania were lending on real estate, not investing in it. They were supposed to have a considerably safe margin of investment; that is, they were investing up to fifty or sixty percent of the land and building value of the real estate. They finally ended up by means of foreclosure proceedings which resulted in seventy-five per cent of the real estate of Pennsylvania being in their hands.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the bill in its present form allows insurance companies to invest in industrial real estate. It is in my mind that if another depression should come along that they would not be able to meet their obligations to the policy holders, that they might tell a beneficiary that he or she was entitled to half of an industrial building in Philadelphia that was vacant.

I am interested in insurance companies being able at all times to pay their beneficiaries, and I think it is dangerous to allow them to invest in one hundred percent of the value of a piece of property. They can loan on mortages, and they can have that safe margin, so that in case of foreclosure there will be a sufficient margin for that investment.

I have heard a lot of arguments that this bill will allow the GI's to have houses,—maybe it will and maybe it won't. I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that the problem is housing—I don't think that is the opinion at all. I think the problem is materials. I say to you, that there are enough funds in Pennsylvania by private investors to invest in real estate if they can only get the materials. If these insurance companies have some materials up their sleeves, then I think they should be allowed to build buildings, and they should be allowed to rent them, but I do not feel that they should go out in the surburbs of the big cities and construct apartment houses and rent them for from one hundred twenty to one hundred twenty-five dollars a month, which no GI can afford to pay.

Now, GI housing in Pennsylvania is in a deplorable condition. If you go into the suburbs of Philadelphia or to Oxford Circle or the Mayfair section of Philadelphia you may find row after row of GI houses, and when you inquire as to the price of the house they will tell you ninety-five hundred dollars, ten thousand dollars or eleven thousand six hundred dollars, which no GI can afford to pay.

The same thing would happen if we allowed the insurance companies to build houses without a ceiling on the rental, and I say to you that if the insurance companies really want to help the GI's, if they are sincere, then let us pass the bill with these amendments with a ceiling of fifty dollars a month, so that the boys who fought for this country will have a place to live.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, I understood the gentleman was debating this amendment. Mr. Chudoff debated and has taken a great deal of time on the merits of the entire bill. This amendment would limit the rental to fifty dollars a month. I see no reason for this restriction or limitation whatsoever. That question of limitation or restriction is not put on anything else, so why put it on the policy holders, you and me, who are the real owners of the insurance companies?

I hope that apartments can rent for fifty dollars a month, and I hope that they can rent as low as thirty-five dollars a month, but we do not know what the future holds for us. I ask you to vote down these amendments.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Greer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GREER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I would like to know from the gentleman from Butler whether or not the insurance companies if given the right to construct veterans' houses under this bill, how can the material be made available for building them?

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, I am unable to say that at this time. I do not even know the future of the insurance companies. We want them to have that right after this bill passes and when materials are available. They are becoming available more and more.

NOT VOTING—2

Hall,	Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 958, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 823) entitled "An act permitting boroughs to provide a method of assesment for borough taxes" by changing the method of compensation and designating the borough council as the board of revision and providing that any tax levied for any borough purpose shall be based on the assessments hereunder and prohibiting the use of borough asessments under this act for county purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STOCKHAM. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman to explain why we need additional assessors in boroughs. Will he kindly explain why the bill.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I believe in the first place that this amendment does not interfere in any way with the Municipal Authority Act, which in turn through the county assessors protects and directs the borrowing capacity of any borough.

The second part of it does allow the same as any of the third class cities—the borough council to proceed with the appointment of assessors for the assessing of property directly.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman, by means of allowing council to appoint an additional assessor for the purpose of assessing property, for borough taxation, if in that way assessment will not be raised on the people?

Mr. STOCKHAM. That may happen, Mr. Speaker, yes sir, and in answer to the reason, that that is possible and fair, it is entirely within the municipal bounds of any particular borough, and constantly under the control of the electorate in that respect. The relationship between assessments and taxes is always a constant one as to the needs of local funds derived from taxation for borough use.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman realize that we passed a bill within the last week or so allowing an increase in millage in the boroughs?

Mr. STOCKHAM. I believe that is a provision of the borough code.

Mr. LOVETT. I want to thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, ever since I have been in Harrisburg I have heard people talk about over-taxation of real estate. We are continually going to reduce the over-burden which everybody admits. We have rent control today; everybody seems to be satisfied that we have rent control. I find no fault with rent control, but now we are passing laws by this bill that will allow an additional burden of local taxation, and for that reason I ask the Membership of this House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, as to the remarks of Mr. Lovett, I agree as to the burden on real estate. No one is more interested in that than I. In borough government the relationship of the income is always through the assessment. The restrictions that are sometimes placed, or even the changes and reduction through the county authorities of the locally elected assessors impair the income of a borough. Borough government, city government, township government based entirely upon their assessments are directly reflected to the electorate by those officers who are elected to conduct the government. The relationship in other phases that have to do with schools and county government are not related so directly, and I do not believe that enactment of this bill will impair or change or add to the burden of the tax in the local municipality, and I believe it is fair in that respect.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want a word to the minority group. While I intend to vote against this bill, my vote does not indicate a caucus position. Those Members that represent boroughs and imagine that they need an extra cog in the taxation machine are, of course, at complete liberty to vote for this bill.

To my mind this measure is proceeding in the wrong direction. The proper direction is toward the simplification of our assessment and taxation machinery, a tendency toward uniformity. This simply adds an extra tax on your borough taxpayers that could probably be obviated by an increase in millage. I am in dobut, as I understand, and the gentleman from Bucks can correct me if I am wrong—third class cities can as I understand appeal from the valuation fixed by the city assessors.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I cannot give a definite answer to the gentleman's question.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we have a little difference of opinion here. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, says they can not and I say they can, and I was wondering whether under this bill an appeal would lie with the county court against the assessment as determined by the borough assessors'?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, there is no provision—

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Cambria interrogating the gentleman from Bucks?

Mr. ANDREWS. We had a nice little party of our own, Mr. Speaker, and unfortunately my interrogation is interfered with by the fact that the gentleman from Bucks has stolen the lawyer and is in consultation with the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed with the interrogation.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I am having a consultation with both the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader, there shouldn't be any complaint about that.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, unless it is very clearly understood, and I think definitely stated in the bill, that an appeal from the borough assessment will lie in an appeal to the county court, I think this bill should be held over and amended to put in that safety clause, because in a borough the board of revision with final powers on valuation would certainly be a step in the wrong direction.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, that is a fair request, and I will accede to it.

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection this bill will be passed over. The Chair hears none and the bill is passed over.

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1043, Printer's No. 433,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1090, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing re enue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for medical examiners in lieu of medical inspectors and prescribing their duties making mandatory the employment of a school nurse and repealing provisions relating to medical inspections and reports of medical inspectors.

On the question,

Wil the House agree to the bill on third reading?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I have been asked why these bills have remained on the calendar so long, and also what the purpose of these bills is. The reason why these bills remained on the calendar so long is because cities of the first class requested that Members from counties of the first class be allowed to go home and contact some of the authorities there and see how it would affect their respective cities and counties. They have done so and have reported to me that the bills are okay.

The reason why there are five bills is because the change in this law would require a change in the laws regarding cities of the first class, second class, second class A, cities of the third class and boroughs and townships.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is very simple; it is to remove deceased persons from the registration rolls. At the present time there is no way whereby the registration commissioner or your registrar of vital statistics, the local registrar of vital statistics can get the information when a person has died in a county in which he is not a resident. If a person should die, for instance, in Dauphin County here, under this law it would be necessary to notify the Registration Commissioner in Wayne County, provided the person was a resident of Wayne County. This is all this bill does; it is simply clarification of the law, a simplification of registration, and will benefit the Registration Commission and your committee-men and committee-women throughout the state.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
